UNITED STATES IS MERELY EXPOSING PRUSSIAN METHODS

Formal Action by Washington in the Latest Swedish Blow-Out Is Not Contemplated.

VON ECKHARDT LETTER IS NOT THE LAST

Washington, Sept. 14.—How Germany's secret practice of using Sweden's diplomatic service for transmitting forbidden communications between German agents and the Berlin foreign office, prevailed in Mexico, as well as in Argentina, is revealed in a document published by the state department which passed between the celebrated Herr von Eckhardt, German minister in Mexico, and the chancellor.

It discloses how Folke Cronholm, charge of the Swedish legation to Mexico, practically acted as a messenger boy for von Eckhardt personally transmitting as his legation's own dispatches, messages for the German legation, even going to the point of delivering them personally at the telegraph office and how von Eckhardt recommended that a decoration be secretly bestowed upon Cronholm for his services.

As an added chapter to the story of the recently revealed intrigue in Argentina the disclosure gives a hint of the nature of the evidence in this government's possession of Germany's illegitimate use of neutral diplomats. The full extent of this evidence may never be published, but it is known to be complete and this government's action in making some of it public is not felt to be directed so much at Sweden as toward further informing the world at large of German's practices.

The Main Speculation.

It does, however, raise some speculation as to how the Stockholm foreign office will explain it. Stockholm has declared that Baron Loewen, Swedish minister to Argentina, transmitted messages for Count Luxburg, the German charge there, without knowing their contents. Whether the same defense will be made for Cronholm is not known; he is no longer in the Swedish diplomatic service. The interesting point, in the minds of officials and diplomats here, is how much the

Summary of the Day's War News

Convinced that Gen. Korniloff's rebellion is definitely at an end although the general himself has not formally surrendered the leaders at Petrograd are setting about the reconstruction of the government. Formation of a new cabinet is said to be well along toward completion.

The submission of so many of the troops and leaders who were adhering to Gen Korniloff apparently has left the leader of the revolt in a position of helplessness. He is said to have notified the government of his intention to surrender upon the arrival at his headquarters of Gen. Alexieff, who has become chief of staff under Premier Kerensky, now commander-in-chief of the Russian armies.

Gen. Kalidines, commander of the cossacks, has been reported as arrested.

Meanwhile the Russian army at the front, particularly in the northern sec-

WILL DELIVER THE VESSELS

British Shipyards Working in Veritable Fury to Turn Out Ships.

HUNDREDS OF THEM NOW ON THE WAYS

Feverish Determination to Meet U-Boat Menace With Tonnage.

Glasgow, Aug 30.—(Mail.)—On the hull of a big ship being built in one of the many yards that line the river banks of Scotland and northwest England, a workman has written with chalk in bold letters six feet high, five words that express the determination of British ship builders to "do their bit" toward defeating the German submarines. The five words are these: "We will deliver the ships." A staff correspondent of the Associated Press has just completed a trip through the principal yards of the rivers Tees, Tyne, Wear and Clyde, as the guest of the foreign office and the admiralty. The purpose of the journey was to permit the gathering of information regarding Great Britain's efforts, which could be transmitted to the people of the United States.

Delivering Them Now.

Great Birtain not only will deliver; they are being delivered now—dozens dreds of them. Of the four principal dreds ofthem. Of the four principal ship building rivers of the country every available foot of adjoining land has a ship more or less completed over it.

Nearby engine works are turning out motive power for the vessels at a tremendous rate. Ship builders of various sorts—men, women and children, are working at top speed. The rivers are overhung with smoke, blast furnaces are glowing everywhere; streaks of red go back and forth in the rolling mills and through it all on these busy rivers there is a roar of automativ rivetters, the clash of sledges on steel plates and the throbbing of ponderous machines that punch holes in plates an inch thick, which at times truly is deafening. So great is this noise at many places on the banks of the Clyde that to talk it is necessary to place mouth to ear.

Rushing Naval Construction.

Just now the builders of ships are rushing through work on countless destroyers, cruisers, other naval ships that must remain for the present as "myseries," but they, too, are working at a tremendous rate completing merchant ships, of which there appear to be hundreds. Some are large and some are small. Somes are being built

TRYING TO END THE BIG STRIKE IN SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—In an effort to settle the strike here involving about 8,000 men and women and a score of trades, Governor Lowden this morning called into conference members of the general strike committee. Adjutant General Dickson was a party to the conference. Leaders reiterated today that the wholesale walkout is the direct result of the action of police and military authorities last Sunday in breaking up a parade of unionists who planned a demonstration in support of a street car strike. Dairy workers have been instructed to continue at work in order to prevent suffering among babies. Members of the Typographical union have been holding meeting daily and are threatening to go out. Telephone operators, who showed uneasiness yesterday, are said today to be showing a disposition to continue at work. Joseph Londrigan, chairman of the general strike committee, today declared that charges of pro-German influences were at work here were unfounded.

CHEAP COAL FOR CITIES

Muncie Mayor Announces He Will Bring in Coal to Relieve Stress.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 14.—Coal at 14 cents a bushel, 11 cents under the price asked by private dealers—will be offered for sale in Evansville by the municipal coal yard, which is to be opened Saturday. The price is fixed on the basis of $2.20 a ton set by the government for supplies of bituminous coal at the mines. Orders will be filled in the order of their receipt at the coal yard.

MUNCIE GETS IN LINE.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mayor Rollin Bunch has contracted for a large amount of coal to be sold to citizens of Muncie at reduced rates Whether the city officially will sell the coal has not been decided, for perhaps the council will refuse to appropriate money to carry out the mayor's plan, as it did last year. However, the mayor has announced he will personally bring the coal into the city and sell it at cost if the council does not care to take up the matter officially.

Youngstown, O., Sept. 14.—Several rollers in mills here are earning as much at $800 a month, or at a rate of approximately $10,000 a year, as a result of increases granted in a recent agreement with Amalgamated association workers, according to managers of the plants. LOCAL BOYS MAKE GOOD

Those now at Camp Taylor Will Be Given Non-Commissioned Titles.

Plans Under Way to Give Next Contingent a Big Reception.

BY E. F. F.
(Staff Correspondent.)

Camp Taylor, Ky., Sept. 14.—Fort Wayne young men are doing credit to themselves and their home town in the training camp here.

Regular army instructors who have come to this camp to assist in the training of the members of the new national army declare that the Fort Wayne young men now stationed here learn more easily and are prone to make better soldiers than any class of men they had heretofore assisted in training. One of the men who declared this has trained three other groups before coming here.

It is very probable that all the young men will receive a non-commissioned officers position. The majority of them are acting in this capacity now.

Tuesday evening the large auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. was dedicated and the entire Fort Wayne "bunch" attended. The occasion was a memorable one. There were cheers of all kinds and once when the noise subsided a few second there was a loud cal of "Three cheers for Fort Wayne." The boys strained their voices and their lungs and made the auditorium ring with the call of "Rah, Rah, Rah. Fort Wayne."

Cries arose for the band to play "Indiana." All Hoosiers joined in singing the chorus and all from the good old state arose. It seemed as though half of the audience was composed of men who resided in Indiana.

At noon Wednesday a fire drill was held and all companies had to respond. The work was good. All precautions are being taken against a conflagration which would prove disastrous if the flames ever got the overhand. There are fire plug stations everywhere throughout the grounds.

Givn Half Holiday.

Fort Wayne boys were glad for two things Wednesday afternoon. First, through their efficient work they were given a half holiday and consequently did not have to drill and, secondly, they were made glad through the fact that shirts, shoes and socks were issued them. The remainder of the equipment will be issued soon it is thought.

Results of vaccination are becoming evident as a majority of the men reported Wednesday that their arms are beginning to feel itchy, which is good evidence that the vaccination has taken. In a few days the second shot

PRESBYTERIANS DOUBLE THEIR FUNDS FOR WAR

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 14.—The $40,000 war fund of the permanent committee on evangelism of the Presbyterian church in the United States was doubled at a meeting here of the executive committee. The first sum appropriated last May has already been expended.

Several hundred seminarians and college men have been installed at cantonments and are working in cooperation with the Young Men's Christian association. They and the Presbyterian chaplains are being provided with Bibles, books of prayer and comforts for distribution to the soldiers. The work is progressing satisfactorily, Dr. George G. Mahey, of Philadelphia, the secretary, declared.

WAR RISK BILL GOES TO SENATE FROM THE HOUSE

Washington, Sept. 14.—Containing provision for equal compensation to dependents of enlisted men and officers, the administration's soldiers' and sailors' insurance bill went to the senate today following its passage by the house last night. Consideration of the bill will begin immediately after the war credits bill is disposed of.

PUNISHMENT OF REBEL CHIEF IS GRAVE PROBLEM

DUMA BEGINS TO WHISPER MONARCHY

Washington, Sept. 14.—General Korniloff's punishment seems one of the points concerned in the formation of a cabinet. Official reports reaching here today indicated that Premier Kerensky was determined to inflict a heavy penalty as a warning against future uprisings.

But certain elements of the constitutional democrats and even many leaders of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, Kerensky's closest political friends, advocate leniency. It is considered probable that one early move of the new government may be to abolish the duma which has given some evidence of favoring return to the monarchy and has opposed many democratic reforms of the revolution.

WELL, WELL! ITS ONCE MORE OUR FRIEND SWEDEN

New York, Sept. 14.—Accidental discovery tha twire nails in a consignment for Sweden were covered with lead caps caused the custom authorities today to hold up a shipment of 300 cases of the nails. The smashing of one of the cases by a passing truck on a Brooklyn pier led to the discovery. It was said there was enough lead on each nail for the manufacture of a rifle bullet and that the application for shipping license contained no mention of the lead, simply stating that the cases contained wire nails. The cases have been standing on a dock for about three weeks. The investigation will seek to determine whether the lead was placed on the nails as a subterfuge to get needed war material to Germany or whether it was there for some legitimate purpose. The lead caps are described as fitting loosely and easily removed.

WAR STRENGTH OF THE NATION WILL SURPRISE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—In the belief that the country does not understand the real strength of the American military and naval forces Chairman Dent of the house military committee today submitted to the house for publication in the Record a statement prepared at his request by the committee on public information from government records.

"On September 6, 1917," the statement says, "there were in the regular army, national guard and reserve corps of the army 78,828 officers and 741,053 enlisted men. In the navy there were 141,867 enlisted men, 41,473 naval reserves and 14,500 of the naval militia in the federal service. There were 5,000 men in the coast guard and 6,500 in the hospital corps, making a total of 209,340. Enlisted strength of the marine corps were 29,971, reserves in the service 1,070; national naval volunteers 704, retired men on active duty 14. There were approximately 12,000 officers in the navy and 1,166 in the marine corps.

"In other words, on that date the army had, including officers and enlisted men 819,881 and the navy 264,261, making a total armed strength on that date of 1,074,146 men all of whom are volunteers. Prior to that time there was not a drafted soldier in a single training camp. The draft law was approved May 18, 1917."

EXEMPTS WHO GO ON STRIKE WILL FEEL THE DRAFT

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14.—Ship yard workers who have been granted exemption from the army draft on industrial grounds who strike today in obedience to the strike call, will be automatically certified for service, it was announced late last night by the district board and Albert Moodie, chief of registration in the state of Washington.

LABOR INSISTS UPON MUCH CHEAPER COAL

Fort Wayne Federation Seeks Aid from Fuel Director.

After being refused by several Evansville coal companies to deliver coal after offering it for sale some time ago, the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor last night asked the aid of Fuel Director Dr. A. H. Garfield.

After receiving a telegram reading, "Cannot fill your orders," the local men wired to William Mitchell at Terre Haute, secretary of district No. 11, United Mine Workers of America. After trying a dozen different firms to obtain coal he was informed that they were taking on new customers and could not furnish coal at the government prices, after which the following telegram was sent to National Fuel Director Garfield:

"Intended to do our bit by furnishing coal to our members at cost. Can you help us?"

The local men had intended to buy a large quantity of coal at reduced rates, but the Evansville firm refused to come across.

The government price for this grade of coal was fixed at $2.20 per ton with a freight charge of $1.25, making the total cost $3.45, but the coal firms want $4.50 per ton.

The lectures will be held each afternoon for five days, beginning with Tuesday and continuing through Saturday. Besides the lectures, demonstrations of how to select, cook and serve foods in the most inexpensive manner will be carried out each day by the noted southern cook and her assistants, and the instruction is regarded by many local ladies as most timely. Officers of the Women's Club League stated that the plan of having a cooking school at their own expense had been considered, and now that the course is offered without admission fees or cost in any way, they are working might and main that every possible Fort Wayne lady can attend and reap the full benefits.

Mrs. McKoin, under whose direction the series is given, is a food expert whose record has covered a number of years. She comes to Fort Wanye under the auspices of The Sentinel with the highest recommendations from the largest cities of the south where her experience has been most fortunately varied. Following her work in public school instruction in home economics, Mrs. McKoin had charge of the food problems of the poor of the city of Nashville, being employed by the city council in this capacity. On the other hand, she has filled repeated engagements before the largest and wealthiest women's clubs of the south, and her understanding of the needs and limits of the average home is thorough.

"To be a truly good housewife," says the Memphis Commercial Appeal, "a woman must not only be well informed as to the chemistry of food, its nutritive value, and the best and most efficient methods of preparing staple articles of diet, but she must also understand all the nutritive value of all kinds of foods—so that she may substitute the less expensive for the more expensive foods and yet procure the same amount of nourishment. It is in her knowledge of food values that Mrs McKoin's lectures are most valuable."

A large part of Mrs. McKoin's program consists in demonstrations of how to use leftovers, and preparing relishable dishes from foods that in many homes are discarded.

The Mrs. McKoin lecture series are being brought to Fort Wayne at a considerable expense by The Sentinel, and The Sentinel is best repaid for the enterprise when every possible Fort Wayne lady avails herself of the opportunity. No admission fee is charged and nothing is sold in the auditorium, and all ladies can go with the assurance that the seating capacity is ample and comfortable. No more commodious and convenient auditorium than the Elks' auditorium could be desired, and every Fort Wayne lady is invited to be in attendance the first day which is next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and every afternoon next week, including Saturday.

Folly to Let a Man Drink, Says Druggist Brown, of Cleveland, Who Gives a Home Remedy

A new Treatment Given Without the Consent or Knowledge of the Drinker

Cleveland, Ohio.—A woman who lets a man drink is foolish, says Druggist Brown, for no man who drinks even a little bit is safe. A woman can break the drink habit in a few weeks for half what a man spends on liquor in the same time, and the drinker need never know she did it. For the sake and safety of both stop the drink habit in its beginning. Let the first whiff of liquor on his breath be your danger signal, but even if he is rum-soaked through and through do not despair; he can be saved and it is your duty to save him. Druggist Brown knows the awful curse of strong drink because he himself has been a victim. A loving sister rescued him from the brink of a drunkard's grave and kept her secret ten years, then she told him how she did it. She saved him from the demon drink, rescued him from his own depraved self by means of a secret remedy, the formula of an old German chemist. To save other families from the curse of drink and to help other victims out of the murk and mire he now makes the formula public. Any druggist can help you if you long to save a loved one. Just ask your druggist for prepared tescum powders and drop a powder twice a day in tea, coffee, milk or any other drink. Liquor soon ceases to taste the same, the craving for it vanishes and, lo, one more drunkard is saved without knowing why he lost the taste for strong drink.

One woman who used this prescription on her husband says: "It is going on the fourth week since he has touched a drop of anything in the form of liquor or used tobacco of any kind. He seems already like a different man. Tescum has gained a wonderful enthusiast in me. I regard it as a Godsend. Just think, I have never seen my husband sober for more than 48 hours in years and now it is going on one month since he had his last drink."

Another one gratefully writes: "I have used tescum powders on my husband and find it one of the greatest cures in this world. He hasn't taken a drink for almost five weeks and says he never will. My home does not seem like the same place and life seems worth living. I hope thousands gain what I have. This has been a good new year for me without drink in my home."

Note: Prepared tescum, referred to above, should not be given except where it is desired to destroy all taste for alcoholic drinks. Women who approve of moderate drinking and believe moderate drinkers safe should give tescum only when they see, as most do in time, that the danger line is plainly near. You take no risk with Tescum as it is sold in this city under a steelbound money-refunded guarantee by the Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. and other first class druggists. They guarantee it to do the work or refund the money.

Every Man must act quick—if he wants to buy Sherman's Clothes at $10—Only 15 days more—On and After Oct. 1st Sherman's Clothes will sell for $12.50

Sherman's Clothes Guaranteed to give Perfect Satisfaction or your money back

Plenty Of Fall and Winter Suits—Topcoats and Over-Coats For you to choose from

Our Announcement of our raise in price did not bring surprise—mostly everyone was looking for it—for they know that everything they touch costs more than it did before the war. If it was possible to maintain the price and still be able to sell our same value for $10—we would do it—but it is the impossibility.

With our large outlet for clothing through our great chain of stores throughout the entire country—giving us mammoth buying power—going into the market with the buying power of purchasing thousands of yards of cloth—we found that we could only secure a limited amount. So you will see we were up against it.

This is the Answer

In order to maintain our excellent high set standard of value, which we have always sold to our patrons, we are forced to raise our price just enough to cover the extra cost of production. WE WOULD NOT CONSIDER LOWERING THE QUALITY OF THAT WONDERFUL VALUE WE HAVE ALWAYS SOLD. THERE WAS NO ALTERNATIVE BUT TO RAISE THE PRICE.

Many Satisfied Customers

Is what has built this wonderful organization which today is one of the largest of its kind in the country. We know that hundreds of perfectly satisfied, confident customers will eventually make thousands for us—that is the desire we have in mind—we know our trade will appreciate our efforts to give every man a chance to buy at our present price $10 before our advance price goes into effect.

We Know the clothes we are selling today are worth more even at wholesale than we are getting for them. The purchase we made in woolens almost a year ago has increased in value from 25% to 50%, but we are not going to reap the profit or take advantage of the increase in value—our good fortune will be yours. WE WILL GIVE YOU THE OPPORTUNITY TO BUY AS MANY SHERMAN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS AT THE PRICE $10 AS YOU MAY WANT AND SAVE FOR YOURSELF AN EXTRA $2.50.

We Are Not Going to Take Advantage of the Situation

We know one good turn deserves another, it is the future we are looking forward to—not the present—the great fundamental principal we established when we first organized, to always give our patrons the best value possible for the money. NO MATTER WHEN YOU BUY AT SHERMAN'S YOU WILL SAVE $5 to $8. THEREFORE, WE WILL CONTINUE TO SELL AT THE PRICE $10 AS LONG AS THIS MERCHANDISE LASTS. Your opportunity to save an extra $2.50.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

ABOLISH OLEO TAXES.

The Sentinel has received from Congressman James B. Aswell, representing the Eighth Louisiana district, a circular that is a personal address "To the American People." It bears upon a subject that is acutely of concern to the American people and, in view of conditions, is of the utmost timeliness. Congressman Aswell proposes that the government shall do what this newspaper and others have long contended should be done and repeal the taxes and remove the federal restrictions now borne by oleomargarine and other "imitation butter." His circular presents the matter with so much clearness and force and embodies information of such value as to justify its reproduction here in full. The circular is subjoined:

To the American people: Owing to the very high price of butter, and the now well established fact that food-oils (peanut, cottonseed, soya bean, oleo, neutral, etc.), when properly churned in milk, produce a table-food in every way as wholesome, nutritious and palatable as butter, and as these oils are now much cheaper than butter, a great many inquiries are being made for formulas and methods for so churning these oils. The law requires the product to be called oleomargarine.

I have been unable to procure any satisfactory information on the subject, but I have been furnished the following for home use, viz:

"Heat a quanitty of good deodorized cooking oil to about blood heat, using about one-fourth of a teacupful to each gallon of milk, and proceed as usual. A three-gallon churning will take about half a pound of oil. It will hasten the coming of the butter, assist in its better collection, improve the quality of both it and the buttermilk, and will give, with the better collection of the butter-fat, an increased yield of nearly a pound and a profit equal to the difference between the price of the butter and the cost of the oil."

The department here, to whom one would think it proper to appeal for information of this kind, declines to give the public instructions on this point, as it is feared, if the people should learn to produce this food, they might be tempted to sell the same or to use it in boarding-houses or schools. This it is unlawful to do, unless the person producing this table-food should pay $600.00 per year license and give a bond for $5,000.00; and unless dealers who handle this food will also pay very high licenses.

These great expenses and the dangers of prosecution have made it so that only a few large concerns can take the risk; and therefore it seems only a few persons know how really to make oleomargarine. Those who do know and who have the proper kind of cooling and churning machines, can take the milk necessary to produce one pound of butter, so I am informed, and, by the use of these food-oils, produce twenty pounds of palatable oleomargarine.

I believe that all the people should be taught to produce this good food; and that they should be allowed to do so without the payment of licenses and taxes.

I would be glad to have your co-operation in securing the removal of these unjust burdens from a large part of the food supply of the American people.

There never was any good reason why oleomargarine should be burdened with a tax. Under present conditions the injustice of the tax and all other restrictions designed to discourage and hamper its manufacture, sale and use is immeasureably aggravated. Some thirty years ago congress, yielding to the demands of dairy interests, passed the law imposing the tax and it has stood ever since, a burden of expense upon the people and a drag upon a legitimate industry that produces a useful and wholesome article of food. The law has been subject to repeated amendment that has increased its aggravations and subjected the people to further burdens.

With the dairy herds of the country undergoing constant diminution, according to all reports, and butter soaring to prices quite beyond the reach of the incomes of millions of people, the oleo tax ought to be removed. Great numbers of people throughout the country use the butter substitutes exclusively. There is nothing to be said against this. Oleomargarine and kindred products are pure, wholesome, nutritious and palatable. The way should be opened that the people of America may have this valuable product at a cost as low as possible. They should not be made to pay a tax upon that sort of food any more than upon real butter or eggs or bread or meat. There might be kept just so much of a tax or imposed a system of moderate licenses merely sufficient to pay the cost of administering laws purposed to control the methods of manufacture and sale solely to the end that imitation butter shall not be made and sold as real butter.

This is the time to do this. The people of the country ought to be hampered or mulched in no unnecessary way in their use of one of the most valuable of their foodstuffs. We trust Congressman Aswell has it in mind to attempt a repeal of the senseless, burdensome and unjust oleo taxes. We're with him.

MAKING IT HARD FOR SWEDEN.

The second petard set off by the state department at Washington under the foreign office at Stockholm makes a worse confusion of the mess created by the exposure of the double-dealing in Argentine. Secretary Lansing gives out information to show that the Swedish charge in Mexico City had been the means of communication between von Eckhardt, the despicable and hostile German minister to the Mexican government, and Berlin. So superserviceable had the Swedish diplomat become that von Eckhardt felt impelled to implore his royal master to reward the charge's duplicity with a decoration. So much for that. Folke Cronholm, who represented Sweden in Mexico, is of no great account. He may be merely a two-faced hound and he may be a common type of grafter turning diplomacy to personal gain.

The concern of America is not with Folke Cronholm, but with the Swedish foreign office, the Swedish government, the Swedish sovereign. Here comes within the term of less than a week two startling disclosures involving Swedish diplomats in unfriendly activities against friendly nations and in behalf of the kaiser. To what extent is the foreign office involved in pro-German activity here and there, and the world around, in almost a score of capitals where its plenipotentiaries are received and trusted as friends? Where stands Sweden in this war? Is she neutral, as she pretends and as nations of the entente have assumed? Is she in secret and active sympathy if not positive alliance with Germany, as the accumulating evidence goes on rapidly to confirm the increasing suspicion that she is?

Out of Stockholm must come more than expressions of regret, exclamations of amazement and protestations of innocence. The Swedish charge was dismissed some time ago from his post in Mexico, but that may have been considered the wise thing to do, taking into account what his conduct had been and the perils it created. But the Swedish envoy in Buenos Aires within recent weeks had been transmitting through the Stockholm foreign office and thence to Germany the German envoy's treacheries from the Argentine capital. Sweden has made frank admission of her services to Germany in conveying secret communications between German diplomats and the foreign office in Berlin. Sweden merely qualifies this confession by protesting that she "didn't know it was loaded."

The Washington state department and its secret service has been moving with speed and to good effect during the past six months or more and with highly important and useful if not happy results more lately. It is not wholly an unjustified hope that before long the enemy lines of communication between the United States and Berlin will have been cut. Two of them already have been located.

The house has done the just and the democratic thing with the bill for compensation of the dependents of men in the army and navy. The compensations are to be equal, as applied to officers and enlisted men. We can admit that a capable officer may deserve more pay for his work in war. Assumption of great and vital responsibility must be compensated. But as between the deserts of the dependents of an officer and the dependents of an enlisted man there can be no just difference assumed or just distinction applied. The measure as the house has reformed it ought to be accepted by the senate.

One of these days Mexico will conceive it to be thoroughly to her interest to attach the moving sign to Herr von Eckhardt, Germany's precious diplomatic representative in the capital of Senor Carranza's realm. Mexico may conceive it under pressure and may conceive it in wisdom, but she will arrive at the point of understanding one of these days. Mexico makes a mighty handy clearing house for the work of spies in this country and there is no suspicion that the convenience has been overlooked.

What the Swedish crown and government appear to need is a master of ceremonies, a super-authoritative censor, an Admiral Crichton—like Colonel House, for instance—and the best fool-killer that can be got for great hire. Then the Swedish crown and government should straightway employ a capable teacher of morals and manners and undertake to learn some of the fundamental precepts of common honesty and simple good faith.

The frost in most sections of the country appears to have been severe enough only to grow a few ne whumps on the price. The crop itself sustained no great damage.

There may be nothing so rare as a day in June, but September can furnish the runner-up most any time just at this season of the year.

RICH WILL PAY HEAVY WAR TAX, BUT STILL BE ABLE TO SURVIVE

BY BASIL M. MANLY.

Big headlines carrying the news that the "High Tax Group" in the senate has been decisively routed are responsible for a widespread impression that millionaires and big corporations are to get off almost scot-free. If you have that notion, forget it!

The rich are going to know we are at war with Germany when the tax collector comes around. They are not going to die of starvation, but they are going to know what it means to see Uncle Sam take in war profits and income taxes as high as two-thirds of the income they otherwise would be able to enjoy.

Without worrying about the Rockefellers and Morgans, who are going to have to turn over something over 60 per cent of their incomes to Uncle Sam this year in income taxes alone, let's see how the sort of rich man we know, with an income around $30,000 is going to fare. For illustration assume he owns a 30 per cent interest in a business with $100,000 actual capital now earning 100 per cent, as compared with 10 per cent in the pre-war years.

Of the $100,000 net income of the corporation for the year $90,000 will be war profits. Out of this $90,000 taxes ranging as high as 60 per cent, and amounting in all to $46,715, must be paid.

Out of the balance the company must pay Uncle Sam a corporation tax of 6 per cent, or $3,197, which leaves for distribution to the shareholders $50,088 out of the original $100,000 earnings.

But in these precarious times no business can afford to distribute all its earnings to its stockholders; something must be held as a reserve for stormy days. Say $10,000 is set aside as reserve; this leaves $40,088 to be distributed, of which our man gets 30 per cent or $12,026, as compared with the $30,000 he would have received if there were no federal taxes.

But that isn't all. He still has his individual income tax to pay. As the income came wholly from dividends, there is no normal tax, but there are supertaxes on all over $5,000, amounting in all to $136, leaving our friends $11,890 out of which to pay his expenses and state and municipal taxes.

Will he know there is a war when he sees about $18,000 go to Uncle Sam out of about $30,000 he had been figuring as his profits? Ask him!

This is one side of the picture. It doesn't explain what Hiram Johnson and the other high tax advocates are making such a racket about.

They see that this same company in the pre-war years earned only $10,000, of which our friend's share, disregarding the light taxes then in effect, would have been something less than $3,000. They see he now has $10,890 left after paying all his federal taxes, nearly $8,000 more than he would have received before the war. They think he ought to give Uncle Sam a much bigger share of it.

But the senate refuses to see this side and looks only at the view first presented. So they vote the radicals down three to one, and weep briny tears over the sad state of the rich.

But here is the situation in a nutshell. Every class of the American population, rich and poor, is going to have to pay so much into Uncle Sam's treasury from now until long after this war is over that it will wince every time it hears the word "taxes." At the same time owing to the great increase in profits the majority of corporations and rich individuals will have more income left after they have paid all their federal taxes than they had before the war.

CLOCK STRIKES FOR JOHN BARLEYCORN IN THIS GOOD LAND

(Christian Science Monitor.)

The making of mashes, as part of the process of distillation of intoxicating spirituous liquors, ceased on Thursday morning. The fermentation of the vegetable matter entering into these mashes ceased on Saturday night at 11 p. m. Distillation must be proceeded with immediately if production is to be legalized under the prohibition section of the food control act. Practically, distillation of spirituous liquors has now become illegal in the United States until the close of the war. The importation of distilled liquors is forbidden. The United States food administration has made a ruling that the terms "foods, fruits, food materials, or feeds, in the act include all cereals, tubers, fruits, grape cheese, apple cheese, fruit parings, cannery refuse, beet sugar, molasses, sour wine, and all other foods, fruits, food material, or feeds, and the by-products thereof." Spirits fermented while the law is operative must bear this label on warehouse barrels: "These spirits were produced from materials fermented after September 9, 1917. All persons are warned that their use in the manufacturing or preparation of beverages, or their sale for beverage purposes, will subject the person so using or selling them to a fine of not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment for not more than two years, or both."

This is specific and clear. There can be no more fermentation of materials for the purposes of distillation into beverages while the war lasts. But there is an immense stock of distilled liquors on hand. With the spirits distilled out of the last mashes, it is estimated by one closely associated with the traffic, there will be in bond 225,000,000 gallons of rye and bourbon whiskeys in the warehouses of the United States, and to this stock must be added something like 100,000,000 gallons of liquor in the form of whisky, rum, gin, and so on, in the saloons, hotels, clubs, and wholesale houses of the country. The consumption is about 100,000,000 gallons a year, so that, if these figures be accepted, there is a stock of liquors on hand equal to the normal demand of three years.

It remains for the president to say whether or not the surplus liquor now in stock shall be permitted to offend a large part of the population of the country, and menace the welfare of all the people in these trying hours. The president is empowered, by the food control act, to take over the entire liquor stock, and redistill it for the making of munitions. Alcohol necessary to this purpose must be produced, and if the stock now in bond and in the hands of jobbers, wholesalers, clubs, saloons, and private persons, is not seized and so utilized, we shall have the spectacle of the country unnecessarily withdrawing great quantities of food material to meet the munition demand. How illogical and even ridiculous this will be, in view of all that is said with regard to the importance of food conservation, must appear to every thinking person.

The prohibition of the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors should now be made real, and not merely fictitious. The time could not be more opportune for a stroke that would render the resumption of distillation at the close of the war, to say the least, improbable.

BOOZE AND DIVORCE.

(South Bend Tribune.)

Figures produced by Henry A. Roberts, state statistician, on divorces and marriages in Indiana during the past statistical year are highly illuminating. He points out first that one divorce is granted to every three marriages. This is an astonishing rate which calls for careful study by those who seek to safeguard the homes of the state and thereby preserve Indiana's high standards of morality.

Some of the figures point their own moral. For instance, most of the divorces are granted on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. This shows one of two things, either the courts are becoming extremely lax in granting divorces or else the cruelty and inhumanity is due to the use of liquor. Rather one would think it was the latter cause and it is a safe prediction that when the state becomes dry the rate of divorces granted on that ground will decrease notably.

The trail of the liquor seprent is seen all through the divorce records. It is probable that the charge of infidelity never would have been brought as frequently as shown if caberets and beer gardens and road houses and liquor serving cafes were eliminated. The statistics offered do not make this point clear, but common knowledge leads to the belief that infidelity begins originally with the booze bottle. Liquor's part is made exceedingly plain in the statement that husbands secured 30 divorces on the grounds that their wives were drunkards, while wives secured 434 divorces by bringing the like charge against their husbands. Add to these figures those of abandonment and failure to provide and it is a safe conclusion that the prime cause of the divorce evil is booze. Indana can be thankful that booze is soon to end its days.

STAND TOGETHER.

(Chicago News.)

Having failed in its deliberate plan to accomplish by brute force and frightfulness the conquest of the world for autocracy, Germany has resorted to every art of chicanery and fraud, bribery and corruption of which it is master to retrieve its waning fortunes or at least to minimize the penalties it has incurred by its criminal course.

The direct instruments in its hands in democratic nations are necessarily clumsy and feeble. Men who can be bought are never worth it and men who can be persuaded to support an evil cause lack the quality of intellect that would make them dangerous. Yet the resources of Germany and its sympathizers—thanks to the unsuspicious nature of the democracies where these propagandists have been planted—are tremendous. And the leaders charged with maintaining the German cause on democratic soil are subtle and determined. They take advantage of every local and domestic condition that is potential for discord.

The effects of their work in Russia are patent to all the world. What they have achieved in Russia they are attempting in every nation that is opposed to Germany's purposes in this war.

It is not necessary for them to buy support boldly and openly—indeed, that was inexpedient. But they find ways to serve the German cause while seeming to assist "pacifism," radical woman suffrage movements, wars on "capitalism," and all the issues that tend to divide the democratic peoples.

There are, as every patriotic American knows, economic, political and industrial issues in this country that must be settled and will be settled on a basis of justice after the war. But now is no time for such famly discussions—the one vital issue is to preserve the family against assaults that would forever destroy the idea of equality among men.

Until autocracy is brought low any attempt to create class strife in the democracies or to set one democracy against another must be regarded as the work of enemies and all who lend themselves to such undertakings must be recognized as misguided or worse.

A FAMILIAR FACTOR.

(Chicago Herald.)

In the background of the Houston riot appears the familiar figure ever to be found amid such disturbances—administrative incompetence. A weak chief of police and a disorderly subordinate, according to a local citizens' committee, must at least be counted among the immediate causes of the outbreak. It is the old story.

Race prejudice, with its latent potentialities of trouble, was, of course, present. The negro troops were doubtless in the mood to avenge any discrimination. Inflammable material was ready for the spark and the match was applied with shocking consequences. But in Houston as elsewhere, dormant disaster might never have been awakened but for one incapable and another unfaithful guardian of the law. Overt irritation might have been avoided, or if that were not preventable, swift efficiency might have stamped out the incipient mutiny.

The lesson of Houston following hard upon that of East St. Louis ought not to be forgotten. If American communities desire honestly to preserve peace and to maintain order capable officials must be employed. Emergencies make short work of blunderers.

TRYING TO HALT CHILD LABOR LAW.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

A federal judge in North Carolina has agreed with lawyers for the cotton mill interests and has ruled that the child labor law is "fundamentally at odds with the principles of the constitution."

Thus again the buck is passed to the good old constitution which has been made to serve as a refuge for military service slackers and many other interests that have found in inconvenient to obey certain laws passed for the benefit of the people and intended to curb greed and privileges. Every time a statute is passed that endangers the bulk of corporate or individual pocketbooks these same wallets are opened to hire lawyers who invariably find that the statute in question is "fundamentally at odds with the principles of the constitution." They said the same thing about the workmen's compensation act in many states and found numerous other measures with humane intent similar to that of the child labor law which, in their humble opinion, transgressed constitutional authority in a most astounding manner. All of these cases—or nearly all of them—have reached the supreme court and that tribunal has most always held with the general interest as against private interest. It is not audacious to predict that the child labor law will fare as well when it reaches the highest court.

The law forbids the employment of children under fourteen in industries shipping products from one state to another, prohibits the employment of children under sixteen in mines or quarries, sets eight hours as the maximum workday in factories for children of fourteen and fifteen and prevents their employment at night labor. Michigan's laws already cover many of these points and few industries will be seriously affected by the provisions of the federal statute.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS.

(Chicago News.)

It did not require President Wilson's recent man-to-man admonition to the soldiers and sailors of America to create an unprecedented demand for the book that he advised each of them studiously to read. Already there has been so great a call for pocket bibles and testaments, according to publishers and booksellers, that the supply can scarcely keep pace with the demand. Old electrotype plates of the scriptures, in the small sizes, are said to be worth large sums at this time for emergency use.

This fact is significant of the spiritual nature of the great conflict in which the nations are engaged. The bible is, as students have frequently pointed out, the only record we have of the spiritual history of mankind. Even through the dark patterns of its wars and political histories runs the golden thread of man's spiritual growth upon which the recorded events are hung. It is this thread of gold, growing brighter and more beautiful as it emerges into the gospels of the Christian period, that makes the bible indeed "the way of life" for civilized man in great crises.

In it, as President Wilson truly says, every man may find what he wants to know of the deeper things of life; for there, if he comes earnestly seeking, he will discover, in the president's words, "the key to his own heart."

MR. WILSON'S WAY.

Memphis Commercial Appeal.)

Roosevelt would have said, "The kaiser is such a liar we can't believe him," but Mr. Wilson phrased it: "We cannot take the word of the present German ruler." Which was the same thing all dressed up in a bird-tail coat and white gloves.

Willie Orph, a 7-year-old boy of Christian Orph, of DeWald street, stuffed a button up his nose this morning and had to submit to the severe operation of having it removed. Dr. J. E. Miller performed the operation.

Frank Arnold was the name of the boy killed at Crestline by the Pittsburg train Sunday. Both arms were taken off and his head injured. His brother, Park Arnold, is a brakeman on the Fort Wayne road. He lived at Crestline.

J. H. Hartman, the ex-East Washington street grocer, will move into his house on East Wayne street, now occupied by C. M. Comparet. The latter has rented Rev. Lauer's property on Division street, and will move therein this week.

Rufus L. Stevens, of 129 Holman street, a man about 65 years old, while standing on a chair this morning at his residence, fell and broke his right wrist. Dr. J. W. McCausland dressed the injury. Mr. Stevens is an upholsterer in the employ of the Pennsylvania company.

John Stadtler, who conducted a saloon on the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets, where the Schmitz block now stands, a few years ago, was badly injured at Muncie last Saturday by a premature explosion of a blast in an oil well. One of his legs was broken in several places.

Charles E. Walker, charged with assault and battery on a young lady at the Bleke farm, east of the city, was found guilty by Judge J. W. Eggeman in the circuit court, Friday, and sentenced to the state penal farm for three months. Walker was employed on the Bleke farm.

DAMAGES DENIED.

Mrs. Foltz Loses Her Suit Against Adolph Felger.

The jury in circuit court late Thursday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant in the case brought by Mrs. Lillie Foltz, administratrix of the estate of the late Samuel Foltz against Adolph Felger for damages in the sum of $5,000. Mrs. Foltz claimed that her husband's death was due to carelessness on the part of Felger for whom he was working. Foltz was killed as the result of a fall from a load of hay while in Felger's employ. The jury held that Foltz's death was due to his own negligence.

Another Injunction.

Another injunction was granted Friday in the case of Phoebe A. Hamilton against Levi McAfee and James Peddicord involving the dike along the St. Joe river, part of which was torn down early Friday morning after being finished Thursday morning. The injunction was granted to Mrs. Hamilton to restrain the contractors or anyone else from rebuilding the same. The full story of the case appears elsewhere in The Sentinel.

Gives Him a Lecture.

Judge J. W. Eggeman in circuit court, Thursday afternoon, refused the petition of Fred W. Ropa, 19 years old, who was asking for the removal of his guardian, Christian L. Daseler. Ropa two years ago was left an estate by his father on his death. The testimony brought out that Ropa was somewhat of a spendthrift, that he is a frequenter of cafes and pool rooms and is living rather a fast life. In denying the petition the court lectured the young man and warned him of the consequences if he did not mend his ways.

Used Shoe as Weapon.

Because his wife frequently attacked him with a shoe—the high heeled kind—Ralph Steinbacher has filed suit in the superior court asking for a divorce from Ruth E. Steinbacher. On one occasion he says that his wife became so enraged that she stuck a butcher knife into a rug that had been purchased but a short time before. Mr. and Mrs. Steinbacher were united in wedlock on October 5, 1914, and separated this week. The wronged husband is represented by Attorney E. V. Harris.

Somers Is Acting.

William C. Geake, judge pro tem., in the superior court, has been called to New York on business and during his absence Attorney Albert Somers will serve in that capacity. Judge Carl Yaple is suffering with an inflammation in one of his eyes and it will be several days before he is able to resume his duties on the bench.

Would Venue Case.

A petition has been filed asking that the case brought by the Hoagland State bank against Ellis E. and George Shookman for $650, alleged to be due on a note, be venued to another county.

Sues for Board.

INJURIES FATAL TO SHELDON CHILD

Joseph Conser, age two, died at the Lutheran hospital Thursday evening from injuries received in an accident when he fell from a manure spreader on the farm of his father, William Conser, near Sheldon. The child was brought immediately here, but was found dto be internally hurt and did not live but four hours after arriving at the hospital.

FORT WAYNE WOMAN HEIRESS TO $750,000

SOCIETY

Patriotism and friendship were the sentiments at a beautiful party given in honor of Miss Mildred Bowser and Mrs. Maurice O'Connor this afternoon at the home of Miss Ruth Levy, who was assisted by Mrs. G. Irving Latz. The company spent their time in knitting until the serving of an elaborate menu, which was daintily arranged to display the colors of the flag. Flags and flowers, red and whith with a sparkling of blue, were arranged with artistic taste and made a striking effect. The porch was a favorite spot and there was much visiting with brides and brides-to-be. The two hostesses presented their honor guests with gifts and included in their generous remembrance another bride of the season, Mrs. Clifford Bornschein and a coming bride, Miss Nellie Wilt.

Mrs. J. J. Geary, of Chicago, and Mrs. Stanley French and son, Tommy, of Indianapolis, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Fry, of Elmwood avenue.

Mrs. Richard Casey, who is to go soon to Grand Rapids, Mich., to live, is remaining the intervening days with Mrs. James Shields, of Rickhill street

Mrs. W. M. Wardrop and two children, left last evening for their home in Newcastle, Pa., after a few days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sale.

Robert Carnahan, jr., a former Fort Wayne young man, who is not quite twenty-one, is with an army camp at Houston, Texas, a member of an electrical engineering corps.

Miss Ruth Wheelock has gone to Chicago for a day or two on her way to New York city, where she will resume her work as a translator of languages, particularly Spanish and French, in which she is proficient.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Maxewll, of Hoagland avenue, have gone to St. Louis, Mo., for a visit and will from there tgo to Indianapolis to visit a daughter, Mrs. Sherlie Deming. Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell will be away about two weeks.

Miss Clara Belle Flick, who has been visiting her niece, Mrs. Charles L. Buchanan, for several days, has gone to Ada, Ohio, to visit her sister, Mrs. Matilda Keller. Mrs. Keller will accompany Miss Flick to her home in Toledo, Ohio, for a visit.

Miss Jane Anderson has gone to Chicago to be organist and pianist at the Mandarin Inn, accompanied by her mother, who will remain with her daughter as long as she remains in that city. Miss Anderson has been pianist at the Jefferson theater here for some months and held for a while a similar position at the Lyric. She is a pupil in piano of George Bailhe and has made a marked impression with her talent and attainment at student recitals and in concert, as well as winning many friends with her generally attractive personality.

No more beautiful pre-nuptial party has been given than that arranged by Miss Gladys Simon for Miss Vesta Dunten, who is to be married in October. Many out door flowers were used to decorate the rooms, those of pink and white colors being the favorites, while in the dining room there were ribbons stretched above the lovely table, where more flowers, a white bell above the center, and a cake decorated in hearts and flowers, told their story plainly, if mutely. Place cards for twelve bore the information of Miss Dunten's coming marriage to Roy Miller next month. A handsome gift of silver was received by Miss Dunten to use when she begins housekeeping in her new home. Other friends who participated in the pleasure of the afternoon were Ruth Heiber, Jaunita Swartz, Ramona Houghton, Rena Dunten, Ida Spencer, Marjorie Costello, Grace Fitch, Angeline Warcup, Beulah Entler, Ida Wood, Carrie Knop.

There will be no sadness of farewell in the "good bye" party to be given by the Christian Endeavorers of the East Creighton street Church of Christ Friday evening, in honor of three of their departing members. "Send them away with a smile," is to be the shibboleth of the evening and will appear time and again in the varied methods of entertainment. The subjects of the gathering, which will be held at the home of Miss May Keller, Thomas street, are Glen Bert, who leaves for a place in the new national army, on September 21, and Jay Wilkerson, who will take his place in the ranks later, and Clarence Miller, who will enter the more perilous field of college training at Indiana university. The young men have all been active workers in the various organizations of the East Creighton church for several years. Members of the Endeavor society and their immediate friends have been invited to the farewell affair. There will be special music numbers and refreshments.

Face Peeling Easy— Blonde or Brunette

"The blonde's complexion fades early because her skin is extraordinarily thin and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri. "The brunette's, as a rule, is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance."

For either the faded blonde's skin or the brunette's dull or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mercolized wax. Used every night this will give one an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually peels off the worn out surface skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate underskin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her age, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple treatment. The wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream. —Advertisement

Variety of Shapes in the Small Hats

By BETTY BROWN.

Pretty girls who refuse to conceal their complexion beneath fashionable broad brims can still find a variety of medium shapes to select from.

The tam or beret is a hangover from summer. Turbans achieve much the same softness when bordered with narrow puffs of velvet. And the rather stiff tricorns takes on a fascinating jauntiness when adorned with a shoulder-long tassel.

The materials for both big and little hats are velvets and satins. Black is everywhere favored.

Our $3 special hat comes in all colors and we have a complete line of styles and sizes and you'll appreciate the extra quality.

OVERRIPE FRUIT UNSUITED FOR MAKING PRESERVES.

For preserves fruit should not be overripe, as the retention of the shape is important.

To retain the shape of soft fruit (berries in particular) measure out the quantity of sugar to be used. Dispose the fruit and sugar in alternate layers, in the cooking receptacles, let stand over night and then cook.

Crabapples, grapes (just ripe), yelloy pippins, under-ripe blackberries and quinces will yield a firm, stiff jelly with one-half pound of sugar added to each pint of fruit juice.

The juice must be boiling when the sugar is added. Large fruits such as quinces, apples or crabapples need not be pared, but the seeds must be removed.

The display windows of Patterson-Fletcher Co. give you only a hint of the wonderful showing of new Fall merchandise now ready for you.

BACK! HAPPIER ART OF THE CONVERSATION.

With the departure of the garish and ear-splitting "cabaret," which authorities assert is on the toboggan, perhaps the happier art of conversation will return.

Doctors have forever agreed that good-humored talk at mealtime is an aid to digestion.

Add to this the local exhilaration and pleasure which comes from the exchange of ideas and the argument for conversation is complete.

At home, too, far more than in public dining rooms, should the art of graceful and pleasure-giving conversation be cultivated. Encourage each member of the family to relate at the dinner table one experience he has had during the day. He should make it as interesting as he can and use enough detail to make the story clear.

"Practice makes perfect" in talking as in every other line of endeavor.

PALACE SEASON'S BIGGEST HIT.

Sophie Tucker and Her Famous Jazz Band Are Causing a Real Sensation at the Palace Theater This Week.

AT THE PALACE

EVENT OF YEARS.

Sophie Tucker, Jazz Exponent, in Super Act at New Palace.

Sophie Tucked, the darling jazz dumpling with the famous Jazz band, is the event of years at the New Palace in her syncopated melodies. The vivacious Sophie stormed the house at two performances yesterday with her absurd song numbers done as only Sophie can do them. Her Jazz band, a quintet of accomplished instrumentalists, are a combination of musicians and acrobats, playing the saxaphone while perched on one ear, the violin while doing a violin acrobatic dance and piano while executing some toe dance steps and the cellow while doing a fox trot. There isn't an idle moment from the time Sophie introduces her jazzers until the last note dies away. She sings about her band herself, vaudeville Dixie and loving Johnny. Sophie Tucker is one of vaudeville's first degree high lights and she's captured Fort Wayne.

The bill supporting this versatile woman includes Jolly, Wild and company in the nonsensical bit of nut comedy, "Who's Your Tailor?"; George Morton, the talkative Black Dot in his new act Beautiful Flowers; Alexander Brothers and Evelyn in a bang up ball bouncing novelty; the Lasky Three Types, a trio of beautiful girls in a series of exquisite poses, portraying famous paintings, and Bernard and Merritt, the Musical Gals.

CARE OF HORSE HAS REBUKE TO NEGLIGENT.

An article from a recent publication reads:

"Don't tie a ribbon to your horse's tail and leave him with muddy feet."

What about the little lady who spends hours and dollars in the milliner's shop adorning woman's crowning beauty with a creation in satin, velvet, or straw and forgets that a 5 or 10-cent shine would brighten up the grayed black shoes and make possible the well dressed appearance she would create.

Consistency in one's dress is necessary if one is to be well groomed. An expensive fur and worn shoes, run down at the heels, are not in keeping.

"KHAKI" MEANS COLOR; OF EAST INDIA ORIGIN.

We are in error when we speak of "the boys in khaki."

The word "khaki," designating a color, is of East Indian origin—from the word "khak," meaning dust—and signifies a dust colored cloth.

About four years ago the United States government substituted olive drab for khaki, in both cotton and woolen for the uniform of the soldiers. This was because it has a lower visibility and because the dye with which to make it is more easily secured than the khaki dye.

ACCLAIM AMERICANS IN FAR OFF SIBERIA

Root Commission to Russia is Given Reception by a Mixed Crowd.

Werchne-Udinsk, Siberia, June 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—A thousand Russians crowded the railway station platform and cheered for America as the Root diplomatic commission's special train stopped at this interesting frontier town to change engines. This point is the end of the caravan trail from China, across Mongolia to the Trans-Siberia railway. The cosmopolitan character of its population could be distinguished by a glance at the shouting crowd. Chinese and Mongolians, wearing their picturesque robes, stood beside Russians clad in blouses of all colors. Peasants and patricians, soldiers and civilians, humble women wearing shawls over their heads and well-dressed women with fashionable hats, joined in the cheers for the American party.

Such insistent demands were made for information about the commission that Mr. Gorbotenko, the official designated by the Russian Railway administration to conduct the American commission, made a brief address in which he explained who the members of the party were and the reason for their appointment by President Wilson to confer with the Russian government.

This did not satisfy the insistent crowd. Speeches were demanded from the Americans. Mr. Root responded in a short address, thanking the crowd for the reception and expression of good will toward America. He said the commission brought a message of sympathy, hope and courage from the American people to the Russian people and that the great American democracy sympathized with the Russian democracy and was determined to do everything in its power to co-operate with Russia in the great battle against tyranny.

"America" and "democracy" are much the same in Russian that they are in English. Consequently the Russians caught those words and applauded enthusiastically before the interpreter translated the remarks of Mr. Root. Hats and caps bearing the red insignia of the revolution were waved frantically and thrown into the air as the special moved out of the station with Mr. Root, General Scott, and the other members of the party waving farewell to the crowd.

Similar demonstrations were held at Petrofeki, Zavod, Mogzon and several other larger stations, and small groups were gathered at less important towns, eager for a glimpse of the American commission.

Before the revolution the police in Siberian towns forbade all gatherings. Consequently, the public is now making the most of its freedom. Peasants who cannot read and have been in almost total ignorance of the political and military situation now gather about members of citizens' and soldiers' committees who read the latest dispatches and discuss the news for the benefit of the uneducated and uninformed. Red flags float from the railway stations and public buildings of all the Siberian towns. Members of the committees in control of the towns all wear red bands upon their arms.

Soldiers no longer salute their officers. The military organizations are now controlled by soldiers' committees which have charge of discipline. At first many of these committees were extremely lax. But the necessity for discipline soon became apparent and conditions are speedily improving. Since the military in Siberia has been freed of officers whose loyalty to the revolutionary movement was in question more and more confidence is being placed in the officers, and the soldiers are realizing that democracy cannot succeed without discipline and authority.

KEEPING YOUR GOAT MAY BECOME WAR DUTY

Here's a Fellow, Doggone Him, Who Says Kill the Dog and Get a Goat.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—That the hitherto despised goat may aid materially in solving problems arising from war conditions by increasing the milk and cheese production is the opinion advanced by H. L. Hollister, publisher of a farm paper. Governor Lowden, of Illinois, is quoted as considering this theory sound.

The keeping of a goat or two may become as popular a way of doing our bit in the world war as planting a war garden, according to Mr. Hollister, who says that even the dooryard or roadside may be profitably made to serve as a pasture for this animal. If you are a suburbanite, your goats will make you independent of the milkman and may enable you to slide safely through tight times, resulting from sickness or lack of employment.

Do away with the useless family dog, Mr. Hollister urges us, and substitute the profitable goat. It is hardy, free from disease, adptible to all conditions and is easily domesticated.

Some Swiss goats are hornless, have amiable dispositions that qualify them as pets, and often yield as much as six quarts of milk a day. At the present price of cow's milk, Mr. Hollister estimates, such a goat would produce fully $160 a year.

The goat has a great advantage over the cow, in that it costs only about a fourth as much to maintain, and gives milk ten months a year. The milk is easily digested and makes excellent food for the baby. Goat's flesh has the same food value as mutton.

Governor Lowden, of Illinois, has asked Mr. Hollister to appoint a commission to investigate ways and means of educating the American public in the value of the milch goat. Mrs. C. H. Cahill, one of Mr. Hollister's experts, is already on her way to Europe to investigate the extensive goat milk and cheese industry in various countries there. An attempt is being made to presuade governors of other states to take action similar to Governor Lowden's, and thus bring about a concerted campaign to induce suburbanites, villagers and small farmers to take up goat raising and to make the milch goat a permanent American family institution.

EDGERTON MAN HIT BY TRAIN AND KILLED

Clyde Landel, Stock Buyer, Meets Death on Railroad Crossing.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Butler, Ind., Sept. 14.—Clyde Landel, aged 24 years, was killed Thursday morning at 9 o'clock when the car which he was driving was struck by New York Central fast line, No. 41, at Edgerton, Ohio. Mr. Landel was a stock buyer and was driving into town from his country home. When he approached the railroad crossing at Depot street, just east of the New York Central station, he saw the fast line approaching, but he drove his car right onto the track, no doubt thinking he could get safely across. The train hit the car, throwing him several feet and injuring him so badly that he died in a short time. He was taken to the Mortland hotel, where Dr. Walter Unger cared for him, but he was too badly injured to survive. He is survived by his mother. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence northeast of Edgerton, Ohio.

CHASES GUESTS AWAY.

Stockholm, Sept. 14.—The spectacle, probably unique, of a popular and much frequented summer resort and bathing town, inviting its summer guests to leave and not return, has just been presented by Sodertalje. The city authorities took action after a meeting at which the scarcity of food was discussed. This, in their opinion, made it undesirable that inreads should be made by summer visitors on the stocks available. About 3,000 visitors are affected by the invitation to leave.

HEALTH PROGRAM AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Student Cafeteria Along New Lines of Economy and Hygiene.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—One of the most pretentious of the steps in the great health program that Indiana univers has mapped out for the thousands of students, which now attend the state institution, was announced today by President William Lowe Bryan.

When the university opens for the fall term this year, a complete student cafeteria—to be operated along unusual lines of economy and hygiene—will be opened on the university campus. Under the direction of the institution the best possible food will be served students of the university at the lowest practicable cost. It is hoped that the scheme will work to such advantage that in a short time a great saving will occur among the students, who are now eating their meals in boarding houses, fraternity houses, hotels and similar places in Bloomington. Student leaders already have endorsed the plan enthusiastically, for it has in it all the advantages to the average student, who now eats at a boarding house, that are possible in the most hygienically operated eating places of large cities.

Women in Charge.

Miss Nola Treat, who has had charge of similar work at the Agricultural college of Kansas, and who is widely known for her work there as assistant professor of home economics, will come to Indiana University to accept the same title in the state school and to direct personally the new student eating house plan of the university.

Besides directing the new cafeteria, Miss Treat will give courses in institutional management so as to prepare persons for similar work in food conservation and expert feeding of large numbers of persons, in other public institutions. Classes in home sanitation at the university, according to the announcement from Dr. Bryan here today, will use the cafeteria as a laboratory and the new eating-place repeatedly will be "scored" by students and teachers for their instruction, and to assist in keeping the sanitary conditions in the cafeteria at 100 per cent. Novel methods will be used to popularize the new eating-place among the students generally, and it is predicted confidently by university officials that eventually the cafeteria will be supplying the food needs of thousands of the students, who now eat in scattered boarding houses at sums much less than they have been paying in former years for food that looked the supervision the university's cafe will have.

No Draft on Treasury.

Dr. Bryan announced that the university officials have arranged to establish the cafeteria without making a draft on the university treasury at this time, through an arrangement which, it is believed, may work out so well financially that the cafeteria will never be a drag on the university treasury. Officials of the state school have been deterred from carrying the project through hitherto because of lack of money for equipment.

The establishment of the new cafeteria is but one step in a long line of "student health" ideals, which Dr. Bryan and others at the institution have been working to develop to the highest pitch for years. Free medical treatment and supervision of students, who desire it, already has been established, and care of sick students in the hospital at Bloomington also is provided as part of the health program.

Another big impetus to the student health movement at Indiana this year will be the many usese to which the new gymnasium—one of the most beautiful and completely equipped in the country—will be put, Dr. Bryan said. The facilities of the new gymnasium, for health purposes, will be open to all the students of the school, regardless of whether they are trying for athletic teams. Intramural athletics will be one phase of the work, but attempts will be made to draw into the physical culture work all students of the university. Many other similar lines of activity are now under way at the institution, all tending toward bringing the average student at the university to the highest pitch of physical efficiency—from which the step to the highest pitch of mental efficiency is so short.

ALIENS CAN VOTE HERE

Law Gives Ballot to All Who Declare Intention to Be Citizen.

CITY BOARD EXPECTS WOMEN TO HAVE VOICE

Denial of Vote to Departed Soldiers Re-affirmed by Board.

Aliens and all other foreigners who have declared their intention of becoming American citizens will have the right to vote in the Fort Wayne election.

In answer to many inquiries the city election board, which met in open session Friday morning, stated that the ballot for the coming city election is not restricted to American citizens or even to those who have taken out their second papers.

The matter of voting is governed by state law, the board points out. Indiana law, unlike many state codes, gives the ballot to all persons who have attained maturity and who have declared their intention of becoming American citizens.

Proclaiming this fact by the election board will add several hundred votes to the present registration for the city election. Many German-born citizens had believed that they would have no right to take part in the municipal contest.

Expect Women to Vote.

The city election board believes that women will vote in the coming city tilt. They think the present qualifying law will be sustained by the courts.

Led by this belief, the election officers are making every effort to care for the female vote. Th balloting machines will be established over the city soon in order to give the women a chance to learn how to operate the voting devices.

"We want the women to have the same opportunity to learn about the machines that the men enjoy," said members of the board.

If an unexpected court decision should disfranchise women the city of Fort Wayne will save no election expense as every provision has been made for the women to vote. Supplies have been bought and extra voting machines have been bargained for.

Members of the election board inspected the sample ballots, to be placed on the voting machines for practice use, Friday morning. Some corrections were made in the submitted lists, which will be ready for use on the balloting apparatus soon.

Soldiers Lose Vote.

The original announcement of the election board that soldiers who are absent from Fort Wayne will not be allowed to have a voice in the city election was reaffirmed at the Friday meeting.

The fact that a city election has been held to be a separate institution from general, special or primary elections, disfranchises the absent voters, board members reassert.

Want to See Machines.

A committee from the socialist party organization of Fort Wayne waited on the election board and asked the right to be present when the election machines are examined at 5 o'clock on election morning, before balloting starts. The socialist representatives stated that they wanted to be sure that all parties had an even start at the beginning of the day.

The presence of the political representatives at the inspection of the machines will be entirely up to the election officers at the various polling places, the election board decided. The law states that election officers shall examine the machines. It does not say that others shall be present.

After 6 o'clock in the evening on election night the socialist committeemen were told that they would have the right to be at the polling places and see that a fair count was made of all the votes cast during the day. The law grants all parties that privilege, the politicians were told.

Notaries Careless.

Attention of the election board members was called in an unpleasant way to the carelessness of notaries who have been aiding taking the registrations. The persons who are filling out the registration blanks are neglecting to make their reports complete, the returns show. Many votes may be lost because of this mistake.

Mistreated registration papers were ordered to be returned to the notaries who have made them out. An effort will be made to get the papers resigned before election day. In some cases the notaries who did the signing are out of town. The votes of the persons they represent may be lost.

The notaries have failed to show when the father of foreign-born citizens was naturalized in many cases.

Many notaries have overlooked the fact that the marriage of a woman to a naturalized citizen makes her a legal voter. If this point is adhered to much time can be saved for the notaries.

BANK YEGGS MEET UP WITH OBSTACLE

Brookston, Ind., Sept. 14.—When Ed Bennett, cashier of the Farmers' bank here, opened the bank for business this morning he discovered that safe blowers had visited the place during the night. The big door on the vault had been blown off but the yeggmen failed to reach the bank funds that were in a burglar proof safe in the vault. A suitcase with the name George Patterson written in it was left by the burglars.

BEGGING TRAMP GAVE FAMILY SMALL POX

Citizen's Warned to Beware of Disease Packing Nomads.

Smallpox was carried into the home of Quincy Hildebrandt, machinist, 1710 Broadway, by a ragged tramp who begged alms at the back door of the the house, city health officers have learned.

The father of the household suffers from a severe attack of thei disease. Several very light cases of the sickness about the city during the past few weeks are believed to have been spread by the shabby nomad who wandered from house to house asking hand-outs. Health officers think that the tramp may not have known the nature of the ailment, which had caused him to break out before he called at the Hildebrandt home.

Police will be ordered to visit the "hobo" camps along the railroad, probably with members of the health board, and to examine the aimless wanderers who may be gathered about the cheery blaze. Smallpox is a disease that feeds best on uncleanly surroundings and would readily pass from one tramp to another when the men gather along the railroad tracks in their journeys "west" or "east."

Citizens are warned against allowing tramps to have access to members of their families. Smallpox in a light stage is not easily descernible but may transmit a serious attack of the ailment to another. If all "Willies" are allowed to come in by the kitchen fire to drink a cup of coffee an epidemic of smallpox may sweep the city, health officers say.

The Hildebrandt family are sure that the illness was brought to their house by an aged "bo" who begged for a pair of shoes. He was allowed to try on a pair of shoes but the footwear did not fit him. Next day he returned and asked for a coat. He was given a garment. On his second visit it was noticed that his face was blotched. Later two members of the family were attacked by smallpox.

A TIDY LITTLE FIND OF CACHED GOLD MADE

Four Hundred Thousand Dollars Dug Up in Hills of Arizona.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 14.—The discovery of $400,000 cached in an out-of-the-way spot in the hills of Graham county, this state, is reported by H. R. Whitman, of Solomonville, who is now in Chandler, near here. The discovery was made by Joe Walsey, a cowboy, who, while hunting stray cattle, came upon an iron box secreted in a tree trunk. Its contents consisted of old Spanish gold coins and gold vessels.

The gold has been taken to Safford, seat of Graham county, and placed in security, according to Whitman. It is believed that Walsey discovered a hidig place of priests who left the section about seventy-five years ago.

STUDENTS MUST NOT WORRY AS TO EATING

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 14.—Worry as to the means of paying for meals is detrimental to good work in college, in the opinion of Harvard university officials. The Harvard Register for the new college year says:

"It is very desirable that a student should either have money set apart for his board before he comes or should know before hand exactly how he can pay his board bills. If he is to do good and effective work he must not be harrassed by anxiety as to the means of meeting this expense and he must not be tempted into unwise economy in food."

HUNDREDS OF MOOSE ARE COMING SATURDAY

Three Hundred Candidates to Be Initiated by Mooseheart Legion.

Members of the Moose lodge, and more particularly the Mooseheart legion, from several different states, will invade Fort Wayne Saturday to take part in the Mooseheart legion convention to witness the initiation of a class of 300 candidates. Rodney H. Brandon, grand regent, and secretary of the Mooseheart governors, will be present from Mooseheart, Ill., and others who have wired that they will be here are Ben Oswald, physical director of Mooseheart; Messrs. Nigro, Kirsch and Russell, of Mooseheart college and the degree team of the Mooseheart-Aurora lodge.

All candidates for initiation will report to R. J. Stetter, herder of the local legion, in the Moose home, corner Wayne and Webster streets, at 4 p. m. The ceremonies will start at 5 o'clock and will be concluded about midnight. It is expected that twelve states will be represented at the convention.

A banquet at 10:30 o'clock will feature the meeting. Hon. Harry H. Hilgemann will preside as toastmaster and addresses will be made by Frank A. Emrick, Rodney H. Brandon, David C. Stout, Maurice C. Niezer, W. S. Cutshall, Judge George W. Stults, of Huntington; H. Raub, dictator of Kendallville lodge, and W. C. Miller, of Bluffton.

A parade preceding the convention ceremonies will form on the Moose lodge lawn and proceed east on Wayne to Harrison, south to Baker, east to Calhoun, north to Columbia, west to Harrison, south to Berry, west to Webster and south to the home, where it will disband.

The Mooseheart legion is to the Moose lodge what the Shrine is to the Masonic lodge. It already has several hundred members in Fort Wayne and surrounding territory. Practically all of the lodges in surrounding towns will send big delegations here for the meeting.

LIVESTOCK TOUR.

Prof. J. W. Schwabof, Purdue university, spoke at several meetings Thursday in the course of a tour of the county in the interest of livestock. He was accompanied by a number of farmers in automobiles who inspected stock at various places. One of the most important inspections of stock took place at the county farm, ten miles from the city, where one of the best grade herds of cattle in the county was inspected.

A subject of particular interest which came up during the day was that at the Elmer Goheen home, where the value of soy beans as fertilizer was discussed.

ST. JOE DIKE IS TORN DOWN

Part of It Finished Early Thursday is Removed Friday Morning.

COURT'S ORDERS ARE NOT HEEDED

Both Parties to Suit Said to Be Liable for Contempt.

The dike along the St. Joe river finished early Thursday morning in alleged violation of a restraining order of the superior court was early Friday morning torn down, also in alleged violation of the court's orders.

The question now arises as to the validity of an order of court and whether the men responsible for both jobs are liable for contempt. Whether both acts are within the law is a matter that will have to be determined later.

Facts leading up the finishing of the wall on Thursday morning and the destruction of it on Friday morning follow:

Last spring Mrs. Phoebe A. Hamilton secured an injunction against Levi McAfee and James Peddicord, local contractors, restraining them from further work on the dike along the St. Joe river. She claimed that the dike would shut off her land, as it was in front of her farm and formed a pocket there. Sometime later the contractors secured an injunction to prevent Mrs. Hamilton from tearing down the dike already finished.

Early Thursday morning, before Mrs. Hamilton could notify her attorneys, the dike was completed and in the afternoon the contractors were brought into superior court to answer as to why they should not be held in contempt. The contractors' attorneys declared their clients did not know that the dike had been completed, the same havng been done without their knowledge or consent. Mrs. Hamilton's attorneys claimed that if this was true there is nothing to prevent her from destroying the portion of the dike finished on Thursday morning.

The testimony and arguments were heard before William C. Geake, judge pro tem., who at the conclusion of the same announced that he would take the matter under advisement, but that in the meantime the work that was done Thursday morning was not to be interferred with. An order to that effect was served on Mrs. Hamilton, it is said.

Judge Geake has gone to New York and it is not likely that any action will be taken until his return.

TWO SONS IN ARMY.

Frank P. Wilt, of South Calhoun street, who has two sons in the army, had a letter from Robert who at the time of writing was stationed at Fort Crook, Neb., in the quartermaster's reserve corps, had been detailed to work in the kitchen. Mr Wilt wrote entertainingly of his work, rising at 4:30 and being employed in the preparation of food until 9:30 o'clock. A detail of the work mentioned was the paring of a bushel and a half of potatoes. "The latest dope about what we are going to do is that of going to Russia," wrote this Fort Wayne young man who is doing his part for his country. Another son, Edward Wilt, is connected with troop D, First Michigan, mobilized at Camp Grayling, Mich., where he is rated as a sharpshooter. His last letter said: "We are to start on Thursday (Sept. 13) for either Battle Creek, Mich., or Waco, Tex."

FOOD PROBLEM IS A PARAMOUNT ISSUE

National Academy of Political and Social Science Discusses It.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—Many phases of the food supply of the world are under discussion at the two days' meeting of the American Association of Political and Social Science, which opened here today. Men and women actively interested in the present food problems and government officials charged with the duties of increasing and controlling the food supply are to read papers during the meetings.

Friedtjof Nansen, member of the Norwegian mission, now in this country, is expected to address the meeting tonight on the food situation in Norway and members of the Japanese misisons will also speak at one of the sessions before the meeting adjourns finally.

Among the papers read today was one prepared by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the National Emergency Food Garden commission of Washington, in which he declared that $350,000,000 worth of produce has been raised this year in war gardens and that housewives have canned at least 460,000,000 jars of vegetables and fruits.

"Next year, profiting by the experiences of this year," Mr. Pack said, "housewives will can, I believe, millions more, and more will be needed for I wish to emphasize now the fact that there will be greater demand for food exportation next year than there has ever been before and we must fill the demand.

Relative Scarcity Exists.

Declaring that bread is second only to bullets, as a war essential, Charles J. Brand, chief of the bureau of markets of the department of agriculture, speaking before the academy today, said that a relative scarcity of food supplies already exists. The shortage is created partly, he said, by unfavorable crop conditions and partly by the changing of forces of production into forces of destruction. The outlook for the current year, however, is good and there need be no fear of famine so far as America's population is concerned, he added.

"Animal production has been increasing," continued the speaker, "but not enough to keep pace with the increased population. In cereals the supply must come largely from North America. The hazards of shipping and the long haul from Australia require too much tonnage to make shipments from Australia dependable.

None From India.

"For the same reasons considerable quantities of foods from India cannot be depended upon. Transportation conditions in Russia are likely to keep crops out of market even though they are available. The Argentine grain crop is small and the outlook for the next harvest is not encouraging. All these add to the responsibility of the United States and Canada.

"The agricultural interests of the United States are working out plans by which every community is to produce its own food and feed as far as practical and the production of non-perishable staples, such as cereals, is to be increased beyond the local needs in every locality where this could profitably be done. The staples recommended by the department of agriculture for increased plantings are wheat, rye, beans and rice. The country is looking for 18 per cent more wheat and a 22 per cent increase in rye."

DISTRICT NUMBER ONE NEXT BEFORE BOARD

Fort Wayne Excuses Will Again Be Heard by Conscript Commission.

Draft excuses from the Fort Wayne District No. 1 are being heard by the state board Friday afternoon. The work of passing on local exemption claims will engage the conscript commissioners until noon, on Saturday, it is expected. The Fort Wayne list is a rather lengthy one and varied appeals are asked.

Labor of disposing of appeal claims from Fayette county, of which Connersville is the county seat, held the state board until late Friday morning. More than forty claims were brought from the small district. Less than half of the appeals were allowed. Disposing of claims from the first city district of Elkhart engaged the board until later in the day.

LAST CLASS TO TAKE FINAL EXAMINATION

Work of Home Care of Sick Classes to Stop Until October.

Final examination of the last class in the home care of the sick will be given Friday evening at the Red Cross headquarters on East Berry street, by Miss Frances Ott, expert Red Cross nurse, who has been in charge of the work here since early last Summer. Miss Ott leaves Saturday to attend a number of state nurses' conventions in the west and will not return until October, when this feature of the Red Cross work in Fort Wayne will be resumed. Miss Ott expects to attend the state meetings in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Kansas.

The chairman of the extension department of the Red Cross addressed forty-five women of the South Baptist church, Thursday evening, on the making of garments and surgical dressings. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. William Nessle, on Organ avenue. The women decided to assist in both the making of garments and the surgical supplies.

A donation of $1 has been received from Mrs. J. Ferd Pietz, who resides on rural route 8 out of Fort Wayne. A total of $16.42 has been taken from the mite box in front of the headquarters since August 23.

ALTSCHUL COMPANY CLOSES 10-YEAR LEASE

Concern Will Occupy the Morris Building on East Columbia Street.

A deal was consummated Friday through Kilbourne & Perry whereby the Altschul company, dealers in fruit and produce, has taken a ten year lease on the Morris building at 215-217 East Columbia street. Announcement was made by the Altschul company . The amount of the lease is said to be about $23,000.

The building is 45x100, three stories and a basement and has a total of 22,000 square feet of floor space. Trackage on the Nickel Plate railroad also is provided.

The Altschul company is one of the largest wholesale fruit and produce concerns in Indiana, and its rapidly growing business has necessitated larger quarters. The entire building will be remodeled, cooling rooms for the storage of bananas will occupy the first floor, while the basement will be equipped with refrigerators for the handling of other fruits. President O. S. Altschul says that with the completion of the new quarters his company will more than double their present output, extending their territory and adding new salesmen both in and outside of the city.

NEW ASSISTANT SECRETARY.

J. W. Campbell, the new assistant secretary of the Commercial club, says that he is much pleased with the new work he is engaged in. Campbell came here from Cuero, Texas, a few weeks ago. He declares that Fort Wayne has it on Cuero in several ways, but that he misses the ranch.

WILL HONOR CONSTITUTION

Local High School Pupils to Be Reminded of Forefathers.

SUPERINTENDENT ASKS FOR HOLIDAY

"Monday, the Birthday of Our Organic Law, Significant," Writes Ellis

Fort Wayne high school will keep Constitution day, next Monday, by recalling the significance of the occasion to the pupils in the history classes and American literature classes. By this method the attention of all the boys anw girls in the high school will be drawn to the hour when that immortal document was born. Teachers in the higher classes of the grade schools will also speak of the occasion, which marks the 128th birthday of our national organic law.

Appeal from State Superintendent Horace Ellis, which was sent to heads of all Indiana schools, did not reach Fort Wayne in time to allow for a holiday keeping of Constitution day. It was deemed impractical to attempt a reorganization of all departments of the high school in order to allow for a general convocation, on Monday, after attention of local school officials had been called, on Friday, to the opportunity offered of imbueing the public school pupils with the spirit of the founders of American democracy.

The letter sent out by Horace Ellis, asking that some mention of the day be made, follows:

"Scholars of distinction and statesmen of renown, from all the nations, have long regarded the American constitution as a polttical document of first importance. Born, as it was, in times that 'tried men's souls,' it naturally proposed remedies for political ills from which earth's peoples had suffered through previous tendious centuries. It likewise recommended national policies in conformity with a new democracy which its framers clearly anticipated. Disregarding traditional conceptions of the state, the framers of the constitution—men of reflection and vision—sought a new understanding of political relationship, and solemnly aimed to establish those relationships in basic form—for themselves and their posterity.

Will Perpetuate Memory.

"Monday, Sept. 17, throughout the nation, has been set aside as Constitution day. Patriotic men and women, on that day, in every state of the union, will attempt, in various ways, to perpetuate the memories of those who gave us our constitution; to inspire among us emulation of their heroic virtues, and to re-awaken in the people of this day that pristine interest in the immortal document which they bequeathed to us, which was felt by men, the world around, when first its pages were read.

"To this end, I earnestly recommend that Indiana schools celebrate Constitution day. Let the great document be read and portions of it memorized. Let every Indiana school boy and girl, of proper understanding, recite the preamble. 'To provide for the common defense and promote the general welfare' ought to satisfy any halting mind that our entrance into the present war is its own justification. The American who would not fight today, casts aside the constiution, and repudiates its framers."

FIFTY CITY BOYS WORK ON FARMER'S ONIONS

Director McDonald Sends Lads to Relieve Labor Stringency.

As a preliminary to what will probably come later when work is given out under the direction of the United States Boys' Working Reserve, City Director A. L. McDonald has sent fifty boys from Fort Wayne to a farm near Columbia City to help take care of an onion crop which has been in danger of spoiling because of the recent frost.

The boys who are working on the farm now are receiving big money for that kind of labor. Mr. McDonald said Friday. They receive from $2.50 to $3.00 per day and transportation, which is considered very good wages. While the work will only last a short time, it is regarded as a good indication of what may be expected later when the Working Reserve is thoroughly organized.

Director McDonald is enthusiastic over the way boys of the city have responded to the first call for their labor. He says that it is a good proposition as a business matter for the boys in addition to the performance of a service to the country.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT UNVEILED AT ANGOLA

Senator Watson, Principal Speaker, is Overcome by the Heat.

(Special to The Sentinel).

Angola, Ind., Sept. 14—The magnificent soldiers' monument erected by the people of Steuben county was unveiled here yesterday with fitting and appropriate ceremonies, attended by a crowd estimated at 10,000.

Senator James E. Watson, the principal speaker, was overcome by the heat after he had spoken about forty-five minutes, and was compelled to quit. He was taken to a hotel, where medical attention was immediately given to him. He was very much improved by evening and no serious consequences are anticipated.

Mayor Thomas J. Creel presided at the speakers' stand. Several musical numbers were rendered. The first speaker was Orlando O. Somers, of Kokomo, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. Other speakers were Newton W. Gilbert, former vice-governor of the Philippines, and representative from this district, and ex-Congressman Gardner.

"I want to congratulate the people of this county on erecting this beautiful monument, standing there as it does in memory of the men who went out in the dark days of the civil war and fought that the nation might live in peace, in security and happiness," he said in conclusion.

In connection with the unveiling of the monument took place the annual reunion of the Forty-fourth, Seventy-fourth and 100th regiments, which closed with a campfire last evening at the First Christian church.

RECIPES PAY COST.

Van Wert, O., Sept. 14.—Hazel McAlister, a 20-year-old girl from Ardmore, Okla., who was in Van Wert yesterday, has found a novel way of taking a trip across the country and paying her way as she goes. Miss McAlister wanted to make her home with her sister in Detroit, but not having the funds for the journey was temporarily at a loss to know how to get there. However, in her Oklahoma town she had established a reputation for making good candy and the idea struck her to make this pay her way to Detroit. She set to work and wrote down all of the recipes she could think of for all kinds of candy. A printer used this copy for 3,000 booklets. Armed with these booklets, which she sells in every town in which she stops for 10 cents each, Miss McAlister left Ardmore on Aug. 1 and expects to arrive in Detroit about next Thursday.

Men Held at Delphos Wanted in Virginia.

Delphos, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Three men arrested at Delphos a few days ago, after attacking Policeman Wagoner, and later held by Putnam county authorities when search of a house they had rented near Columbus Grove disclosed an extensive arsenal, have been identified. Identification was made by Frank Grant, Lima police chief, and as a result the men will be taken back to Virginia, where they are wanted for shooting up the town of New Market, Shenandoah county, and for other offenses. Following the attack on the Virginia town, six weeks ago, the men were surrounded in the hills by a sheriff's posse and besieged for two days. Finally a militia company was called out, but before the arrival the outlaws escaped to the hills and returned to New Market, where Paul Neff, one of the desperadoes, stole his wife and child out of the town under the eyes of the officers.

Accompanied by Dave and Mike Neff, brothers, and Luther Frey, all of whom had been in the shooting episode, he came to Ohio, purchased a high-powered automobile at Cleveland, and established headquarters near Columbus Grove. Police believe the quartet is responsible for several hold-ups and safe blowings in northwestern Ohio recently. Mike Neff escaped at Delphos and has not yet been caught. Among the things found in the house were six high-powered foreign revolvers. Tests at the Ottawa jail showed the guns would shoot through an eight-inch brick wall. Nearly a peck of cartridges in men's socks, were found under pillows in the bedrooms. The men had about $2,000 in cash on their persons and a receipt showing they had paid $1,650 cash for the automobile, which was purchased in Cleveland.

GONE UP IN SMOKE

One-half of your coal—and it did you no good. Hard luck that. But there is a way to fix it. Here's how:

That stove of yours has seen its best days. You need a new one. You know it—but you have let things drift along.

Meanwhile, you have been losing HALF of every hod of coal you have put in it.

Of course, you knew it, but you did not think of it that way. You know that half of every lump is gas. Fail to burn that gas and it is like throwing into the ditch half of every dollar you spend in coal.

Rather extravagant? Yes?

The ordinary stove made of a lot of separate castings leaks air. They leak air at the wrong place. Places you can not control.

RESULT—the best part of your coal—the 14,000 cubic feet of common illuminating gas that is in the average ton of $3.00 soft coal—goes up the flue unburned.

You have lost it. It has gone up in smoke.

Save that gas—mix it properly with air and you have the hottest kind of a blue flame. But there is only one way to do this—

Buy the only heater that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

It leaks no air.

This is the heater that mixes the gas and air and gives you all the heat in the coal.

This is the heater that burns any kind of coal and makes a ton of $3.00 soft coal do the work of $8.00 hard coal in a high priced base burner.

This is the heater that is a joy and comfort to the housewife. It makes no dirt or smoke in the house.

This is the heater that saves labor—fix it in the morning and at night and FORGET IT THE REST OF THE TIME.

This is the heater that gives a steady, constant heat from soft coal or lignite.

This is the heater that will hold its fire untouched for a day and a half.

This is the heater we sell you under a guarantee that is as "good as old wheat at the mill." Burns soft coal, lignite, slack, hard coal or wood.

It is just the kind of a heater you want. Come in and see it.

THE EAGLE IS ABOUT READY

Uncle Sam's Proud Bird of the Air is Stretching His Wings.

AIRPLANE PROGRESS IS SATISFACTORY

Assures That U. S. Will Do Share in Blinding the German Armies.

By BASIL M. MANLY.
Staff Special.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—How is Uncle Sam's aviation program progressing?

Are the signal corps and the aircraft production board co-operating to push the $640,000,000 airplane program at top speed so America will do her full share next summer in blinding the kaiser's troops.

The signal corps and the aircraft board are too busy to tell what they are doing. They are saying little, but sawing wood. The old Southern Railway building, in which all the aviation work is centered, gives a stronger impression of real efficiency than almost any other in Washington.

Progress is along four main lines: Construction of flying fields; training of aviators; manufacture of training planes; and development of fighting planes.

Completion of flying fields has been delayed by the diversion of men and materials to rush the cantonments; but with the release of cantonment labor the fields will bec ompleted almost as soon as originally designed. Twenty-one are now finished or under construction.

Aviators' training is proceeding with speed. The "ground schools," for recruits' preliminary and technical work, are located at eight of the great universities and technical schools. Nearly 1,000 graduates leaves for the flying field every month.

In addition hundreds are constantly being trained in private aviation schools by the airplane companies.

These numbers will be greatly increased before the end of the year. It is safe to say at least 10,000 American pilots will be ready to receive their final instruction in France by next summer.

All the manufacturing facilities readily available for airplane building are now concentrated on training planes, essential in producing fighting plane pilots, but the deliveries are still considerably behind the demand. Within thirty days, however, the output of training planes will be more than doubled, and from that time there should be no delay in obtaining them.

The most spectacular part of the aviation program is the production of the fighting machines. Here wonderful prograss has been made. An engine equal to the best Europe has evolved during three years of war experimentation has been produced, and tested in actual flight.

Actual manufacture of these United States standard motors has not yet begun, but the best engine plants in the country, incldng the makers of the country's most famous automobile engines, are now equipping their shops with the tools and fixtures necessary for producing thousands of these engines during the first half of 1918.

The production of these engines is an enormous job, as the work on each is equivalent to the work of a first-class mechanic for a year.

Airplane designers, assisted by the best British, French and Italian experts, are now producing designs for a standard American battleplane, embodying all the best foreign features. As the basis for experiments, the United States has imported foreign fighting machines, including German planes brought down and reconstructed.

Several of the most famous French and British battle pilots, including Navarre, Boyriven and Tabetau, of the French arm, are giving the United States the benefit of their wide experience.

Extraordinary steps are being taken to keep the designs from falling into the hands of German agents, and little information regarding even the progress of the work is available; but it has been so highly satisfactory as to insure a standard American battleplane equal to any.

Work is also being pushed on highly important auxiliary devices. There is, for example, a new aerial torpedo which greatly surpasses in accuracy and destructive power the German bombs which have wrought such havoc in England.

The first man to make an accurate map of the Japanese empire was a native named Ino Chuke, born in 1747. His early trade was that of a brewer, which he followed until 1800, amassing a fortune. He then asked permission to make a map of the island empire, at his own expense, and the task occupied his best efforts for eighteen years. He had thirteen assistants, and the results were incorporated in fourteen volumes.

Even Fords need more than wheels and engines and clatter, Judge H. W. Kerr explained to Randolph Shea, 1325 Stophlet street, charged with speeding in police court Friday morning.

All automobiles should have speedometers, lights and careful drivers, the judge elaborated. MUCH HOG CHOLERA IN WHITLEY COUNTY

Breaks Out Again After Epidemic on Farm Near Larwill.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 14.—Hog cholera has again made its appearance in the county, after the epidemic on the Worth Norris farm, near Larwill, had been checked several weeks ago. The new outbreak occurred this week on the Leslie Noble farm in Troy township, County Agent Hummel reports. A drove of twenty-five animals was vaccinated Thursday afternoon on the farm by the county agent, Dr. Roy Clark and Dr. Frye, of Fort Wayne. Mr. Noble has lost one animal by the disease. A meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose of organizing the Troy township farmers against a spread of the disease.

Will Leave Sept. 20.

Forty-seven young men of this city will leave for Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., September 20, under charge of a young man of their number, upon whom the responsibility for their safe transportation will be placed. The men will go probably in a special coach to Logansport, Indianapolis and thence to the camp, without getting off the car. It is thought the Whitley county men will be kept together at Camp Taylor. The total number of men accepted by the examining physicians Wednesday was 55, while 31 were rejected. Those accepted and not previously reported follow: Charles Mattix, John A. Glassley, Culley Phillips, Harvey Cearbaugh, Kye O. Trout, Frank G. Myers, Roy E. Swank, Frank L. Jones, Grover Schuman, Ralph E. Watson, Don Devine, Ralph D. Krider, Sylvester Rouch, Carl A. Kelly, Chester A. Hall, Alonzo Ditton, Charles F. Kerch and Thomas Pettigrew. Those rejected are John E. Gates, Dewey B. Egolf, George E. Long, Walter L. Reese, Lyman O. Goodycar, Sherman L. Max Trix was third at Muncie, second at Celina, second at South Bend and will be started next week either at Kendallville of North Manchester.

A false fire alarm furnished chance to use the $5,500 fire truck for the first time Thursday morning, but the members of the department, although ready, did not know where to go, consequently the run was not made. The alarm was sounded as a prankish test of the speed that can be obtained in moving the new truck into action.

William Betzner is failing rapidly from Bright's disease at his home, north of the city.

Keller L. Sheeler, who left this city Wednesday, Sept. 5, giving up his duties as Pennsylvania claim agent, to answer the draft call, and volunteering as one of the first six men to leave the county, has been made battalion sergeant major in the camp, while Fred Yontz, who went with Sergeant Sheeler, is in the same office, assisting the supply officer.

The members of the Kneedle and Knod klub gave a farewell surprise Wednesday evening to William Oberkiser, who has been called for service in the first draft.

Lavon Hunt left Thursday evening for Bloomington to begin his freshman year in Indiana university.

James W. Johnson, picked up here several days ago by train detectives on the charge of operating a speeder lawlessly, has been released from jail, having served his time.

Mrs. Mabel Long had the end of her left middle finger so badly ground in a corking machine at the Vance canning factory, Thursday afternoon, that it was necessary for it to be amputated at the first joint, Dr. F. G. Grisler performing the surgery.

Supt. C. E. Spaulding arrived home Wednesday evening from a trip to Indianapolis and Lafayette, where he attempted to secure instructors for art and manual training. No selection has been made, however.

Dr. E. L. Eberhard is the only member left on the Whitley county pension board. Dr. O. W. Grisier, formerly on the board, is now a lieutenant in the naval school at Great Lakes, Ill., and the third member, Dr. C. L. Souder, is a lieutenant in the army medical corps at Indianapolis.

Mary Ellen, daughter of John and Fannie Marrs, and wife of George D. Knox, died at Logansport a few days ago at the age om 63 years. Warren and Alva Marris, of Larwill, are brothers of the deceased, who leaves her husband and four children. The deceased formerly resided in Troy township, Whitley county.

DOCTORS WILL HELP BATTLE SORE THROAT

Enthusiastic About Plan to Make Test of All City Milk.

Physicians of the city are taking up the plan of battling the sore throat menace by attacking its germ resources with enthusiasm. Every doctor in Fort Wayne has expressed a hearty willingness to report the name of the dairy which is furnishing milk for the homes where sore throat develops.

"We are heart and soul in the campaign," commented one doctor when asked by Health Officer Josse to assist in the effort. Doctors realize that the place to combat ailment is before they start."

City health officers are arranging the laboratory, in connection with the city hall office, so as to be prepared to make careful bacteriological records of all milk samples taken, when the active campaign is waged.

All dairies, the names of which are reported by doctors who are caring for sore throat cases, will be visited by health officers in two weeks. Samples of the milk will be taken. If the milk is found to contain irritating germs the dairy will be forced to remodel its plant or quit business.

of anti-typhoid syrum will also be administered.

Preparations are under way to receive the large delegation from Fort Wayne on September 21. On this day the 17th battalion, which is largely composed of Fort Wayne men, will receive 237 men. The remainder of the men who are not from Fort Wayne iome from Adams and Jay counties.

The 17th battalion of this division, composed mostly of Fort Wayne men, will also maintain a football team this fall provided plans are realized.

Leaders are discussing subjects of entertainment for this winter for boys from the "Summit City." It is known that several projects have practically reached a decision. There are still others which will necessitate several business transactions. Whatever the outcome the determination is to provide such amusement and recreation that Fort Wayne mothers can feel well satisfied that their sons are having their fun as well as hard work.

Representatives from the third district in Fort Wayne who are all members of the 66th company have adopted the slogan, "The Fighting Sixty-Sixth." They expect to retain this scrappy name and if needs be will demonstrate that their slogan is not for naught.

for private ownership, some for the government. Especially fast work is being done on the merchant shops as the government and the builders are anxious to increase British tonnage by building standard vessels, on which many are even now under construction, many having been launched.

These standard ships, builders agree, will greatly enlarge the output of tonnage. In the first place, it was pointed out, construction has been simplified; all parts of hulls and engines are standardized and may be used where first needed. Heretofore, for instance, 35 sizes of steel sections were used in the construction of ordinary ships. The standardization process had reduced this number to eight. So far all the standards, as they are called, have been named after flowers, the word war preceding the name of the flower, such as "War Rose," "War Thistle" and "War Poppy."

Distinguished by Names.

But for the name it would be impossible to tell that they are standards. They look just like the ordinary cargo-carrying vessels, not so much superstructure and wide decks upon which a heavy load may be carried. Their engines are powerful enough to drive them through the seas at a rate slightly over that of the ordinary cargo-carrier. And they all will be well armed when they set out to bring materials and supplies to the British Isles. It is quite possible that within the next few months every port in the United States will have seen one or more of these standards, for some of them are already in the water making ready to perform the duties that have been cut out for them.

The Germans during the early days of the war tried their best to destroy the yards of the Tees and the Tyne and the Wear. In one shop behind a mass of roaring machinery there is a big brass plate, which was placed there by the company in honor of more than a score of employes who have given up their lives on theh spot when a Zeppelin bomb crashed through the roof and exploded. On any river they will point out to the visitor where bombs from the Zeppelins have dropped before the British did away with the menace, at least in that section of the country. The Zeppelins do not even try to reach the yards any more. It would be suicide for them to make the attempt.

Stockholm foreign office knew of the affair.

Von Eckhardt's letter to the German chancellor recounting the extent to which Cronholm used Sweden's diplomatic privileges for Germany and his recommendation of an imperial decoration for him is regarded by allied diplomats here as further evidence of their charge that Germany has distributed decorations among the diplomats of friendly neutrals for such services probably in other instances.

Copies of the von Eckhardt letter have been forwarded by the state department to Ambassador Fletcher in Mexico and to Minister Morris at Stockholm, but neither has instructions to present them to the government to which he is accredited.

Dispatches to the department from The Hague dated yesterday, were that up to that time the disclosures made by Secretary Lansing of the manner in which Count Luxburg had used the Swedish minister in Argentine as a bearer of dispatches had not been published in Germany.

It is not expected that this government will take any further action except possibly to add to the story of intrigue by revealing more documents in its possession.

Details of the Incident.

A letter written March 8, 1916, by von Eckhardt, former German minister to Mexico, who was concerned in the notorious Zimmerman plot, was intercepted by American officials while en route to the imperial chancellor.

It discloses that Folke Cronholm, former Swedish charge at Mexico City, virtually was employed by the German legation to furnish information from the "hostile camp." The letter asks that the imperial government recognize the services of Cronholm by awarding him the "order of the crown of the second class."

Known for a Long Time.

This letter was written on March 8, 1916, and apparently has been in the possession of the American government for a long time. It was made public without comment, shedding light on the methods of another Swedish diplomatic representative in this hemisphere, at a time when the United States and her allies are awaiting with interest Sweden's objection to Argentina of the conduct of her minister at Buenos Aires, who transmitted the German "sink without leaving a trace" dispatches.

Baron Akerhielm, Swedish charge here, said last night in response to a quary that Cronholm was dismissed from the diplomatic service last January. He would not discuss the cause, but there was no intimation that it was in any way connected with Cronholm's relations with the Germans.

Von Eckhardt's Letter.

The department's translation of the von Eckhardt letter follows: "Imperial legation, Mexico, to His Excellency, the imperial chancellor:

Herr Folke Cronholm, the Swedish charge d'affaires here, since his arrival here, has not disguised his sympathy for Germany and has entered into close relations with this legation. He is the only diplomat through whom information from a hostile camp can be obtained. Moreover, he acts as intermediary for official diplomatic intercourse between this legation and your excellency. In the course of this he is obliged to go personally each time to the telegraph office, not seldom quite late at night in order to hand in the telegrams.

Herr Cronholm was formerly at Peking and at Tokio and was responsible for the preliminary arrangements which had to be made for the representation of his country in each case. Before he came out here he had been in charge of the consulate general at Hamburg. Herr Cronholm has not got a Swedish, but only a Chinese order at present. I venture to your excellency the advisability of laying before his majesty, the emperor, the name of Herr Cronholm with a view to the crown order of the second class being bestowed upon him.

It would perhaps be desirable in order not to excite the enemy's suspicion to treat with secrecy the matter of the issue of the patents until the end of the war, should the decision be favorable to my suggestion. This would mean that the matter would be communicated to no one but the recipient and his government and even to them only under the seal of secrecy; while the publication of the bestowal of the decoration would be postponed until the end of the war.

"I should be grateful to your excellency if I could be furnished with telegraphic news of the bestowal of the decoration, which I strongly recommend in view of the circumstances detailed above.

VON ECKHARDT.

Causes No Surprise.

Von Eckhardt's part in the latest chapter has been no surprise. This government has known of his activities long before the discovery of the evidence given by the Zimmerman note and since then his activities in propaganda have been watched carefully. That he was heading a big organization that had for its object not only propaganda but espionage has been suspected and those suspicions have been conveyed to the Mexican foreign office in the hope that it might take steps that would check any violation of neutrality.

MEXICO HEARS A RUMOR.

Mexico City, Sept. 14.—A report reached this city tonight that the state department at Washington had made public correspondence that the former Swedish charge here had acted as an intermediary for the German minister Eckhardt in a transfer of messages for the German diplomat. Mexican officials said they had heard nothing of the report.

Folke Cronholm was replaced as Swedish charge here on February 24 last and since that time has held no official position with the Swedish government so far as known.

Regarding Appeals.

Papers, evidence and affidavits not considered by the district boards will not be considered by the president in appeals taken to him, according to word received by the local board Friday from the state conscription agent. It is also pointed out that only claims for exemption on the ground of engagement in agricultural and industrial pursuits will be considered by the president.

Because of the amount of work before the state board appeal has been made by the various district boards, who are being held up, that additional help be furnished the state board.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

tor, is displaying a fighting spirit and according to the official statements is regaining some of the ground recently abandoned to the Germans in the Riga district. Several villages have been occupied, probably in a movement to consolidate the Russian positions and organize a defensive line which would be cohesive in case of attack.

Activity on the other battle fronts except the Austro-Italian, where Gen. Cadorna is still fighting determinedly for Monte San Gabriele, is not notable. The Germans are apparently more demonstrative in the Aisne district on the French front than elsewhere and Paris today reports an attack last night on French positions on the casemates plateau. This was repulsed in hand to hand fighting.

Berlin reports an action on the Aisne front which may be the one alluded to in the Paris communique. The German statement characterizes the operation as a raid by "shock" troops, which carried the raiders to the second French line, where heavy losses were inflicted on the French forces.

Again the Berlin statement mentions the artillery fire in Flanders increasing to the drumfire intensity which usually heralds an infantry attack. Evidently the Germans are expecting such an attack but they announce none has as yet been delivered. The German forces have been on the offensive in one section of the Flanders front however, and it is claimed by Berlin that on Wednesday night the British were expelled from the wooded district of Langemarck.

PUNISHMENT OF REBEL CHIEF IS GRAVE PROBLEM

awaited him, General Kruimoff, commander of the Korniloff troops which were sent against Petrograd, returned to his lodgings tonight and shot himself. The general's wounds were not fatal.

The graduates, one hundred and seventy-four in number, are members of the corps of reserve naval officers who have just completed a three months' intensive course of instruction to fit them for duty aboard ship or on shore.

"The impulse that has made possible our rapidly expanding navy," declared Mr. Daniels, "came from a speech made by President Wilson in St. Louis on the third day of February, 1916, when he declared 'there is no other navy in the world that has to cover so great an area of defense as the American navy, and it ought, in my judgment, be incomparably the most adequate navy in the world.'

"Following close upon the declaration of the president," continued Mr. Daniels, "congress took a radical and forward step on its naval program. It abandoned the plan of a yearly authorization of new ships and adopted a three year building program. Shortly thereafter it increased the naval appropriation from an average of former years of $145,000,000 to $312,888,000, and since the first of August, 1916, has appropriated for the support and increase of the navy $1,344,184,896, while estimates pending before congress carry an addition of nearly six hundred million dollars.

The aggregate appropriation in little more than a year to make effective and impregnable the nation's first arm of defense is, including pending estimates, nearly two billion dollars.

"I am publishing a military secret when I say that while the increase in personnel in the past few months has far surpassed the increase in material, there are three times as many ships in commission today as there were six months ago; and that ships and more shops, from enlarged and ever enlarging ship yards are coming to afford a place on naval craft to the thousands of patriotic young men who have crowded into the army since the call."

SITUATION IMPROVES.

Petrograd, Sept. 14.—M. Soskice, private secretary to Premier Kerensky, told the Associated Press today that "the situation shows steady improvement." Continuing he said: "Gen. Korniloff has not surrendered, but he is quite prepared to do so and is in a position of complete powerlessness. We have just received an offer of surrender from twelve companies of Korniloff troops, who say they have been deceived and Gen. Kalendines, who, with his Don Cossacks, began a menacing movement against the government, has been checked. We expect that he soon will be taken.

A Ptrograd dispatch to Reuter's, Ltd., under date of Sept. 14, announced the arrest at Rostov of Gen. Kaledines.

DESERT THE REBELLION.

Petrograd, Sept. 14.—Further evidence of defection in the ranks of the Cossacks from Gen. Korniloff is given by the arrest near Luga of Gen. Krymoff. The council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates sent a deputation to the troops to explain the situation, whereupon the Cossacks declared they were ready to arrest their commander, provided an order was received from Premier Kerensky. The council telegraphed to the premier, who ordered Gen. Krymoff's arrest. Gen Krymoff submitted without resistance and was brought to Petrograd. The Cossacks of this command have joined the government forces in the Luga garrison.

Railway service between Luga and Petrograd has been resumed.

WITH KORNILOFF'S "SAVAGES."

Village of Popovo, near Tsarskoe Selo, Russia, Thursday, Sept. 13.—Having obtained the only permit issued by the chief of the Petrograd district staff to a newspaper man since the beginning of Gen. Korniloff's revolt, the Associated Press correspondent early this morning arrived at this village, which is the headquarters of the staff of a rifle regiment of the guard which, with two other rifle regiments, is engaged in holding the front opposite the famous "savage" division. The situation here is as follows:

Although danger of an armed struggle is now excluded, the "savage" division still is not agreed to surrender on the terms granted by the provisional government last night, but it has formally pledged itself not to attack the Kerensky forces. With its artillery and machine gun detachments the division, which is composed of tribesmen from the Caucasus, it is quartered peacefully in villages south of this place without entrenchments, outposts, sentries or reconnoitering detachments. Passing within forty yards of the Popovo church are the government lines, but the Kerensky forces also have no intention of attacking, as negotiations are proceeding and there is a prospect of a settlement being reached before nightfall. Russian emissaries and officers constantly are passing into the camp of the Caucasians carrying proclamations signed by Gen. Filopenko, the supreme commander, advising the troops of the "savage" division to abandon their officers and to march to Tsarskoe-Selo. Likewise, tribesmen from the division all the time are coming into Popovo with plans for a settlement.

Acknowledged Their Plight.

When the correspondent arrived he found one such emissary, a Russian serving in the artillery of the division, who announced that Caucasians knew their position was hopeless as the artillery and machine gun units which are largely Russian, are pro-government, and without them the cavalrymen would be helpless.

During the conversation a tribesman of the Christianized Alhasets race named Karadise was brought in. He will be held as a hostage by the government authorities until their negotiators with the Caucasians have safely returned.

Karaides presented a striking picture. He was dressed in a long frieze captan, a shaggy sheepskin biernmeus and lambskin busy, was armed with a broad, bone-handled silver inlaid dagger, and wore a necklace of black and white horsehair rings. He assured the correspondent that the hundreds of his tribesmen in the division were entirely peaceful and as proof of this he pointed to four small scars on his face saying he got them in childhood as his parents, who were great local dignitaries, gave all their male children daggers as playthings when they reached the age of two.

Pledged Selves Not to Fire.

The "savage" division yesterday sent a message to the government saying that though they might obey the order to march against the Kerensky troops, they would not fire a shot. With permission of the chief of staff at Tsarskoe-Selo, the correspondent crossed to the village of Tsarska-Slavinsky, at which place and at a neighboring cotton factory a part of the tribesmen were encamped. Near the village was found a party of Ingushes, notorious as robbers in the days of the Roman empire, peacefully helping a Finnish washerwoman to carry clothes to her house. There were a few officers about who were busy finding better quarters for their men. Some Ingushes were galloping about, others were asleep. Here, mounted on tiny horses, were met a detachment of Kaberdinians with whom, as they know Russian, the correspondent could speak. They boasted they were the most reasonable and best educated tribesmen in the division.

Loyal to Korniloff.

At the cotton factory the correspondent met a party of Abreks whom even the gerce Ingushes denounce as bloodthirsty. The Abreks said the commander of the division, Gen. Bagration, was at a village far to the rear and that their commander was still loyal to Gen. Korniloff and preferred death to shame. The tribesmen added that the real obstacle to their surrender was that their officers were reluctant, and they being devoted to Korniloff and feared punishment while the rank and file was devoted to them and would defend them until death. As an instance of this a Kaberdian escort accompanied their officer negotiator to Popovo, refused to leave him alone in the council chamber, insisting upon entering the room, and all the time they kept their hands on the hilts of their yatagans, which they carry instead of swords.

RUSSIAN CABINET CHANGES.

London, Sept. 14.—The Petrograd correspondent of Reuters states that Vice Premier Nekrasoff has informed the press that he and M. Trestchenko, minister of foreign affairs, have decided to leave their posts in the cabinet, considering that their participation in the government narrowed their political horizon and being only business ministers without party support they did not possess sufficient strength in the cabinet. The vice premier also announced the withdrawal from the cabinet of M. Hieschenoff, minister of supplies.

Other changes in the cabinet include the retirement of M. Tchernoff, minister of agriculture, who will be replaced by M. Avskentieff, present minister of the interior, who in turn will be succeeded by M. Kischkin, a constitutional democrat. M. Kischkin enters the cabinet unconditionally.

NEW COACH FOR COLGATE.

THE MARKETS

CORN PRICES SHOW RENEWED STRENGTH

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Corn prices rallied today after an early decline. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛ to ¾c lower with Dec. at 119¼ to 119¾ and May at 116⅛ to 116¾, were followed by upturns to well above yesterday's finish.

Oats duplicated the action of corn. Farmers appeared to be sending wheat to Minneapolis more liberally. The movement in winter wheat sections remained disappointing.

On the other hand latest estimates of the spring crop in the Dakotas and Minnesota put the total at 6,000,000 bushels less than was suggested by the government September report. Heavy buying lard put firmness into the provision list.

Peace talk accompanied by profit taking, brought about a sharp setback in corn. The close was weak, ⅝c to 1⅛c net lower at $1.18⅛ to $1.18⅞ December and $16.18¼ to $1.16⅝ May.

NEW MINISTRY FOR FRANCE

Minister of commerce — Etienne Clementel.

Minister of agriculture—Fernand David.

Minister of provisions—Maurice Long.

Minister for missions (abroad)—Franklin Bouillon.

Four ministers of state who are also members of the war council—Louis Barthou, Leon Bourgeois, Paul Douimer and Jean Dupuy.

Under secretary for medical services—Justin Godart.

Under secretary for aviation—Jacques L. Dumesnil.

Under secretary for general administration—M. Mourier.

Under secretary for military justice and pensions—Pierre Masse.

Under secretary for munitions—J. L. Breton.

Under secretary of the interior (in charge of inventions)—Victor Heytra.

Under secretary of finance—Paul Rouerely.

Under secretary of commerce—Paul Morel.

Under secretary of merchant marine and transports—M. Demonzie.

Under secretary of blockade—Albert Metin.

Under secretary for fine arts—Albert Dalimiel.

How It Is Divided.

The new ministers are divided among five senators, eleven deputies and two, Louis Loucheur and Albert Claville, do not belong to parliament. The eleven under secretaries are all members of the chamber of deputies. Sixteen of the new cabinet members have been minisetrs or undersecretaries in previous cabinets and three are former premiers. The political groups represented in the new ministry do not include the unified socialists. Premier Painleve represents the socialist-republican group, while the socialist radicals have three members, the radicals left, three, the republican union of the senate two, the republican of the left one, and the radical republic union, seven members. Seven members of the Ribot ministry retain places in the new cabinet. The most noted perhaps of the Ribot ministry to go are Rene Viviani and Albert Thomas.

LOCAL MARKETS

PRICES REMAIN ABOUT THE SAME AT THURSDAY

Flour Shortage is Feared if Farmers Refuse to Sell Their Wheat.

While corn is still high the expected increase over Thursday did not materialize, two loads being sold for $2.00 to $2.05, the top price being 3c less than yesterday's quotations Hay, however, advanced another dollar, being quoted at $18 as the top price. Other prices remain practically the same.

Although the cool weather of the last few days is of doubtful benefit to many growing things and of positive injury to others, dealers say that it is excellent for oysters, both for growth and packing, and the supply is fully normal for this time in the year. Much trouble is encountered, however, in the shipments owing to the heavy use of the railroads at present for the movement of troops, orders coming in a half day to a day later than the usual time required for shipping. Fort Wayne dealers expect the Saginaw bay shipments to begin any day now.

Fear Flour Shortage.

A shortage of flour is feared as a result of farmers refusing to sell their wheat crop at present prices. They are waiting for the government limit of $2.20, which local dealers have not as yet offered. The situation has not as yet reached the serious state, but if present conditions continue it will. One miller stated Friday that at the rate the wheat is coming into the mills now his mill could not continue longer than a month.

BILLS AGAINST ONION COMBINE SUSTAINED

Boston, Sept. 14.—An indictment charging monopoly, returned several months ago by the federal grand jury againstthe National Onion association, was sustained by Judge Morton in district court today, while another of the charges against the onion men, alleging unlawful combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade was thrown out on a technicality. The National Onion association deals in what are known as "northern onions," the principal supply, after the early southern supply has been consumed.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT FLIES IN ARMY PLANE

Begs Permission to Soar With Instructor at the Mineola Grounds.

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt gained yesterday the distinction of being the first civilian to make a flight in an airplane propelled by the new military motor invented for use of the government in the war. The flight was made from the Hempstead aviation field and for a half hour the machine, piloted by H. J. Blakely, an army instructor, attained a speed varying from 90 to 110 miles an hour, reaching an altitude of 5,000 feet. The colonel arrived at the aviation field just as Blakely was "tuning up" the liberty motor for a test gight and he immediately asked to be permitted to accompany the instructor. Blakely informed Col. Roosevelt that he had not yet had an opportunity to test the motor and advised him to wait until he had made a trial flight and that then he would be glad to take him along as a passenger. The colonel assured Blakely he was not a novice at flying, having flown with Archbald Hoxsey at St. Louis seven years ago.

"You needn't make a trial flight without me," the colonel told Blakely, "I am willing to go along unless you object."

The former president climbed into the airplane and they were off. They flew over Camp Mills, where the rainbow division is assembled and to Garden City, where Blakely executed a "spiral" for the benefit of army and navy officers and their families, who were watching the flight.

When the airplane landed the colonel patted Blakely on the back and told him how immensely he had enjoyed the experience.

ROBISON PARK EMPLOYES HONOR MGR. WILLIAMS

Because Manager Williams' birthday occurs in the rush and work of the park's special days, he requested two years ago that all observance of the event thereafter by the park employes be abandoned. They would not consent to that, and since that time, the celebration of his birthday has been set ahead until the close of the park season. Yesterday the regular park employes set their tables in picnic fashion under the big trees as do the thousands of picnickers who annually visit the popular resort. It was the annual complimentary chicken dinner to the park manager.

The employes presented a magnificent ivory set to Mr. Williams as an expression of their love and esteem for him. The set contained shaving mirrors, military brushes, comb and tray with brushes of different sizes for hats and clothing, all in sheer ivory. A big bouquet of roses containing one rose for each year of his life, with the birthday cake, was also presented to the park manager. He was so overcome with the gifts that he responded with great difficulty. At the roll call, each employe gave a short talk in which each one gave his or her impression of Robison park and of the events of the 1917 season. Manager Williams presented a gift to each one in turn, in celebration of his birthday. In responding to his name at the roll call, he said:

"Another year of work and association has come and gone. Another page has been written in the history of Robison park. You, who have been here—heart and hand with me—know with what labor that page has been written. With your hearty co-operation, your willingness to serve and your long hours of service, you have made the year a success. Not only has Robison park held its own as Fort Wayne's unique playground, but it has added new laurels to its past successes. As we meet here today, perhaps for the last time together, I want you to know how deeply I appreciate your loyalty during the past summer. When the work was hard, you, my friends, always stood near with outstretched hands ready and willing to help carry the burden. When the hours were long and the duty manifold, you were always willing and eager to meet and fulfill the day's tasks. For your faithfulness and loyalty, I thank you. For your many hours of patient service, I am indeed grateful. For your friendship—deep and true—my mind knows no words able to express my appreciation. Even though the coming days bring a breaking of our band, with each one going a different way, still our friendship will live on, a potent memory of happiness and cheer. One of the greatest pleasures accruing from any successful season is that I may present a gift worth while to each one of you, my faithful workers. The season just closing makes these gifts possible. They come from my heart, not as a measure of my appreciation of you, but as a parting remembrance—a farewell expression of my friendship for you—my loyal co-workers and friends."

While the annual affair is one of pleasure and of gladness, it is also one of regrets and tears. The little band of regular employes passes the season in close relationship. Deep and lasting friendships are always formed. On this last day together, good-bys are said, as each one goes a different way and the partings are often hard.

PLAN TO CONSERVE FUEL IN THE STATE

Council of Defense Has Its Eyes on Discarded Railroad Ties.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—Plans for conserving the fuel value of used railroad ties, through county councils of defense, the United States Boys' Working Reserve and the state board of forestry, were indorsed at the meeting of the Indiana State Council of Defense Wednesday.

The report of the special committee, consisting of Frank Wampler, J. L. Keach and A. B. Storms, on the report of the Merchants' Economy committee "indorsed the spirit of the report and all the economies recommended" and expressed the belief that closer co-operation between consumers and retailers will effect important economies, was approved and placed in the record.

In the absence of Dr. Charles P. Emerson, Dr. John Oliver reporting for the medical section of the council, indorsed the resolution presented by Charles Fox, recommending to the war department the exemption of dental students and placing them on the same footing as medical students in reference to conscription for the federal army. Mr. Straus offered a resolution that dentists may be exempted from the draft so that they may be eligible for commissions the same as members of the medical reserve. This resolution was unanimously adopted.

A communication from John Northways, representing the secretaries of Indana chambers of commerce, suggesting that these bodies be utilized in the collection of a fund totalling $2 for each man in the army, for a comfort, mess and company fund, to be collected by October 1, and distributed to the army units through the state council of defense, was referred to the finance committee of the council.

Louis J. Bailey, director of the Indiana Library War council presented his plan for raising the states' share of a million dollar fund wanted and received the indorsement of the council.

Willl J. Freeman stated that he desired to "again sound an alarm over the present coal shortage." He suggested that the attention of the transportation committee be directed to the shortage of cars and said open top cars are being used for the transportation of building material and merchandise, to the further jeopardy of public interest, in the prompt movement of coal. He said there has not been more than a 71 per cent. supply of coal cars in Indiana for the past four or five months and the seriousness of the situation is increasing rapidly with the approacn of the "pinch of cold weather."

Prof. G. I. Christie, of the food committee, reported that the council's tent at the state fair had resulted in a splendid manifestation of interest among the women, and the enrollment of many who might not otherwise have been reached. He added that exhibits had proved of interest and are to be used in Louisville and Chicago.

Prof. Christie also reported the organization of better live stock clubs over the state, and a plan whereby, through the co-operation of the Indianapolis stock yards, manw of the 600 cows marketed there every month, may be sent back to Indiana farms rather than butchered for beef. Prof. Christie will conduct an experiment and demonstration for the education of stock men at the Indianapolis stock yards, the operation of which will co-operate in the development of three car loads of cattle which will be tested with silage, patent and other feeds.

From less than half an acre of strawberries Lewis Gordon, of Lyndonville, Vt., picked 1,800 baskets of the berries.

CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 25c package makes a quart of P. D. Q., and will go farther than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. LETTER WRITING.

What a nice looking cob web! Yes, it is. The spider wasn't interrupted in his web making. Why? Can't you make out, under the coat of dust, the letter writing material?

Oh, yeh! Well, that explains it. A safe place for a spider to spin a web is over letter writing material.

Well, how is it the mailmen are kept busy? How? Why they're carrying those letters that say, "Why don't you write me more often?" That's what 50 per cent. of the people write in 50 per cent. of the letters to their friends that write back the same thing to them.

The other 50 per cent. of the letters read, "Why don't you pay your bills?"

Here is the big reason why there isn't much letter writing: Because people don't know just what to write about except the weather and nearly all the papers print the country's weather reports anyhow.

Girls! Try This on Your Hands! Make a Lemon Beauty Cream

Juice of lemons clears, softens and whitens the skin. Prepare a wonderful complexion lotion for a few cents!

"It seems that every girl and woman here is making lemon lotion," says a well-known druggist, and the reason is because at the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream they can prepare a full quarter pint of a creamy lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman has known for years that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness, and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Try it, girls! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy or toilet counter and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 16

THE FIERY FURNACE.

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 3.
GOLDEN TEXT—When hou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shalt the flame kindle upon thee.—Isaiah 43:2.

I. The Occasion (vv. 1-7). The fact that God said to Nebuchadnezzar, "Thou art this head of gold" (2:38) was too much for him. Though he appeared to have been deeply impressed with Daniel's God, his pride got the better of him. As he grew great and became conscious of it, he grew proud. This moved him to set up a colossal idol of gold in the Plain of Dura to be worshiped by all the people of his realm. It was an attempt at self-deification. It combined with it a political move, the object of which was to weld together the various kingdoms and peoples into one homogeneous body. He inaugurated a religious festival, and called upon all the people to worship the image which he set up. He backed this demand by civil authority. The penalty for refusal to bow down and worship the image was to be cast into the burning fiery furnace. Imposing images are set up in many places, and men and women are being called upon to bow down and worship them. Some of these images are money, fashion, scholarship, worldly ambition, pleasures, etc., and woe be to those who will not worship before them.

II. The Behavior of the Hebrews (vv. 8-18). (1) the accusation by the envious spies (vv. 8-12).

Daniel's three friends had been promoted to positions of honor and responsibility. Certain Chaldeans whose envy had been excited by the promotion of these Hebrews, sought occasion against them. This they found when the Hebrews would not bow down to and worship the image. Envious eyes are always watching God's faithful ones. Had these Chaldeans been faithfully worshiping, they would not have seen the Hebrews.

(2) The king's rage (vv. 13-15).

He calls the Hebrews before him, questions them and gives them another chance. The offense was not serious—they were defying the authority of the one who had honored them in their promotion; it savored of ingratitude. After closely questioning them he gave them another opportunity to consider their position before consigning them to the fire. His supreme mistake was in the challenge he made to the God of the Hebrews. He seems to have forgotten entirely the confession he had made with reference to God (2:47).

(3) The courageous reply of the faithful Hebrews (vv. 16-18).

They replied without passion or fear. The peace of God filled their hearts. Their behavior is an expression of triumphant faith. "We are not careful to answer thee in this matter. If it be so, our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king. But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up." They courageously showed their contempt for death. They were not afraid to die, but were afraid to sin against God. They knew that to bow down before this image was to disobey and dishonor God. While they did not know what God would do, in the premises they knew that he would do the right thing. These Hebrews were far away from home, exposed to the most severe temptation, but they saw their duty clearly set before them. God's law plainly settled it for them. They did not try to find an excuse to evade their duty, and seeing the way clearly they acted accordingly.

III. The Glorious Issue (vv. 19-30).

(1) The harmless furnace (vv. 19-25).

The infuriated king ordered the heat of the furnace to be intensified, his most mighty men to bind the Hebrews and fling them into the fire. Though the heat was so intense that the soldiers who cast them into the furnace were slain, the Hebrews were seen walking loose in the fire without any hurt. Equally astounding was the fact that a fourth one was seen with them.

(2) The convinced king (vv. 26-28).

The spectacle was so wonderful that the king called the Hebrews together out of the fire. They came forth unharmed, for the fire had no power over their bodies; not even a hair of their heads was singed, their coats changed, nor the smell of fire upon them (v. 27).

(3) The king's decree (v. 29).

This was most foolish and wicked. Even a king has no right to kill people for not worshiping God.

(4) Promotion of the Hebrews (v. 30).

Their fidelity in this trying ordeal resulted in their promotion instead of downfall. May we learn from this that:

(a) God alone is Lord of the conscience. One's faith and worship should be determined by the individual before his God. No church, king or ruler has a right to interfere.

(b) We should meet religious intolerance by being obedient to God rather than man.

(c) God will support those who are faithful.

(d) We should prepare for fiery trials, and through them all be true to our conscience.

Tablets.

"I have a high opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets for biliousness and as a laxative," writes Mrs. C. A. Barnes, Charleston, Ill. "I have never found anything so mild and pleasant to use. My brother has also used these tablets with satisfactory results."—Advertisements.

A Plant that Grows with the Times
About five years ago we conceived a tremendous idea—the idea of giving to America a soft drink such as it had never before tasted. A new kind of soft drink in flavor and in its cereal ingredients—a soft drink that should be nutritious as well as delicious—pure and wholesome.
The idea took root—it was cultivated, experimented with, tended with all the care and skill that science could apply. For four years this work went on and then finally about a year ago there sprang into being, Bevo—the drink triumphant.
Less than two months after its introduction Bevo had leaped into such popularity that even our already large facilities could not supply the demand.
The result is that soon will be completed (built by public demand) the largest plant of its kind in the world—daily bottling capacity, 2,000,000 bottles.
You will find Bevo at all places where refreshing beverages are sold. Bevo is sold in bottles only—and is bottled exclusively by

MR. REQUA IS THE CONNECTING LINK

He Hitches Up Food Dynamo Hoover to Cogwheels of Food Regulation.

BY HARRY B. HUNT.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Millions of words have been written describing Herbert C. Hoover's work as food administrator—how yesterday he took over the grain business, how today he is telling the meat packers and sugar refiners what to do, and how tomorrow he will solve the canned goods or dairy products problems.

MARK L. REQUA.

Reading all that the average man gets the impression either Hoover is a superman, who stops neither to eat nor sleep, but crowds forty-eight hours of work into each twenty-four, or that he handles his problems only superficially.

How else can he do it all

The answer is--Mark L. Requa.

Requa is the connecting link between Hoover, the food administration dynamo, and the food organization gear wheels.

One revolution of Hoover's mind, transmitted through Requa, may set spinning a dozen different cogs of the food control machine, each performing a wholly different function.

Requa, like Hoover, is an engineer—a mining engineer. Also he's a farmer, bank director and tax expert. His varied interests stood him in good stead in organizing the "division of commercial relations" of the food administration, of which Hoover made him chief, because his is the branch that gets right down to the actual regulation and distribution of food commodities. So a thorough knowledge of business organization, finance and production was essential.

While Hoover decides policy, Requa directs the specific acts which put policies into effect. He must locate foodstuff shortages and surpluses and arrange better distribution. He must locate and break up hoarding. He must keep his finger at all times on the supply and demand of all foods from beans to porterhouse. Wheat alone, handled in a special way, is not under his authority.

To handle this immense jjob Requa has enlisted a corps of twenty-one experts.

Theodore F. Whitmarsh, president of the National Wholesale Grocers' association, and Dana T. Ackerly, interstate commerce authority, are in charge of distribution. Edward Chambers, traffic manager of the Santa Fe, and Fred S. Brooks, manager of the Chicago stock yards transport, handle transportation.

George M. Rolph, formerly manager of the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining company, will control sugar; Lou D. Sweet, Colorado farmer, and president of the Potato Association of America, potatoes; George E. Haskell, former president of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers, all dairy products; Edward C. Lasater, Texas cattleman, live stock shipments.

Control of canned goods will be undertaken by a committee of six, headed by Charles H. Bentley, former sales manager of the California Packing corporation. Assisting him are Thomas Roberts, of Philadelphia; Dr. J. T. Dorrance, Camden, N. J.; Henry Burden, president National Canners' association; S. J. Scudder, New York, and F. E. Gorrell, Washington, all active in the canning industry.

Fruits and vegetables will be supervised by G. H. Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange; Edgar Hearty, vice president of the National League of Commission Merchants, and H. J. Eustace, professor of horticulture in Michigan Agricultural college.

Kenneath Fowler, New York, is in charge of fish regulation; Duncan McDuffie, Berkeley, Cal., of wholesale bread and baking problems, and John Bowman and A. S. Crockett, New York, of hotel and restaurant regulations.

These twenty-one men are the cogs through which Requa, connecting link with Hoover, will regulate and distribute food. All are volunteer workers, and have detached themselves from business connections that might influence. Their pay will be $1 per year.

If Requa can transmit to these men the full power of the Hoover dynamo, things should soon begin to hum. Appearances are in his favor. He is alert, keen faced, bald-headed, in his forties, of medium heighth and stock. He decides quickly and moves instantly to put his decision into effect. If he is driving his auto thirty miles an hour, for instance, and decides to turn the corner just ahead, he doesn't slow down for the curve. He just lifts the car around the corner by a sudden firm twist of the wheel and keeps on his way.

Insurance Men Want to Make it 50-50 on Championship Series

The second game for the city championship between the challengers and the present title holders, Bade Myers' Cubs and the Lincoln Life outfit piloted by Mart Cleary, will be played off Sunday at League park. As the matter now stands the challengers have one "horse" on the insurance men and have a big advantage in winning the final windup and to overcome this the Lincoln Lifes will do everything in their power to win and retain their right to the championship of Fort Wayne.

Batteries for the next game were announced today. They are: Lincoln Life, Wagner and Hines; for the Cubs, Seitz and Liable. A victory for the Lifers will put the things on an even basis and take another game to decide the series while the honors will undoubtedly be clinched if the Cubs win the second game.

No "ringers" are being brought in by either club, both standing pat on their present lineups.

BRAVES AND GIANTS DIVIDE TWIN BILL

Kauff's Great Stop Saves Game for National Champs.

Boston, Sept. 14.—The best the champion Giants could do with the Braves was to get an even break in a double-header. The local outfit pounded Rube Benton in the first game and won 7 to 0. Rudolph was hit safely only five times. In the second game Demaree and Nehf had a great pitching duel. The Boston southpaw held the Giants to three hits, but two of them were triples and both meant runs. A great stop by Kauff in the ninth held a whack by Konetchy to a single and saved the game. Score:

Second game:

Phillies Split Even.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—The Phillies and Dodgers split even in yesterday's double-header. The Phillies won the first game in the eleventh inning when Pfeffer weakened and two hits and a sacrifice put over the only run of the game. In the second game the Dodgers knocked Fittery out of the box in the fifth and won 7 to 3. The scores:

Second game:

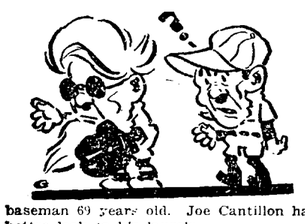
Philadelphia	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	—3

SPORT CHATTER

Jack Dempsey has at last invented a perpetual motion machine. He uses it alternately on his typewriter and his mouth.

Cleveland is cussing Brick Owens, which makes it unanimous.

A Pittsburg amateur team has a first baseman 69 years old. Joe Cantillon had better look to his laurels.



Joe Stecher has canned his manager. Any alibi is better than none.

Carl Morris compalined that the Canton promoters tried to short change him out of his money. Which is open to argument. Those at ringside say if Morris had been paid what was due him he would have owed the promoters money.

WOLVERINES WIN.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 14.—Grand Rapids, champions of the Central league, yesterday won the deciding game of the post-season series with Peoria, the winner of the Three-I pennant, by a score of 8 to 2. Peoria won the first three games and Grand Rapids the last four. Carpenter, who won yesterday's game, pitched in three of the games won by Grand Rapids. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Peoria .. 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1—2	7	5

THE PENNANT RACES.

The Giants still lead by 10½ games in the National league, New York splitting even with Boston, while the Phillies were doing likewise with the Dodgers. To clinch the pennant the Giants need but half of their remaining 18 games even if the Phillies should win all of their 19 contests. The standing then would be:

Team.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Giants	96	58	.623
Phillies	95	59	.617

In the American league the Red Sox lost some more ground when the Yankees defeated them, and the White Sox now lead by eight games. To win, Chicago needs but ten more victories of its remaining 16 games, even though Boston wins all its 19 contests. Boston has one game with the Athletics which cannot be played. The standing then would be:

Team.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Chicago	101	52	.660
Boston	100	53	.654

IOWA HAS BRIGHT FOOTBALL PROSPECTS

Return of Captain Davis is Expected at Hawkeye School.

Iowa City, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Despite the inroads on athletes made by the war, prospects for a successful football season at the University of Iowa are declared to be promising. Coach Howard Jones is hard at work getting a line on gridiron timber available.

One thing that has sent Hawkeye hopes sky rocketing is the promised return of Captain-elect Davis after reports that he would not be back to pilot the team. Davis tied the drop kicking record of the country last year, and Iowans are expecting his trusty right toe to aid materially in landing victories this season.

Then there are Jenkins, who made the longest run last season for the Iowans, and Guido Wyland, another veteran, reported ready to don the moleskins, while Reid, 1916 end, may be back. Elder is again eligible; Kelly and Hanselman, guards of last season, are good prospects, and it is likely Van Pelt will turn out for full back again.

Greenwood, Hamilton, Brown and McNichols, freshmen last year, are within the range of first string material, which includes several other 1916 freshmen and former varsity performers of no mean ability.

Wholesale shifting of old men to new positions is looked for, and Coach Jones is busy planning an attack which for surprises is expected to shade the tactics of the shell rutted battlefields of Europe.

Many old men have answered the call to the colors. Becker, choice of some experts for all-American tackle last year, is said to be in training in France, preparatory to tearing holes in the German line; Reims and Smith are plugging for commissions at Fort Snelling; "Chick" Laun will be at the performing end of a bugle in the marine corps, and several other promising athletes have joined the fighting forces in other spheres of endeavor.

The Iowa schedule contains practically the same games as last year, except that Minnesota has been substituted for South Dakota. Four games will be played at Iowa City and three on enemy territory.

SCHALK HAS 127 MORE MOTIONS THAN A HULA-HULA DANCER
ALWAYS WITH THE BALL
ALL BUT EARS OFF HIS ARMOR PLATE

Ray Schalk Caught in Action by Artist Grove at Chicago.

(By Paul Purman).

Who is the most valuable man to his club in the American league?

I asked this question of an American league umpire, who for obvious reasons shall remain unnamed.

"Ray Schalk beyond any question," he told me.

"Without Schalk the White Sox are a different club, they praggedly, the pitchers work erratically. Outside of his mechanical playing Schalk is a wonderful influence on a ball club."

But on top of this Schalk is a wonderful ball player, the brainiest, fastest catcher in baseball today.

There was a little incident at the Chicago park a few days ago which illustrates how he fields his position.

Schalk has just missed a high foul ball which twisted and spiraled in the air.

"I have watched almost every game he played in this park for years," commented a fan in one of the boxes. This is the first time I ever saw Schalk drop a foul ball."

It wasn't the first time Schalk had dropped a foul, of course, but the occasions have been so rare that it attracted more attention than if many other catchers had dropped half a dozen during the game.

Schalk, by the way, started out to be a linotype operator and was an assistant around a printing shop until he found a minor league baseball was more lucrative.

He started playing down at Taylorville, Ill., but lasted only about half a season in that league, being sold to Milwaukee. It took Ray less than a year to show his calibre in class AA baseball and he was purchased by Comiskey at a price said to have been $17,000, more than has ever been paid for another catcher.

Red Sox Are Beaten by Yankees as Chances Slip.

Washington Wins, 2—1.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Galia, for the Nationals, won a pitchers' battle from Myers, of the Athletics, here yesterday 2 to 1 in ten innings. Score:

Boston Gets Jolt.

New York, Sept. 14.—The New York Yankees gave Boston's lingering pennant hopes another jolt here yesterday, winning 13 to 7. It was an old-fashioned slugging bee in which New York punished three Boston pitchers for seventeen hits, including two home runs, a triple and three doubles. Miller and Gedeon collided going after Cady's fly in the second inning, both players being temporarily knocked out. The score:

Boston	2	2	0	0	0	0	3	0	—	7

MRS. LETTS IS GOLF CHAMPION

Although a little known, Mrs. Franklin C. Letts, of Cincinnati, who won the women's western championship over the links of the Flossmoor Country club, has long been an ardent devotee of sport. She defeated Miss Elaine Rosenthal, the 1915 title holder, in the final round, just as she did in last year's tournament.

SAINTS FINALLY GO INTO FIRST PLACE

Indians Idle While Runners-Up Hand Colonels a Beating.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 14.—Dan Griner pitched St. Paul into first place in the race for the American association penant race here yesterday when he defeated Louisville 5 to 1, Indianapolis being idle. It is the first time since last spring that the Indians have been out of first place. The Colonels still have a big chance to get up "over the top" in the final standing. The score:

St. Paul	0	0	1	3	0	0	0	0	1—5

Hens Win.

Toledo, O., Sept. 14.—Piercy pitched good ball and Toledo beat Kansas City here yesterday 5 to 1. Score:

Columbus	2	0	1	2	1	0	0	0	*—6

Harper Gets Homer.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—Columbus won from Milwaukee here yesterday 6 to 5. The Brewers started a big rally in the ninth but were stopped by George. Harper's long hit for a home run was a feature. Score:

Third Bout for Local Boxing Show Completes Wed. Card

Another Fort Wayne Boy Will Get Chance from Promoters.

Len Ellenwood will be the principal in the third bout of the boxing show to be staged at the Majestic theater next Wednesday night. He will be opposed in a ten-round preliminary at 126 pounds by Young Stanley, of Chicago, in what is expected to be a fast go.

Announcement that Ellenwood will figure in the matches, completes the show. Three local boys will be in the ring. Frankie Mason will meet Jimmy Curtis, of St. Louis, a boxer of some repute, and Battling Hess takes on Paddy Kelly, of St. Louis. Ellenwood's opponent has a reputation in Chicago and the Windy City lad will be here to defend it and add some more laurels to his list if possible.

Although arrangements have not been definitely settled with Matt Hinkle, who is nationally known as referee and who officiated in the Fulton-Morris go Labor Day, he will probably be the third man in the ring and his appearance here will lend interest to the matches. The management of the show announces that requests for tickets will be accepted and filed in the order they are received and that last year's reservations will be no longer good.

USUAL STRONG TEAM IS DOPED FOR GOPHERS

Many Players Left Despite Inroads Made by War.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—Despite the fact that many of its former stars and prospective stars have entered military service, the University of Minnesota probably will have a strong football team this fall. Coach Harry L. Williams will have a goodly supply of material, including five members of last year's regular and freshmen squads.

The presence of Geo. Hauser, captain of 1917 team, will strengthen one side of the line materially. Other veterans will include Norman Kingeley, who substituted at fullback for Wyman last year; Conrad Eckland and Paul Flynn.

Neal Arneston, of the 1916 freshmen team, and Willie VanNest, 1916 substitute, give promise of good quarterback material. Others expected to report include Henry Williams, son of the Gopher coach; Gerald Case, Herman Sinaiko, Arthur France, Merville Guitermn and James Greven.

Intramural football will be developed and teams representing various colleges of the university carefully coached as a branch of the varsity system, thus providing more material from which Dr. Williams may draw his squad.

ANOTHER WRESTLING CHAMP.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Earl Caddock, of Anita, Iowa, claimant to the world's heavy weight wrestling championship, will report to the local draft exemption board at Atlantic, Iowa, on October 4 for a second physical examination for the new national army. He was rejected conditionally several weeks ago, because of blood poisoning, due to diseased tonsils. In the meantime no further matches are being booked for him, as it is expected he will be accepted for the army. He made no claim for exemption at his first examination. He was married this summer.

WABASH'S NEW GYM.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Sept. 14.—Wabash college expects to have its new $75,000 gymnasium ready for occupancy when school opens on Sept. 26. It is probably one of the most complete in detail of any gymnasium erected by the smaller colleges of the country. The building is T-shaped and has an indoor field, with dirt floor, 180 by 100 feet, which will oe used for basketball games and also as a drill room for the military company to be organized during the winter.

GRINNELL PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Grinnell, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Football prospects at Grinnell college have taken on a brighter hue since the signing as coach of Russell Tollefson, former University of Minnesota backfield star. He succeeds Oscar (Ossie) Solem, another ex-Gopher, who has entered the army with a captain's commission won at the officers' training camp at Fort Snelling. Six veterans will be back in the squad this season, and there is an abundance of material among 1916 freshmen. Tollefson played halfback and quarter at Minnesota in 1912 and 1913.

IOWA U LOSES TWO.

Iowa City, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Coach Howard Jones, of the Iowa university eleven, and J. Elwood Davis, its 1917 captain, have returned to Iowa City and will institute plans for the gridiron season immediately. Two particularly high class men have been lost because of the war. Former Captain Laun, a brilliant backfield puntor, has joined the navy, and Becker, a star tackle and center, is on the Atlantic coast, if he has not already sailed for France. Other football men are in the new army, but these are the chief stars to leave Iowa.

HAS ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14.—Regents of the University of Nebraska have taken over the control of athletics from the management of the athletic board. The department of athletics has been made a regular part of the university. At present Dr. E. J. Stewart, athletic director, and head coach, is alone in charge of fall sports, but it is expected that he will have an assistant.

TINKER GOING STRONG.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Joe Tinker, manager of the Columbus club of the American association, plans running a special train to carry Columbus fans to the world's series games, if played in Chicago.

Scott Loses Big Money to Serve

Among those mentioned in the athletic hall of fame after this war is over will be Death Valley Jim Scott, who declared himself out of a chance to be in on the world series money when he quit the White Sox to join Uncle Sam's troops in training.

Although Jim hasn't been going well this year and probably would have not pitched in the big series, he would have been in on a cut of the big money when the division was made. Instead he chose to join Uncle Sam.

WOULD PUT STOP TO WRESTLERS STALLING

Iowa Man Has Plan to Keep Men from Laying Down.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 14.—Gene Melady, well known as an Omaha business man, but much more widely known for his favorite diversion—promoting wrestling matches—has submitted to Mayor Dahlman a plan which he thinks will prevent future fiascos such as have almost killed the game here in the last year or so.

Melady proposes to have the articles of agreement between the wrestlers published prior to the match. The contestants must post forfeits sufficient to pay the expenses of promoting the affair and in the event of a draw, foul, no-decision contest or refusal of one of the contestants to finish, the wrestlers are to receipe no compensation, the admission fees are to be returned to ticket purchasers and the expenses are to be paid out of the forfeits.

Jack Lewis, another promoter, has submitted a similar suggestion and as wrestling fans generally approve the idea it is thought the city council will enact an ordinance to that effect.

DRESSEN EXPECTED TO TAKE BURNS' PLACE

Columbus Star Will Be Closely Watched by Tiger Fans.

Detroit, Sept. 14.—Detroit fans are wondering whether Leo Dressen, the first baseman purchased from the St. Paul club, will be able to fill the shoes of George Burns, who has been drafted for the national army. Dressen will be watched closely, for his association record is a mighty interesting one.

The youngster has been used as a lead-off man—an unusual position for a first baseman. Recent averages showed he was hitting around .300, had stolen 50 cases and scored more than 90 runs. In 1916, when he hit only .242, he stole 32 sacks and this leads Manager Jennings to hope he may have picked up another speed merchant to use with Bush and Cobb.

It is possible that a few pointers from Cobb may make Dressen a major league star on the bases and add a powerful punch to the Tigers' heavy attack.

BOXER DOES "BIT."

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Phil Harrison, one of Chicago's flock of middleweights, is ready to do his "bit." Harrison was accepted in the aviation corps and is straightening up his scrap iron business preparatory to being called.

HANCOCK TO RETURN.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—Capt. Howard Hancock, of the football team, will be back at Wisconsin T. E. Jones, athletic chairman, is assured of his coming in a letter. Hancock and Coach John Richards will reach Madison on Friday. Practice starts Saturday.

PLAY AT PORTLAND.

Portland, Ind., Sept 14.—Manager E. E. Circles has announced the opening football game Sunday when Fort Wayne will be the attraction. Portland always has a good football team as well as baseball nine, and is now booking some of the fastest teams around Portland. Last year it won twelve out of thirteen games.

COE HIT HARD BY WAR.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Sept. 14.—Capt. Heinie Smith, speedy end, is the only man out of the seven undergraduates of last year's football candidates to report to Coach Eby at Coe college. The other six men who have gained letters have enlisted.

The majority of the elk left in the United States are concentrated in and about Yellowstone national park. The biological survey states that this reservoir for restocking other areas is so important that no pains should be spared to insure its protection, and a careful investigation of the animals with a view to their future welfare has recently been carried out. A count of the elk made early in the spring of 1916 showed that the southern herd contained about 18,000 animals, which agrees with figures previously published. The northern herd, however, was found to contain only about one-third of the number it had previously been supposed to contain.

CANTEEN SERVICE OF THE RED CROSS

It Takes Care of the Boys En Route to the Big Cantonments.

Washington, Sep.t 14. — Canteen service of the Red Cross for members of the national army and national guard as they travel to the cantonments is being enthusiastically welcomed by the troops assembling at mobilization points and at junctions and wait-overs. Reports received by Foster Rockwell, director of canteen service, from many chapters which have been serving light refreshments to the detachments passing through their towns, show the appreciation and enthusiasm of the troops.

At Washington, D. C., where the local chapter has been serving as high as 20,000 cups of coffee in a day to the troops passing through, the soldiers leaned out of the car windows when they saw the Red Cross uniforms and gave an extemporized but spirited Red Cross cheer. From all parts of the country comes the same story—the soldiers fully understand the meaning of this patriotic service of the women of the Red Cross.

Only as mall proportion of the national army has as yet gone into the cantonments, and the heavier work of the Red Cross canteen service is still ahead. But most of the chapters have the work fully organized, and feel themselves equipped to meet whatever emergency may develop.

The Red Cross cateen service hopes to keep the Red Cross uniform conspicuous in railroad buffets and restaurants all over the country while the troops are moving. The canteen service uniform for women consists of a white apron and bib, with a Red Cross on the front of the bib, and a Red Cross cap. The male workers wear a lapel badge of white ribbon with a Red Cross and the legend, "Cateen Service." Railroad officials are authorized through the war department to daily inform Red Cross chapter heads of the local movement of troops.

Besides supplying refreshments to the soldiers going through, cateen service workers perform many other little services for their convenience, such as mailing letters or postcards. The interest which the women of the country have thus been able to show directly, through the canteen service, has made a profound impression, and has given the soldiers new heart and fresh spirit, because they realize that the women of the whole nation are personally sponsors for their comfort and welfare.

Relatively simple as this activity of the Red Cross canteen service may seem to be, it typifies at this moment, as no other thing does, the national spirit that is back of the Red Cross.

Experience the Best Teacher.

It is generally admitted that experience is the best teacher, but should we not make use of the experience of others as well as our own? The experience of a thousand persons is more to be depended upon that that of one individual. Many thousands of persons have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds with the best results, which shows it to be a thoroughly reliable preparation for those diseases. Try it. It is prompt and effectual and pleasant to take.—Advertisement.

GARFIELD FAMILY IS TO THE FRONT AGAIN

Sons and Grandsons of the Martyred President in Nation's Service.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 14.—The name of Garfield may become as famous in this war as it did in the Civil war, for the whole Garfield family, sons and grandsons, descendants of the twentieth president of the United States, the martyred James A. Garfield, are upholding the traditions of the family by serving the flag.

At the outbreak of the Civil war James A. Garfield had just been admitted to the bar. He as once offered his services to the governor of Ohio and became lieutenant-colonel, and then colonel of the Forty-second Ohio Volunteers. After serving in Kentucky he was promoted to be a brigadier general of volunteers in 1862. He took part in the battle of Shiloh, was chief of staff in the Army of the Cumberland in 1863, fought at Chicamauga, and for gallantry in that battle was made a major general of volunteers, resigning his commission to take a seat in congress.

Two sons of the martyred president are holding important executive positions in the present war.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, eldest son and president of Williams college, has been appointed coal administrator by President Wilson.

James R. Garfield, another son, secretary of the interior under President Roosevelt, is in charge of Red Cross work in the "like district" Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. His wife has inaugurated some of the most important work undertaken by the Cleveland Red Cross and works daily at headquarters making bandages or directing the departments.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Garfield have four sons. Two of them, James A. and Newell, were commissioned captains at the Fort Benjamin Harrison Officers' Training camp and have gone to the cantonment at Chillicothe, Ohio. John Newell Garfield, the third son is a second lieutenant in the Second regiment, Ohio Field Artillery. He served with Troop A, of Cleveland on the Mexican border. The fourth son, Rudolph, is too young for military service.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield has one son, Stanton, serving in France with the American ambulance corps. Another son, James, is at the Plattsburg, N. Y., training camp.

The only girl in the late president's family, Mrs. J. Stanley-Brown, has only one son, Rudolph. He was formerly with Troop A, of Cleveland, but won a commission as first lieutenant at Fort Benjamin Harrison training camp.

In the manner of protecting poultry from human marauders, a poultryman says, the dog is a big help. A bull terrier owned by the poultryman used to go out on the main road and wait for suspicious-looking persons to pass. When one came in sight he never made a sound, but just dropped behind and followed with his nose about two inches from the man's legs. The dog never did anything, but the moral effect was tremendous. "I don't pretend," says the dog's owner, "to know how to train a dog to do that. The terrier picked it up himself. No bark, no rush, just went sniffing quietly along behind him."—Outlook.

URGES A NATIONAL FOOD LABORATORY

Charlotte Perkins Gilman Tells American Academy the Need of It.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—Establishment of a national food laboratory to teach the housekeepers of the United States how best to buy and to prepare food was advocated by Charlotte Perkins Gilman, of New York, in an address she delivered here today before the National Conference on the World Food, called by the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

"As we have experiment stations to establish standards and gather information for our farmers," said Mrs. Gilman," so we should now establish at least one national food laboratory an experiment station for the benefit of the housekeeper. Such a laboratory should be in charge of men and women of the highest ability. From an authoritative center like this should be distributed accurate information as to food values and prices, with bulletns for specal localites and seasons.

"With an experienced buyer, with the most expert handling of all the valuable by-product of this great industry, now so wastefully mishandled as "garbage," with storage and refrigeration facilities, with such arrangements with dairymen and local market gardeners as would be easy with large and steady orders, wit ha preserving department to take advantage of surplus materials, and with all accounts carefully kept and freely published, we should at last be in a position to know what really is the 'cost of living.'

"Withwhat conscience can we persist in a method of industry which, in kitchen service alone, wastes the labor of nine women out of ten? If all house service was professionalized, done by trained specialists with porper organization and mechanical conveniences, we could release the labor power of 80 per cent. of our women.

"Counting that labor at charwoman's wages, say $500 a year, allowing fifteen out of our twenty million women as working housewives, the released labor of four-fifths of the fifteen, namely twelve million, would be worth $6,000,000,000 a year.

"This product value would at least equal their wages, another $6,000,000,000 a year. If the average American family now spends $500 a year on food, and if the saving was but two-fifths,, or $200, there would be another $4,000,000,000. This gives a pleasing total of $16,000,000,000, which in an extreme hypothetical case we might save each year.

"No such sudden and universal change of system is to be expected. It would not be desirable instantly to eliminate a whole complex business, as the retail food trade. These large estimates are given to show the importance of the food problem, and the enormity of the waste involved in our primitive method of treatment.

"The most important thing is the establishment of authoritative food laboratories to save the mistakes and discouragement of the scattered efforts, and the next is for our housekeepers to recognize the imperative duty of the change of method in this community."

Great Faith in Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy was used by my father about a year ago when he had diarrhoea. It relieved him immediately and by taking three doses he was absolutely cured. He has great faith in this remedy," writes Mrs. W. H. Williams, Stanley, N. Y.—Advertisement.

UNITED STATES IS MERELY EXPOSING PRUSSIAN METHODS

Formal Action by Washington in the Latest Swedish Blow-Out Is Not Contemplated.

VON ECKHARDT LETTER IS NOT THE LAST

Washington, Sept. 14.—How Germany's secret practice of using Sweden's diplomatic service for transmitting forbidden communications between German agents and the Berlin foreign office, prevailed in Mexico, as well as in Argentina, is revealed in a document published by the state department which passed between the celebrated Herr von Eckhardt, German minister in Mexico, and the chancellor.

It discloses how Folke Cronholm, charge of the Swedish legation to Mexico, practically acted as a messenger boy for von Eckhardt personally transmitting as his legation's own dispatches, messages for the German legation, even going to the point of delivering them personally at the telegraph office and how von Eckhardt recommended that a decoration be secretly bestowed upon Cronholm for his services.

As an added chapter to the story of the recently revealed intrigue in Argentina the disclosure gives a hint of the nature of the evidence in this government's possession of Germany's illegitimate use of neutral diplomats. The full extent of this evidence may never be published, but it is known to be complete and this government's action in making some of it public is not felt to be directed so much at Sweden as toward further informing the world at large of German's practices.

The Main Speculation.

It does, however, raise some speculation as to how the Stockholm foreign office will explain it. Stockholm has declared that Baron Loewen, Swedish minister to Argentina, transmitted messages for Count Luxburg, the German charge there, without knowing their contents. Whether the same defense will be made for Cronholm is not known; he is no longer in the Swedish diplomatic service. The interesting point, in the minds of officials and diplomats here, is how much the

Summary of the Day's War News

Convinced that Gen. Korniloff's rebellion is definitely at an end although the general himself has not formally surrendered the leaders at Petrograd are setting about the reconstruction of the government. Formation of a new cabinet is said to be well along toward completion.

The submission of so many of the troops and leaders who were adhering to Gen Korniloff apparently has left the leader of the revolt in a position of helplessness. He is said to have notified the government of his intention to surrender upon the arrival at his headquarters of Gen. Alexieff, who has become chief of staff under Premier Kerensky, now commander-in-chief of the Russian armies.

Gen. Kalidines, commander of the cossacks, has been reported as arrested.

Meanwhile the Russian army at the front, particularly in the northern sec-

WILL DELIVER THE VESSELS

British Shipyards Working in Veritable Fury to Turn Out Ships.

HUNDREDS OF THEM NOW ON THE WAYS

Feverish Determination to Meet U-Boat Menace With Tonnage.

Glasgow, Aug 30.—(Mail.)—On the hull of a big ship being built in one of the many yards that line the river banks of Scotland and northwest England, a workman has written with chalk in bold letters six feet high, five words that express the determination of British ship builders to "do their bit" toward defeating the German submarines. The five words are these: "We will deliver the ships." A staff correspondent of the Associated Press has just completed a trip through the principal yards of the rivers Tees, Tyne, Wear and Clyde, as the guest of the foreign office and the admiralty. The purpose of the journey was to permit the gathering of information regarding Great Britain's efforts, which could be transmitted to the people of the United States.

Delivering Them Now.

Great Britain not only will deliver; they are being delivered now—dozens dreds of them. Of the four principal dreds ofthem. Of the four principal ship building rivers of the country every available foot of adjoining land has a ship more or less completed over it.

Nearby engine works are turning out motive power for the vessels at a tremendous rate. Ship builders of various sorts—men, women and children, are working at top speed. The rivers are overhung with smoke, blast furnaces are glowing everywhere; streaks of red go back and forth in the rolling mills and through it all on these busy rivers there is a roar of automativ rivetters, the clash of sledges on steel plates and the throbbing of ponderous machines that punch holes in plates an inch thick, which at times truly is deafening. So great is this noise at many places on the banks of the Clyde that to talk it is necessary to place mouth to ear.

Rushing Naval Construction.

Just now the builders of ships are rushing through work on countless destroyers, cruisers, other naval ships that must remain for the present as "myseries," but they, too, are working at a tremendous rate completing merchant ships, of which there appear to be hundreds. Some are large and some are small. Somes are being built

TRYING TO END THE BIG STRIKE IN SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—In an effort to settle the strike here involving about 8,000 men and women and a score of trades, Governor Lowden this morning called into conference members of the general strike committee. Adjutant-General Dickson was a party to the conference. Leaders reiterated today that the wholesale walkout is the direct result of the action of police and military authorities last Sunday in breaking up a parade of unionists who planned a demonstration in support of a street car strike. Dairy workers have been instructed to continue at work in order to prevent suffering among babies. Members of the Typographical union have been holding meeting daily and are threatening to go out. Telephone operators, who showed uneasiness yesterday, are said today to be showing a disposition to continue at work. Joseph Londrigan, chairman of the general strike committee, today declared that charges of pro-German influences were at work here were unfounded.

MUNCIE GETS IN LINE.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 14.—Mayor Rollin Bunch has contracted for a large amount of coal to be sold to citizens of Muncie at reduced rates. Whether the city officially will sell the coal has not been decided, for perhaps the council will refuse to appropriate money to carry out the mayor's plan, as it did last year. However, the mayor has announced he will personally bring the coal into the city and sell it at cost if the council does not care to take up the matter officially.

Plans Under Way to Give Next Contingent a Big Reception.

BY E. P. F.
(Staff Correspondent.)

Camp Taylor, Ky., Sept. 14.—Fort Wayne young men are doing credit to themselves and their home town in the training camp here.

Regular army instructors who have come to this camp to assist in the training of the members of the new national army declare that the Fort Wayne young men now stationed here learn more easily and are prone to make better soldiers than any class of men they had heretofore assisted in training. One of the men who declared this has trained three other groups before coming here.

It is very probable that all the young men will receive a non-commissioned officers position. The majority of them are acting in this capacity now.

Tuesday evening the large auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. was dedicated and the entire Fort Wayne "bunch" attended. The occasion was a memorable one. There were cheers of all kinds and once when the noise subsided a few second there was a loud cal of "Three cheers for Fort Wayne." The boys strained their voices and their lungs and made the auditorium ring with the call of "Rah, Rah, Rah, Fort Wayne."

Cries arose for the band to play "Indiana." All Hoosiers joined in singing the chorus and all from the good old state arose. It seemed as though half of the audience was composed of men who resided in Indiana.

At noon Wednesday a fire drill was held and all companies had to respond. The work was good. All precautions are being taken against a conflagration which would prove disastrous if the flames ever got the overhand. There are fire plug stations everywhere throughout the grounds.

Givn Half Holiday.

Fort Wayne boys were glad for two things Wednesday afternoon. First, through their efficient work they were given a half holiday and consequently did not have to drill and, secondly, they were made glad through the fact that shirts, shoes and socks were issued them. The remainder of the equipment will be issued soon it is thought.

Results of vaccination are becoming evident as a majority of the men reported Wednesday that their arms are beginning to feel itchy, which is good evidence that the vaccination has taken. In a few days the second shot

PRESBYTERIANS DOUBLE THEIR FUNDS FOR WAR

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 14.—The $40,000 war fund of the permanent committee on evangelism of the Presbyterian church in the United States was doubled at a meeting here of the executive committee. The first sum appropriated last May has already been expended.

Several hundred seminarians and college men have been installed at cantonments and are working in cooperation with the Young Men's Christian association. They and the Presbyterian chaplains are being provided with Bibles, books of prayer and comforts for distribution to the soldiers. The work is progressing satisfactorily. Dr. George G. Mahey, of Philadelphia, the secretary, declared.

PUNISHMENT OF REBEL CHIEF IS GRAVE PROBLEM

DOMA BEGINS TO WHISPER MONARCHY

Washington, Sept. 14.—General Korniloff's punishment seems one of the points concerned in the formation of a cabinet. Official reports reaching here today indicated that Premier Kerensky was determined to inflict a heavy penalty as a warning against future uprisings.

But certain elements of the constitutional democrats and even many leaders of the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates, Kerensky's closest political friends, advocate leniency. It is considered probable that one early move of the new government may be to abolish the duma which has given some evidence of favoring return to the monarchy and has opposed many democratic reforms of the revolution.

WELL, WELL! ITS ONCE MORE OUR FRIEND SWEDEN

New York, Sept. 14.—Accidental discovery tha twire nails in a consignment for Sweden were covered with lead caps caused the custom authorities today to hold up a shipment of 300 cases of the nails. The smashing of one of the cases by a passing truck on a Brooklyn pier led to the discovery. It was said there was enough lead on each nail for the manufacture of a rifle bullet and that the application for shipping license contained no mention of the lead, simply stating that the cases contained wire nails. The cases have been standing on a dock for about three weeks. The investigation will seek to determine whether the lead was placed on the nails as a subterfuge to get needed war material to Germany or whether it was there for some legitimate purpose. The lead caps are described as fitting loosely and easily removed.

WAR STRENGTH OF THE NATION WILL SURPRISE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—In the belief that the country does not understand the real strength of the American military and naval forces Chairman Dent of the house military committee today submitted to the house for publication in the Record a statement prepared at his request by the committee on public information from government records.

"On September 6, 1917," the statement says, "there were in the regular army, national guard and reserve corps of the army 78,828 officers and 741,053 enlisted men. In the navy there were 141,867 enlisted men, 41,473 naval reserves and 14,500 of the naval militia in the federal service. There were 5,000 men in the coast guard and 6,500 in the hospital corps, making a total of 209,340. Enlisted strength of the marine corps were 29,971, reserves in the service 1,070; national naval volunteers 704, retired men on active duty 14. There were approximately 12,000 officers in the navy and 1,166 in the marine corps.

"In other words, on that date the army had, including officers and enlisted men 819,881 and the navy 254,261, making a total armed strength on that date of 1,074,146 men all of whom are volunteers. Prior to that time there was not a drafted soldier in a single training camp. The draft law was approved May 18, 1917."

EXEMPTS WHO GO ON STRIKE WILL FEEL THE DRAFT

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 14.—Ship yard workers who have been granted exemption from the army draft on industrial grounds who strike today in obedience to the strike call, will be automatically certified for service, it was announced late last night by the district board and Albert Moodie, chief of registration in the state of Washington.

LABOR INSISTS UPON MUCH CHEAPER COAL

Fort Wayne Federation Seeks Aid from Fuel Director.

After being refused by several Evansville coal companies to deliver coal after offering it for sale some time ago, the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor last night asked the aid of Fuel Director Dr. A. H. Garfield.

After receiving a telegram reading, "Cannot fill your orders," the local men wired to William Mitchell at Terre Haute, secretary of district No. 11, United Mine Workers of America. After trying a dozen different firms to obtain coal he was informed that they were taking on new customers and could not furnish coal at the government prices, after which the following telegram was sent to National Fuel Director Garfield:

"Intended to do our bit by furnishing coal to our members at cost. Can you help us?"

The local men had intended to buy a large quantity of coal at reduced rates, but the Evansville firm refused to come across.

The government price for this grade of coal was fixed at $2.20 per ton with a freight charge of $1.25, making the total cost $3.45, but the coal firms want $4.50 per ton.

A bowling match between two teams representing the round house and yardmen, battled last night at the Metropolitan alleys for the championship of this two team league. The round house men were victors over their opponents, beating them by a total of 140 pins. The round house men were coached by W. E. Tierney and the yardmen by L. F. Schelle. The feature of the game was the brilliant bowling of William Krause, who has an assortment of deliveries surpassed by none and equalled by few.

The Sentinel's Cooking School

Will Be Held Five Afternoons Next Week at Elks' Auditorium.

Mrs. McKoin, the Southern Cooking Expert, to Demonstrate. It's Free, and Everyone Is Invited.

With its membership of five thousand ladies, the Women's Club League is rendering yeoman service in the work of making the Mrs. McKoin Sentinel Cooking School a tremendous success. Practically every member of the Women's Club League will be called upon the telephone some time between today and Monday, and asked to assist in the work of letting it be known that there will be a series of lectures and demonstrations on cooking at the Elks' auditorium, West Berry street.

The lectures will be held each afternoon for five days, beginning with Tuesday and continuing through Saturday. Besides the lectures, demonstrations of how to select, cook and serve foods in the most inexpensive manner will be carried out each day by the noted southern cook and her assistants, and the instruction is regarded by many local ladies as most timely. Officers of the Women's Club League stated that the plan of having a cooking school at their own expense had been considered, and now that the course is offered without admission fees or cost in any way, they are working might and main that every possible Fort Wayne lady can attend and reap the full benefits.

Mrs. McKoin, under whose direction the series is given, is a food expert whose record has covered a number of years. She comes to Fort Wayne under the auspices of The Sentinel with the highest recommendations from the largest cities of the south where her experience has been most fortunately varied. Following her work in public school instruction in home economics, Mrs. McKoin had charge of the food problems of the poor of the city of Nashville, being employed by the city council in this capacity. On the other hand, she has filled repeated engagements before the largest and wealthiest women's clubs of the south, and her understanding of the needs and limits of the average home is thorough.

"To be a truly good housewife," says the Memphis Commercial Appeal, "a woman must not only be well informed as to the chemistry of food, its nutritive value, and the best and most efficient methods of preparing staple articles of diet, but she must also understand all the nutritive value of all kinds of foods—so that she may substitute the less expensive for the more expensive foods and yet procure the same amount of nourishment. It is in her knowledge of food values that Mrs McKoin's lectures are most valuable."

A large part of Mrs. McKoin's program consists in demonstrations of how to use leftovers, and preparing relishable dishes from foods that in many homes are discarded.

The Mrs. McKoin lecture series are being brought to Fort Wayne at a considerable expense by The Sentinel, and The Sentinel is best repaid for the enterprise when every possible Fort Wayne lady avails herself of the opportunity. No admission fee is charged and nothing is sold in the auditorium, and all ladies can go with the assurance that the seating capacity is ample and comfortable. No more commodious and convenient auditorium than the Elks' auditorium could be desired, and every Fort Wayne lady is invited to be in attendance the first day which is next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and every afternoon next week, including Saturday.

Folly to Let a Man Drink, Says Druggist Brown, of Cleveland, Who Gives a Home Remedy

A new Treatment Given Without the Consent or Knowledge of the Drinker

Cleveland, Ohio —A woman who lets a man drink is foolish, says Druggist Brown, for no man who drinks even a little bit is safe. A woman can break the drink habit in a few weeks for half what a man spends on liquor in the same time, and the drinker need never know she did it. For the sake and safety of both stop the drink habit in its beginning. Let the first whiff of liquor on his breath be your danger signal, but even if he is rum-soaked through and through do not despair; he can be saved and it is your duty to save him. Druggist Brown knows the awful curse of strong drink because he himself has been a victim. A loving sister rescued him from the brink of a drunkard's grave and kept her secret ten years, then she told him how she did it. She saved him from the demon drink, rescued him from his own depraved self by means of a secret remedy, the formula of an old German chemist. To save other families from the curse of drink and to help other victims out of the murk and mire he now makes the formula public. Any druggist can help you if you long to save a loved one. Just ask your druggist for prepared tescum powders and drop a powder twice a day in tea, coffee, milk or any other drink. Liquor soon ceases to taste the same, the craving for it vanishes and, lo, one more drunkard is saved without knowing why he lost the taste for strong drink.

One woman who used this prescription on her husband says: "It is going on the fourth week since he has touched a drop of anything in the form of liquor or used tobacco of any kind. He seems already like a different man. Tescum has gained a wonderful enthusiast in me. I regard it as a Godsend. Just think, I have never seen my husband sober for more than 48 hours in years and now it is going on one month since he had his last drink."

Another one gratefully writes: "I have used tescum powders on my husband and find it one of the greatest cures in this world. He hasn't taken a drink for almost five weeks and says he never will. My home does not seem like the same place and life seems worth living. I hope thousands gain what I have. This has been a good new year for me without drink in my home."

Note: Prepared tescum, referred to above, should not be given except where it is desired to destroy all taste for alcoholic drinks. Women who approve of moderate drinking and believe moderate drinkers safe should give tescum only when they see, as most do in time, that the danger line is plainly near. You take no risk with Tescum as it is sold in this city under a steelbound money-refunded guarantee by the Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. and other first class druggists. They guarantee it to do the work or refund the money.

Sherman's Clothes

Plenty Of Fall and Winter
Suits—Topcoats and Over-Coats
For you to choose from

Our Announcement of our raise in price did not bring surprise—mostly everyone was looking for it—for they know that everything they touch costs more than it did before the war. If it was possible to maintain the price and still be able to sell our same value for $10—we would do it—but it is the impossibility.

With our large outlet for clothing through our great chain of stores throughout the entire country—giving us mammoth buying power—going into the market with the buying power of purchasing thousands of yards of cloth—we found that we could only secure a limited amount. So you will see we were up against it.

This is the Answer

In order to maintain our excellent high set standard of value, which we have always sold to our patrons, we are forced to raise our price just enough to cover the extra cost of production. WE WOULD NOT CONSIDER LOWERING THE QUALITY OF THAT WONDERFUL VALUE WE HAVE ALWAYS SOLD. THERE WAS NO ALTERNATIVE BUT TO RAISE THE PRICE.

Many Satisfied Customers

Is what has built this wonderful organization which today is one of the largest of its kind in the country. We know that hundreds of perfectly satisfied, confident customers will eventually make thousands for us—that is the desire we have in mind—we know our trade will appreciate our efforts to give every man a chance to buy at our present price $10 before our advance price goes into effect.

We Know the clothes we are selling today are worth more even at wholesale than we are getting for them. The purchase we made in woolens almost a year ago has increased in value from 25% to 50%, but we are not going to reap the profit or take advantage of the increase in value—our good fortune will be yours. WE WILL GIVE YOU THE OPPORTUNITY TO BUY AS MANY SHERMAN'S SUITS AND OVERCOATS AT THE PRICE $10 AS YOU MAY WANT AND SAVE FOR YOURSELF AN EXTRA $2.50.

We Are Not Going to Take Advantage of the Situation

We know one good turn deserves another, it is the future we are looking forward to—not the present—the great fundamental principal we established when we first organized, to always give our patrons the best value possible for the money. NO MATTER WHEN YOU BUY AT SHERMAN'S YOU WILL SAVE $5 to $8. THEREFORE, WE WILL CONTINUE TO SELL AT THE PRICE $10 AS LONG AS THIS MERCHANDISE LASTS. Your opportunity to save an extra $2.50.

Only 15 Days More

Of our price $10—Sherman's Clothes will sell for $12.50 on and after October 1st. Every garment that is left in the store on September 30th will be returned to our factory and never appear again. YOU SHOULD COME TOMORROW—pick and choose what you like. You still have your choice of any fall and winter suit—top coat—overcoat in the store at the price $10. You will find our stock complete, representing every new style and fabric. Every fashion for the young men and the old men. Sizes to fit every man. The guarantee on Sherman's Clothes remains the same, that they must give absolute satisfaction in every detail or your money back.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists, 75c.

ABOLISH OLEO TAXES.

The Sentinel has received from Congressman James B. Aswell, representing the Eighth Louisiana district, a circular that is a personal address "To the American People." It bears upon a subject that is acutely of concern to the American people and, in view of conditions, is of the utmost timeliness. Congressman Aswell proposes that the government shall do what this newspaper and others have long contended should be done and repeal the taxes and remove the federal restrictions now borne by oleomargarine and other "imitation butter." His circular presents the matter with so much clearness and force and embodies information of such value as to justify its reproduction here in full. The circular is subjoined:

To the American people: Owing to the very high price of butter, and the now well established fact that food-oils (peanut, cottonseed, soya bean, oleo, neutral, etc.), when properly churned in milk, produce a table-food in every way as wholesome, nutritious and palatable as butter, and as these oils are now much cheaper than butter, a great many inquiries are being made for formulas and methods for so churning these oils. The law requires the product to be called oleomargarine.

I have been unable to procure any satisfactory information on the subject, but I have been furnished the following for home use, viz:

"Heat a quanitty of good deodorized cooking oil to about blood heat, using about one-fourth of a teacupful to each gallon of milk, and proceed as usual. A three-gallon churning will take about half a pound of oil. It will hasten the coming of the butter, assist in its better collection, improve the quality of both it and the buttermilk, and will give, with the better collection of the butter-fat, an increased yield of nearly a pound and a profit equal to the difference between the price of the butter and the cost of the oil."

The department here, to whom one would think it proper to appeal for information of this kind, declines to give the public instructions on this point, as it is feared, if the people should learn to produce this food, they might be tempted to sell the same or to use it in boarding-houses or schools. This it is unlawful to do, unless the person producing this table-food should pay $600.00 per year license and give a bond for $5,000.00; and unless dealers who handle this food will also pay very high licenses.

These great expenses and the dangers of prosecution have made it so that only a few large concerns can take the risk; and therefore it seems only a few persons know how really to make oleomargarine. Those who do know and who have the proper kind of cooling and churning machines, can take the milk necessary to produce one pound of butter, so I am informed, and, by the use of these food-oils, produce twenty pounds of palatable oleomargarine.

I believe that all the people should be taught to produce this good food; and that they should be allowed to do so without the payment of licenses and taxes.

I would be glad to have your co-operation in securing the removal of these unjust burdens from a large part of the food supply of the American people.

There never was any good reason why oleomargarine should be burdened with a tax. Under present conditions the injustice of the tax and all other restrictions designed to discourage and hamper its manufacture, sale and use is immeasureably aggravated. Some thirty years ago congress, yielding to the demands of dairy interests, passed the law imposing the tax and it has stood ever since, a burden of expense upon the people and a drag upon a legitimate industry that produces a useful and wholesome article of food. The law has been subject to repeated amendment that has increased its aggravations and subjected the people to further burdens.

With the dairy herds of the country undergoing constant diminution, according to all reports, and butter soaring to prices quite beyond the reach of the incomes of millions of people, the oleo tax ought to be removed. Great numbers of people throughout the country use the butter substitutes exclusively. There is nothing to be said against this. Oleomargarine and kindred products are pure, wholesome, nutritious and palatable. The way should be opened that the people of America may have this valuable product at a cost as low as possible. They should not be made to pay a tax upon that sort of food any more than upon real butter or eggs or bread or meat. There might be kept just so much of a tax or imposed a system of moderate licenses merely sufficient to pay the cost of administering laws purposed to control the methods of manufacture and sale solely to the end that imitation butter shall not be made and sold as real butter.

This is the time to do this. The people of the country ought to be hampered or mulched in no unnecessary way in their use of one of the most valuable of their foodstuffs. We trust Congressman Aswell has it in mind to attempt a repeal of the senseless, burdensome and unjust oleo taxes. We're with him.

MAKING IT HARD FOR SWEDEN.

The second petard set off by the state department at Washington under the foreign office at Stockholm makes a worse confusion of the mess created by the exposure of the double-dealing in Argentine. Secretary Lansing gives out information to show that the Swedish charge in Mexico City had been the means of communication between von Eckhardt, the despicable and hostile German minister to the Mexican government, and Berlin. So superserviceable had the Swedish diplomat become that von Eckhardt felt impelled to implore his royal master to reward the charge's duplicity with a decoration. So much for that. Folke Cronholm, who represented Sweden in Mexico, is of no great account. He may be merely a two-faced hound and he may be a common type of grafter turning diplomacy to personal gain.

The concern of America is not with Folke Cronholm, but with the Swedish foreign office, the Swedish government, the Swedish sovereign. Here comes within the term of less than a week two startling disclosures involving Swedish diplomats in unfriendly activities against friendly nations and in behalf of the kaiser. To what extent is the foreign office involved in pro-German activity here and there, and the world around, in almost a score of capitals where its plenipotentiaries are received and trusted as friends? Where stands Sweden in this war? Is she neutral, as she pretends and as nations of the entente have assumed? Is she in secret and active sympathy if not positive alliance with Germany, as the accumulating evidence goes on rapidly to confirm the increasing suspicion that she is?

Out of Stockholm must come more than expressions of regret, exclamations of amazement and protestations of innocence. The Swedish charge was dismissed some time ago from his post in Mexico, but that may have been considered the wise thing to do, taking into account what his conduct had been and the perils it created. But the Swedish envoy in Buenos Aires within recent weeks had been transmitting through the Stockholm foreign office and thence to Germany the German envoy's treacheries from the Argentine capital. Sweden has made frank admission of her services to Germany in conveying secret communications between German diplomats and the foreign office in Berlin. Sweden merely qualifies this confession by protesting that she "didn't know it was loaded."

The Washington state department and its secret service has been moving with speed and to good effect during the past six months or more and with highly important and useful if not happy results more lately. It is not wholly an unjustified hope that before long the enemy lines of communication between the United States and Berlin will have been cut. Two of them already have been located.

The house has done the just and the democratic thing with the bill for compensation of the dependents of men in the army and navy. The compensations are to be equal, as applied to officers and enlisted men. We can admit that a capable officer may deserve more pay for his work in war. Assumption of great and vital responsibility must be compensated. But as between the deserts of the dependents of an officer and the dependents of an enlisted man there can be no just difference assumed or just distinction applied. The measure as the house has reformed it ought to be accepted by the senate.

One of these days Mexico will conceive it to be thoroughly to her interest to attach the moving sign to Herr von Eckhardt, Germany's precious diplomatic representative in the capital of Senor Carranza's realm. Mexico may conceive it under pressure and may conceive it in wisdom, but she will arrive at the point of understanding one of these days. Mexico makes a mighty handy clearing house for the work of spies in this country and there is no suspicion that the convenience has been overlooked.

What the Swedish crown and government appear to need is a master of ceremonies, a super-authoritative censor, an Admiral Crichton—like Colonel House, for instance—and the best fool-killer that can be got for great hire. Then the Swedish crown and government should straightway employ a capable teacher of morals and manners and undertake to learn some of the fundamental precepts of common honesty and simple good faith.

The frost in most sections of the country appears to have been severe enough only to grow a few ne whumps on the price. The crop itself sustained no great damage.

There may be nothing so rare as a day in June, but September can furnish the runner-up most any time just at this season of the year.

A neighbor had some fine potatoes which she decided to "hole up" until they were needed. Accordingly she dug a trench and carefully put away the potatoes covering them with earth.

Not long after this she was considerably disturbed to see her young son, Tommy, come running towards her with his arms full of potatoes.

"You couldn't fool me," yelled Tommy. "I saw you hiding 'em."

RICH WILL PAY HEAVY WAR TAX, BUT STILL BE ABLE TO SURVIVE

BY BASIL M. MANLY.

Big headlines carrying the news that the "High Tax Group" in the senate has been decisively routed are responsible for a widespread impression that millionaires and big corporations are to get off almost scot-free. If you have that notion, forget it!

The rich are going to know we are at war with Germany when the tax collector comes around. They are not going to die of starvation, but they are going to know what it means to see Uncle Sam take in war profits and income taxes as high as two-thirds of the income they otherwise would be able to enjoy.

Without worrying about the Rockefellers and Morgans, who are going to have to turn over something over 60 per cent of their incomes to Uncle Sam this year in income taxes alone, let's see how the sort of rich man we know, with an income around $30,000 is going to fare. For illustration assume he owns a 30 per cent interest in a business with $100,000 actual capital now earning 100 per cent, as compared with 10 per cent in the pre-war years.

Of the $100,000 net income of the corporation for the year $90,000 will be war profits. Out of this $90,000 taxes ranging as high as 60 per cent, and amounting in all to $46,715, must be paid.

Out of the balance the company must pay Uncle Sam a corporation tax of 6 per cent, or $3,197, which leaves for distribution to the shareholders $50,088 out of the original $100,000 earnings.

But in these precarious times no business can afford to distribute all its earnings to its stockholders; something must be held as a reserve for stormy days. Say $10,000 is set aside as reserve; this leaves $40,088 to be distributed, of which our man gets 30 per cent or $12,026, as compared with the $30,000 he would have received if there were no federal taxes.

But that isn't all. He still has his individual income tax to pay. As the income came wholly from dividends, there is no normal tax, but there are supertaxes on all over $5,000, amounting in all to $136, leaving our friends $11,890 out of which to pay his expenses and state and municipal taxes.

Will he know there is a war when he sees about $18,000 go to Uncle Sam out of about $30,000 he had been figuring as his profits? Ask him!

This is one side of the picture. It doesn't explain what Hiram Johnson and the other high tax advocates are making such a racket about.

They see that this same company in the pre-war years earned only $10,000, of which our friend's share, disregarding the light taxes then in effect, would have been something less than $3,000. They see he now has $10,890 left after paying all his federal taxes, nearly $8,000 more than he would have received before the war. They think he ought to give Uncle Sam a much bigger share of it.

But the senate refuses to see this side and looks only at the view first presented. So they vote the radicals down three to one, and weep briny tears over the sad state of the rich.

But here is the situation in a nutshell. Every class of the American population, rich and poor, is going to have to pay so much into Uncle Sam's treasury from now until long after this war is over that it will wince every time it hears the word "taxes." At the same time owing to the great increase in profits the majority of corporations and rich individuals will have more income left after they have paid all their federal taxes than they had before the war.

CLOCK STRIKES FOR JOHN BARLEYCORN IN THIS GOOD LAND

(Christian Science Monitor.)

The making of mashes, as part of the process of distillation of intoxicating spirituous liquors, ceased on Thursday morning. The fermentation of the vegetable matter entering into these mashes ceased on Saturday night at 11 p. m. Distillation must be proceeded with immediately if production is to be legalized under the prohibition section of the food control act. Practically, distillation of spirituous liquors has now become illegal in the United States until the close of the war. The importation of distilled liquors is forbidden. The United States food administration has made a ruling that the terms "foods, fruits, food materials, or feeds, in the act include all cereals, tubors, fruits, grape cheese, apple cheese, fruit parlings, cannery refuse, beet sugar, molasses, sour wine, and all other foods, fruits, food material, or feeds, and the by-products thereof." Spirits fermented while the law is operative must bear this label on warehouse barrels: "These spirits were produced from materials fermented after September 9, 1917. All persons are warned that their use in the manufacturing or preparation of beverages, or their sale for beverage purposes, will subject the person so using or selling them to a fine of not exceeding $5,000, or imprisonment for not more than two years, or both."

This is specific and clear. There can be no more fermentation of materials for the purposes of distillation into beverages while the war lasts. But there is an immense stock of distilled liquors on hand. With the spirits distilled out of the last mashes, it is estimated by one closely associated with the traffic, there will be in bond 225,000,000 gallons of rye and bourbon whiskeys in the warehouses of the United States, and to this stock must be added something like 100,000,000 gallons of liquor in the form of whisky, rum, gin, and so on, in the saloons, hotels, clubs, and wholesale houses of the country. The consumption is about 100,000,000 gallons a year, so that, if these figures be accepted, there is a stock of liquors on hand equal to the normal demand of three years.

It remains for the president to say whether or not the surplus liquor now in stock shall be permitted to offend a large part of the population of the country, and menace the welfare of all the people in these trying hours. The president is empowered, by the food control act, to take over the entire liquor stock, and redistill it for the making of munitions. Alcohol necessary to this purpose must be produced, and if the stock now in bond and in the hands of jobbers, wholesalers, clubs, saloons, and private persons, is not seized and so utilized, we shall have the spectacle of the country unnecessarily withdrawing great quantities of food material to meet the munition demand. How illogical and even ridiculous this will be, in view of all that is said with regard to the importance of food conservation, must appear to every thinking person.

The prohibition of the manufacture and sale of spirituous liquors should now be made real, and not merely fictitious. The time could not be more opportune for a stroke that would render the resumption of distillation at the close of the war, to say the least, improbable.

BOOZE AND DIVORCE.

(South Bend Tribune.)

Figures produced by Henry A. Roberts, state statistician, on divorces and marriages in Indiana during the past statistical year are highly illuminating. He points out first that one divorce is granted to every three marriages. This is an astonishing rate which calls for careful study by those who seek to safeguard the homes of the state and thereby preserve Indiana's high standards of morality.

Some of the figures point their own moral. For instance, most of the divorces are granted on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. This shows one of two things, either the courts are becoming extremely lax in granting divorces or else the cruelty and inhumanity is due to the use of liquor. Rather one would think it was the latter cause and it is a safe prediction that when the state becomes dry the rate of divorces granted on that ground will decrease notably.

The trail of the liquor seprent is seen all through the divorce records. It is probable that the charge of infidelity never would have been brought as frequently as shown if caberets and beer gardens and road houses and liquor serving cafes were eliminated. The statistics offered do not make this point clear, but common knowledge leads to the belief that infidelity begins originally with the booze bottle. Liquor's part is made exceedingly plain in the statement that husbands secured 30 divorces on the grounds that their wives were drunkards, while wives secured 434 divorces by bringing the like charge against their husbands. Add to these figures those of abandonment and failure to provide and it is a safe conclusion that the prime cause of the divorce evil is booze. Indana can be thankful that booze is soon to end its days.

STAND TOGETHER.

(Chicago News.)

Having failed in its deliberate plan to accomplish by brute force and frightfulness the conquest of the world for autocracy, Germany has resorted to every art of chicanery and fraud, bribery and corruption of which it is master to retrieve its waning fortunes or at least to minimize the penalties it has incurred by its criminal course.

The direct instruments in its hands in democratic nations are necessarily clumsy and feeble. Men who can be bought are never worth it and men who can be persuaded to support an evil cause lack the quality of intellect that would make them dangerous. Yet the resources of Germany and its sympathizers—thanks to the unsuspicious nature of the democracies where these propagandists have been planted—are tremendous. And the leaders charged with maintaining the German cause on democratic soil are subtle and determined. They take advantage of every local and domestic condition that is potential for discord.

The effects of their work in Russia are patent to all the world. What they have achieved in Russia, they are attempting in every nation that is opposed to Germany's purposes in this war.

It is not necessary for them to buy support boldly and openly—indeed, that was inexpedient. But they find ways to serve the German cause while seeming to assist "pacifism," radical woman suffrage movements, wars on "capitalism," and all the issues that tend to divide the democratic peoples.

There are, as every patriotic American knows, economic, political and industrial issues in this country that must be settled and will be settled on a basis of justice after the war. But now is no time for such famly discussions—the one vital issue is to preserve the family against assaults that would forever destroy the idea of equality among men.

Until autocracy is brought low any attempt to create class strife in the democracies or to set one democracy against another must be regarded as the work of enemies and all who lend themselves to such undertakings must be recognized as misguided or worse.

A FAMILIAR FACTOR.

(Chicago Herald.)

In the background of the Houston riot appears the familiar figure ever to be found amid such disturbances—administrative incompetence. A weak chief of police and a disorderly subordinate, according to a local citizens' committee, must at least be counted among the immediate causes of the outbreak. It is the old story.

Race prejudice, with its latent potentialities of trouble, was, of course, present. The negro troops were doubtless in the mood to avenge any discrimination. Inflammable material was ready for the spark and the match was applied with shocking consequences. But in Houston as elsewhere, dormant disaster might never have been awakened but for one incapable and another unfaithful guardian of the law. Overt irritation might have been avoided, or if that were not preventable, swift efficiency might have stamped out the incipient mutiny.

The lesson of Houston following hard upon that of East St. Louis ought not to be forgotten. If American communities desire honestly to preserve peace and to maintain order capable officials must be employed. Emergencies make short work of blunderers.

TRYING TO HALT CHILD LABOR LAW.

[Grand Rapids Press.]

A federal judge in North Carolina has agreed with lawyers for the cotton mill interests and has ruled that the child labor law is "fundamentally at odds with the principles of the constitution."

Thus again the buck is passed to the good old constitution which has been made to serve as a refuge for military service slackers and many other interests that have found in inconvenient to obey certain laws passed for the benefit of the people and intended to curb greed and privileges. Every time a statute is passed that endangers the bulk of corporate or individual pocketbooks these same wallets are opened to hire lawyers who invariably find that the statute in question is "fundamentally at odds with the principles of the constitution." They said the same thing about the workmen's compensation act in many states and found numerous other measures with humane intent similar to that of the child labor law which, in their humble opinion, transgressed constitutional authority in a most astounding manner. All of these cases—or nearly all of them—have reached the supreme court and that tribunal has most always held with the general interest as against private interest. It is not audacious to predict that the child labor law will fare as well when it reaches the highest court.

The law forbids the employment of children under fourteen in industries shipping products from one state to another, prohibits the employment of children under sixteen in mines or quarries, sets eight hours as the maximum workday in factories for children of fourteen and fifteen and prevents their employment at night labor. Michigan's laws already cover many of these points and few industries will be seriously affected by the provisions of the federal statute.

THE BOOK OF BOOKS.

(Chicago News.)

It did not require President Wilson's recent man-to-man admonition to the soldiers and sailors of America to create an unprecedented demand for the book that he advised each of them studiously to read. Already there has been so great a call for pocket bibles and testaments, according to publishers and booksellers, that the supply can scarcely keep pace with the demand. Old electrotype plates of the scriptures, in the small sizes, are said to be worth large sums at this time for emergency use.

This fact is significant of the spiritual nature of the great conflict in which the nations are engaged. The bible is, as students have frequently pointed out, the only record we have of the spiritual history of mankind. Even through the dark patterns of its wars and political histories runs the golden thread of man's spiritual growth upon which the recorded events are hung. It is this thread of gold, growing brighter and more beautiful as it emerges into the gospels of the Christian period, that makes the bible indeed "the way of life" for civilized man in great crises.

In it, as President Wilson truly says, every man may find what he wants to know of the deeper things of life; for there, if he comes earnestly seeking, he will discover, in the president's words, "the key to his own heart."

MR. WILSON'S WAY.

Memphis Commercial Appeal.)

Roosevelt would have said, "The kaiser is such a liar we can't believe him," but Mr. Wilson phrased it: "We cannot take the word of the present German ruler." Which was the same thing all dressed up in a bird-tail coat and white gloves.

Rufus L. Stevens, of 129 Holman street, a man about 65 years old, while standing on a chair this morning at his residence, fell and broke his right wrist. Dr. J. W. McCausland dressed the injury. Mr. Stevens is an upholsterer in the employ of the Pennsylvania company.

John Stadtler, who conducted a saloon on the corner of Calhoun and Washington streets, where the Schmitz block now stands, a few years ago, was badly injured at Muncie last Saturday by a premature explosion of a blast in an oil well. One of his legs was broken in several places.

Will O'Connors, of 251 South Webster street, had one of his legs badly bruised this morning by being caught between a locomotive drive wheel and the wheel press. Dr. C. B. Stemen attended the injured man, whose wounds are not dangerous. Mr. O'Connors works in the Pittsburg machine shop.

WALKER GIVEN THREE MONTHS AT PENAL FARM

Charged With Assault and Battery on Young Lady —Court News.

Charles E. Walker, charged with assault and battery on a young lady at the Bleke farm, east of the city, was found guilty by Judge J. W. Eggeman in the circuit court, Friday, and sentenced to the state penal farm for three months. Walker was employed on the Bleke farm.

DAMAGES DENIED.

Mrs. Foltz Loses Her Suit Against Adolph Felger.

The jury in circuit court late Thursday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant in the case brought by Mrs. Lillie Foltz, administratrix of the estate of the late Samuel Foltz against Adolph Felger for damages in the sum of $5,000. Mrs. Foltz claimed that her husband's death was due to carelessness on the part of Felger for whom he was working. Foltz was killed as the result of a fall from a load of hay while in Felger's employ. The jury held that Foltz's death was due to his own negligence.

Another Injunction.

Another injunction was granted Friday in the case of Phoebe A. Hamilton against Levi McAfee and James Peddicord involving the dike along the St. Joe river, part of which was torn down early Friday morning after being finished Thursday morning. The injunction was granted to Mrs. Hamilton to restrain the contractors or anyone else from rebuilding the same. The full story of the case appears elsewhere in The Sentinel.

Gives Him a Lecture.

Judge J. W. Eggeman in circuit court, Thursday afternoon, refused the petition of Fred W. Ropa, 19 years old, who was asking for the removal of his guardian, Christian L. Daseler. Ropa two years ago was left an estate by his father on his death. The testimony brought out that Ropa was somewhat of a spendthrift, that he is a frequenter of cafes and pool rooms and is living rather a fast life. In denying the petition the court lectured the young man and warned him of the consequences if he did not mend his ways.

Used Shoe as Weapon.

Because his wife frequently attacked him with a shoe—the high heeled kind—Raiph Steinbacher has filed suit in the superior court asking for a divorce from Ruth E. Steinbacher. On one occasion he says that his wife became so enraged that she stuck a butcher knife into a rug that had been purchased but a short time before. Mr. and Mrs. Steinbacher were united in wedlock on October 5, 1914, and separated this week. The wronged husband is represented by Attorney E. V. Harris.

Somers Is Acting.

William C. Geake, judge pro tem., in the superior court, has been called to New York on business and during his absence Attorney Albert Somers will serve in that capacity. Judge Carl Yaple is suffering with an inflammation in one of his eyes and it will be several days before he is able to resume his duties on the bench.

Would Venue Case.

A petition has been filed asking that the case brought by the Hoagland State bank against Ellis E. and George Shookman for $650, alleged to be due on a note, be venued to another county.

Judgment for $175.

Chester A. Young was given a judgment for $175 in the superior court, Thursday, from Michael and Helen Steele. Florence Haley, who was named as co-defendant, was released from liability.

Sues for Board.

INJURIES FATAL TO SHELDON CHILD

Joseph Conser, age two, died at the Lutheran hospital Thursday evening from injuries received in an accident when he fell from a manure spreader on the farm of his father, William Conser, near Sheldon. The child was brought immediately here, but was found dto be internally hurt and did not live but four hours after arriving at the hospital.

FORT WAYNE WOMAN HEIRESS TO $750,000

SOCIETY

Patriotism and friendship were the sentiments at a beautiful party given in honor of Miss Mildred Bowser and Mrs. Maurice O'Connor this afternoon at the home of Miss Ruth Levy, who was assisted by Mrs. G. Irving Latz. The company spent their time in knitting until the serving of an elaborate menu, which was daintily arranged to display the colors of the flag. Flags and flowers, red and whith with a sparkling of blue, were arranged with artistic taste and made a striking effect. The porch was a favorite spot and there was much visiting with brides and brides-to-be. The two hostesses presented their honor guests with gifts and included in their generous remembrance another bride of the season, Mrs. Clifford Bornschein and a coming bride, Miss Nellie Wilt.

No more beautiful pre-nuptial party has been given than that arranged by Miss Gladys Simon for Miss Vesta Dunten, who is to be married in October. Many out door flowers were used to decorate the rooms, those of pink and white colors being the favorites, while in the dining room there were ribbons stretched above the lovely table, where more flowers, a white bell above the center, and a cake decorated in hearts and flowers, told their story plainly, if mutely. Place cards for twelve bore the information of Miss Dunten's coming marriage to Roy Miller next month. A handsome gift of silver was received by Miss Dunten to use when she begins housekeeping in her new home. Other friends who participated in the pleasure of the afternoon were Ruth Heiber, Jaunita Swartz, Ramona Houghton, Rena Dunten, Ida Spencer, Marjorie Costello, Grace Fitch, Angeline Warcup, Beulah Entler, Ida Wood, Carrie Knop.

There will be no sadness of farewell in the "good-bye" party to be given by the Christian Endeavorers of the East Creighton street Church of Christ Friday evening, in honor of three of their departing members. "Send them away with a smile," is to be the shibboleth of the evening and will appear time and again in the varied methods of entertainment. The subjects of the gathering, which will be held at the home of Miss May Keller, Thomas street, are Glen Bert, who leaves for a place in the new national army, on September 21, and Jay Wilkerson, who will take his place in the ranks later, and Clarence Miller, who will enter the more perilous field of college training at Indiana university. The young men have all been active workers in the various organizations of the East Creighton church for several years. Members of the Endeavor society and their immediate friends have been invited to the farewell affair. There will be special music numbers and refreshments.

Variety of Shapes in the Small Hats

By BETTY BROWN.

Pretty girls who refuse to conceal their complexion beneath fashionable broad brims can still find a variety of medium shapes to select from.

The tam or beret is a hangover from summer. Turbans achieve much the same softness when bordered with narrow puffs of velvet. And the rather stiff tricorns takes on a fascinating jauntiness when adorned with a shoulder-long tassel.

The materials for both big and little hats are velvets and satins. Black is everywhere favored.

Face Peeling Easy— Blonde or Brunette

"The blonde's complexion fades early because her skin is extraordinarily thin and fine," says Mme. Lina Cavalieri. "The brunette's, as a rule, is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance."

For either the faded blonde's skin or the brunette's dry or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mercolized wax. Used every night this will give one an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually peels off the worn out surface skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate underskin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her age, so far as appearance goes, by a course of this simple treatment. The wax, procurable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream. —Advertisement

OVERRIPE FRUIT UNSUITED FOR MAKING PRESERVES.

For preserves fruit should not be overripe, as the retention of the shape is important.

To retain the shape of soft fruit (berries in particular) measure out the quantity of sugar to be used. Dispose the fruit and sugar in alternate layers, in the cooking receptacles, let stand over night and then cook.

Crabapples, grapes (just ripe), yelloy pippins, under-ripe blackberries and quinces will yield a firm, stiff jelly with one-half pound of sugar added to each pint of fruit juice.

The juice must be boiling when the sugar is added. Large fruits such as quinces, apples or crabapples need not be pared, but the seeds must be removed.

BACK! HAPPIER ART OF THE CONVERSATION.

With the departure of the garish and ear-splitting "cabaret," which authorities assert is on the toboggan, perhaps the happier art of conversation will return.

Doctors have forever agreed that good-humored talk at mealtime is an aid to digestion.

Add to this the local exhilaration and pleasure which comes from the exchange of ideas and the argument for conversation is complete.

At home, too, far more than in public dining rooms, should the art of graceful and pleasure-giving conversation be cultivated. Encourage each member of the family to relate at the dinner table one experience he has had during the day. He should make it as interesting as he can and use enough detail to make the story clear.

"Practice makes perfect" in talking as in every other line of endeavor.

PALACE SEASON'S BIGGEST HIT.

Sophie Tucker and Her Famous Jazz Band Are Causing a Real Sensation at the Palace Theater This Week.

AT THE PALACE

EVENT OF YEARS.

Sophie Tucker, Jazz Exponent, in Super Act at New Palace.

Sophie Tucked, the darling jazz-dumpling with the famous Jazz band, is the event of years at the New Palace in her syncopated melodies. The vivacious Sophie stormed the house at two performances yesterday with her absurd song numbers done as only Sophie can do them. Her Jazz band, a quintet of accomplished instrumentalists, are a combination of musicians and acrobats, playing the saxaphone while perched on one ear, the violin while doing a violin acrobatic dance and piano while executing some toe dance steps and the cellow while doing a fox trot. There isn't an idle moment from the time Sophie introduces her jazzers until the last note dies away. She sings about her band herself, vaudeville Dixie and loving Johnny. Sophie Tucker is one of vaudeville's first degree high lights and she's captured Fort Wayne.

The bill supporting this versatile woman includes Jolly, Wild and company in the nonsensical bit of nut comedy, "Who's Your Tailor?"; George Morton, the talkative Black Dot in his new act Beautiful Flowers; Alexander Brothers and Evelyn in a bang up ball bouncing novelty; the Lasky Three Types, a trio of beautiful girls in a series of exquisite poses, portraying famous paintings, and Bernard and Merritt, the Musical Gals.

CARE OF HORSE HAS REBUKE TO NEGLIGENT.

An article from a recent publication reads:

"Don't tie a ribbon to your horse's tail and leave him with muddy feet."

What about the little lady who spends hours and dollars in the milliner's shop adorning woman's crowning beauty with a creation in satin, velvet, or straw and forgets that a 5 or 10-cent shine would brighten up the grayed black shoes and make possible the well dressed appearance she would create.

Consistency in one's dress is necessary if one is to be well groomed. An expensive fur and worn shoes, run down at the heels, are not in keeping.

"KHAKI" MEANS COLOR: OF EAST INDIA ORIGIN.

We are in error when we speak of "the boys in khaki."

The word "khaki," designating a color, is of East Indian origin—from the word "khak," meaning dust—and signifies a dust colored cloth.

About four years ago the United States government substituted olive drab for khaki, in both cotton and woolen for the uniform of the soldiers. This was because it has a lower visibility and because the dye with which to make it is more easily secured than the khaki dye.

ACCLAIM AMERICANS IN FAR OFF SIBERIA

Root Commission to Russia is Given Reception by a Mixed Crowd.

Werchne-Udinsk, Siberia, June 28.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—A thousand Russians crowded the railway station platform and cheered for America as the Root diplomatic commission's special train stopped at this interesting frontier town to change engines. This point is the end of the caravan trail from China, across Mongolia to the Trans-Siberia railway. The cosmopolitan character of its population could be distinguished by a glance at the shouting crowd. Chinese and Mongolians, wearing their picturesque robes, stood beside Russians clad in blouses of all colors. Peasants and patricians, soldiers and civilians, humble women wearing shawls over their heads and well-dressed women with fashionable hats, joined in the cheers for the American party.

Such insistent demands were made for information about the commission that Mr. Gorbotenko, the official designated by the Russian Railway administration to conduct the American commission, made a brief address in which he explained who the members of the party were and the reason for their appointment by President Wilson to confer with the Russian government.

This did not satisfy the insistent crowd. Speeches were demanded from the Americans. Mr. Root responded in a short address, thanking the crowd for the reception and expression of good will toward America. He said the commission brought a message of sympathy, hope and courage from the American people to the Russian people and that the great American democracy sympathized with the Russian democracy and was determined to do everything in its power to co-operate with Russia in the great battle against tyranny.

"America" and "democracy" are much the same in Russian that they are in English. Consequently the Russians caught those words and applauded enthusiastically before the interpreter translated the remarks of Mr. Root. Hats and caps bearing the red insignia of the revolution were waved frantically and thrown into the air as the special moved out of the station with Mr. Root, General Scott, and the other members of the party waving farewell to the crowd.

Similar demonstrations were held at Petrofeki, Zavod, Mogzon and several other larger stations, and small groups were gathered at less important towns, eager for a glimpse of the American commission.

Before the revolution the police in Siberian towns forbade all gatherings. Consequently, the public is now making the most of its freedom. Peasants who cannot read and have been in almost total ignorance of the political and military situation now gather about members of citizens' and soldiers' committees who read the latest dispatches and discuss the news for the benefit of the uneducated and uninformed. Red flags float from the railway stations and public buildings of all the Siberian towns. Members of the committees in control of the towns all wear red bands upon their arms.

Soldiers no longer salute their officers. The military organizations are now controlled by soldiers' committees which have charge of discipline. At first many of these committees were extremely lax. But the necessity for discipline soon became apparent and conditions are speedily improving. Since the military in Siberia has been freed of officers whose loyalty to the revolutionary movement was in question more and more confidence is being placed in the officers, and the soldiers are realizing that democracy cannot succeed without discipline and authority.

KEEPING YOUR GOAT MAY BECOME WAR DUTY

Here's a Fellow, Doggone Him, Who Says Kill the Dog and Get a Goat.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—That the hitherto despised goat may aid materially in solving problems arising from war conditions by increasing the milk and cheese production is the opinion advanced by H. L. Hollister, publisher of a farm paper. Governor Lowden, of Illinois, is quoted as considering this theory sound.

The keeping of a goat or two may become as popular a way of doing our bit in the world war as planting a war garden, according to Mr. Hollister, who says that even the dooryard or roadside may be profitably made to serve as a pasture for this animal. If you are a suburbanite, your goats will make you independent of the milkman and may enable you to slide safely through tight times, resulting from sickness or lack of employment.

Do away with the useless family dog, Mr. Hollister urges us, and substitute the profitable goat. It is hardy, free from disease, adptible to all conditions and is easily domesticated.

Some Swiss goats are hornless, have amiable dispositions that qualify them as pets, and often yield as much as six quarts of milk a day. At the present price of cow's milk, Mr. Hollister estimates, such a goat would produce fully $160 a year.

The goat has a great advantage over the cow, in that it costs only about a fourth as much to maintain, and gives milk ten months a year. The milk is easily digested and makes excellent food for the baby. Goat's flesh has the same food value as mutton.

Governor Lowden, of Illinois, has asked Mr. Hollister to appoint a commission to investigate ways and means of educating the American public in the value of the milch goat. Mrs. C. H. Cahill, one of Mr. Hollister's experts, is already on her way to Europe to investigate the extensive goat milk and cheese industry in various countries there. An attempt is being made to presuade governors of other states to take action similar to Governor Lowden's, and thus bring about a concerted campaign to induce suburbanites, villagers and small farmers to take up goat raising and to make the milch goat a permanent American family institution.

EDGERTON MAN HIT BY TRAIN AND KILLED

Clyde Landel, Stock Buyer, Meets Death on Railroad Crossing.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Butler, Ind., Sept. 14.—Clyde Landel, aged 24 years, was killed Thursday morning at 9 o'clock when the car which he was driving was struck by New York Central fast line, No. 41, at Edgerton, Ohio. Mr. Landel was a stock buyer and was driving into town from his country home. When he approached the railroad crossing at Depot street, just east of the New York Central station, he saw the fast line approaching, but he drove his car right onto the track, no doubt thinking he could get safely across. The train hit the car, throwing him several feet and injuring him so badly that he died in a short time. He was taken to the Mortland hotel, where Dr. Walter Unger cared for him, but he was too badly injured to survive. He is survived by his mother. The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence northeast of Edgerton, Ohio.

DISPLACES BERLIN WOOL.

Dublin, Ireland, Sept. 14.—The council of the Dublin chamber of commerce reports that Berlin wool has now been almost entirely replaced in Ireland by Blarney fingering wool.

CHASES GUESTS AWAY.

Stockholm, Sept. 14.—The spectacle, probably unique, of a popular and much frequented summer resort and bathing town, inviting its summer guests to leave and not return, has just been presented by Sodertalje. The city authorities took action after a meeting at which the scarcity of food was discussed. This, in their opinion, made it undesirable that inreads should be made by summer visitors on the stocks available. About 3,000 visitors are affected by the invitation to leave.

HEALTH PROGRAM AT INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Student Cafeteria Along New Lines of Economy and Hygiene.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—One of the most pretentious of the steps in the great health program that Indiana univers has mapped out for the thousands of students, which now attend the state institution, was announced today by President William Lowe Bryan.

When the university opens for the fall term this year, a complete student cafeteria—to be operated along unusual lines of economy and hygiene—will be opened on the university campus. Under the direction of the institution the best possible food will be served students of the university at the lowest practicable cost. It is hoped that the scheme will work to such advantage that in a short time a great saving will occur among the students, who are now eating their meals in boarding houses, fraternity houses, hotels and similar places in Bloomington. Student leaders already have endorsed the plan enthusiastically, for it has in it all the advantages to the average student, who now eats at a boarding house, that are possible in the most hygienically operated eating places of large cities.

Women in Charge.

Miss Nola Treat, who has had charge of similar work at the Agricultural college of Kansas, and who is widely known for her work there as assistant professor of home economics, will come to Indiana University to accept the same title in the state school and to direct personally the new student eating house plan of the university.

Besides directing the new cafeteria, Miss Treat will give courses in institutional management so as to prepare persons for similar work in food conservation and expert feeding of large numbers of persons, in other public institutions. Classes in home sanitation at the university, according to the announcement from Dr. Bryan here today, will use the cafeteria as a laboratory and the new eating-place repeatedly will be "scored" by students and teachers for their instruction, and to assist in keeping the sanitary conditions in the cafeteria at 100 per cent. Novel methods will be used to popularize the new eating-place among the students generally, and it is predicted confidently by university officials that eventually the cafeteria will be supplying the food needs of thousands of the students, who now eat in scattered boarding houses at sums much less than they have been paying in former years for food that looked the supervision the university's cafe will have.

No Draft on Treasury.

Dr. Bryan announced that the university officials have arranged to establish the cafeteria without making a draft on the university treasury at this time, through an arrangement which, it is believed, may work out so well financially that the cafeteria will never be a drag on the university treasury. Officials of the state school have been deterred from carrying the project through hitherto because of lack of money for equipment.

The establishment of the new cafeteria is but one step in a long line of "student health" ideals, which Dr. Bryan and others at the institution have been working to develop to the highest pitch for years. Free medical treatment and supervision of students, who desire it, already has been established, and care of sick students in the hospital at Bloomington also is provided as part of the health program.

Another big impetus to the student health movement at Indiana this year will be the many usese to which the new gymnasium—one of the most beautiful and completely equipped in the country—will be put, Dr. Bryan said. The facilities of the new gymnasium, for health purposes, will be open to all the students of the school, regardless of whether they are trying for athletic teams. Intramural athletics will be one phase of the work, but attempts will be made to draw into the physical culture work all students of the university. Many other similar lines of activity are now under way at the institution, all tending toward bringing the average student at the university to the highest pitch of physical efficiency—from which the step to the highest pitch of mental efficiency is so short.

ALIENS CAN VOTE HERE

Law Gives Ballot to All Who Declare Intention to Be Citizen.

CITY BOARD EXPECTS WOMEN TO HAVE VOICE

Denial of Vote to Departed Soldiers Re-affirmed by Board.

Aliens and all other foreigners who have declared their intention of becoming American citizens will have the right to vote in the Fort Wayne election.

In answer to many inquiries the city election board, which met in open session Friday morning, stated that the ballot for the coming city election is not restricted to American citizens or even to those who have taken out their second papers.

The matter of voting is governed by state law, the board points out. Indiana law, unlike many state codes, gives the ballot to all persons who have attained maturity and who have declared their intention of becoming American citizens.

Proclaiming this fact by the election board will add several hundred votes to the present registration for the city election. Many German-born citizens had believed that they would have no right to take part in the municipal contest.

Expect Women to Vote.

The city election board believes that women will vote in the coming city tilt. They think the present qualifying law will be sustained by the courts.

Led by this belief, the election officers are making every effort to care for the female vote. Th balloting machines will be established over the city soon in order to give the women a chance to learn how to operate the voting devices.

"We want the women to have the same opportunity to learn about the machines that the men enjoy," said members of the board.

If an unexpected court decision should disfranchise women the city of Fort Wayne will save no election expense as every provision has been made for the women to vote. Supplies have been bought and extra voting machines have been bargained for.

Members of the election board inspected the sample ballots, to be placed on the voting machines for practice use, Friday morning. Some corrections were made in the submitted lists, which will be ready for use on the balloting apparatus soon.

Soldiers Lose Vote.

The original announcement of the election board that soldiers who are absent from Fort Wayne will not be allowed to have a voice in the city election was reaffirmed at the Friday meeting.

The fact that a city election has been held to be a separate institution from general, special or primary elections, disfranchises the absent voters, board members reassert.

Want to See Machines.

A committee from the socialist party organization of Fort Wayne waited on the election board and asked the right to be present when the election machines are examined at 5 o'clock on election morning, before balloting starts. The socialist representatives stated that they wanted to be sure that all parties had an even start at the beginning of the day.

The presence of the political representatives at the inspection of the machines will be entirely up to the election officers at the various polling places, the election board decided. The law states that election officers shall examine the machines. It does not say that others shall be present.

After 6 o'clock in the evening on election night the socialist committeemen were told that they would have the right to be at the polling places and see that a fair count was made of all the votes cast during the day. The law grants all parties that privilege, the politicians were told.

Notaries Careless.

Attention of the election board members was called in an unpleasant way to the carelessness of notaries who have been aiding taking the registrations. The persons who are filling out the registration blanks are neglecting to make their reports complete, the returns show. Many votes may be lost because of this mistake.

Mistreated registration papers were ordered to be returned to the notaries who have made them out. An effort will be made to get the papers resigned before election day. In some cases the notaries who did the signing are out of town. The votes of the persons they represent may be lost.

The notaries have failed to show when the father of foreign-born citizens was naturalized in many cases.

Many notaries have overlooked the fact that the marriage of a woman to a naturalized citizen makes her a legal voter. If this point is adhered to much time can be saved for the notaries.

BANK YEGGS MEET UP WITH OBSTACLE

Brookston, Ind., Sept. 14.—When Ed Bennett, cashier of the Farmers' bank here, opened the bank for business this morning he discovered that safe blowers had visited the place during the night. A suitcase with the name George Patterson written in it was left by the burglars

BEGGING TRAMP GAVE FAMILY SMALL POX

Citizen's Warned to Beware of Disease Packing Nomads.

Smallpox was carried into the home of Quincy Hildebrandt, machinist, 1710 Broadway, by a ragged tramp who begged alms at the back door of the the house, city health officers have learned.

The father of the household suffers from a severe attack of thei disease. Several very light cases of the sickness about the city during the past few weeks are believed to have been spread by the shabby nomad who wandered from house to house asking hand-outs. Health officers think that the tramp may not have known the nature of the ailment, which had caused him to break out before he called at the Hildebrandt home.

Police will be ordered to visit the "hobo" camps along the railroad, probably with members of the health board, and to examine the aimless wanderers who may be gathered about the cheery blaze. Smallpox is a disease that feeds best on uncleanly surroundings and would readily pass from one tramp to another when the men gather along the railroad tracks in their journeys "west" or "east."

Citizens are warned against allowing tramps to have access to members of their families. Smallpox in a light stage is not easily descernible but may transmit a serious attack of the ailment to another. If all "Willies" are allowed to come in by the kitchen fire to drink a cup of coffee an epidemic of smallpox may sweep the city, health officers say.

The Hildebrandt family are sure that the illness was brought to their house by an aged "ho" who begged for a pair of shoes. He was allowed to try on a pair of shoes but the footwear did not fit him. Next day he returned and asked for a coat. He was given a garment. On his second visit it was noticed that his face was blotched. Later two members of the family were attacked by smallpox.

Henry A. Roberts, state statistician, was a visitor in Fort Wayne this week and while here made a thorough inspection of the Fort Wayne branch of the state free employment bureau at the court house. He declared that outside of Indianapolis the Fort Wayne branch is making the best showing of any employment bureau in the state.

The women were given work as follows: Chambermaids, 2; cook, 1; day workers, 3; factory hands, 1; general housework, 3; kitchen work, 1.

A TIDY LITTLE FIND OF CACHED GOLD MADE

Four Hundred Thousand Dollars Dug Up in Hills of Arizona.

Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 14.—The discovery of $400,000 cached in an out-of-the-way spot in the hills of Graham county, this state, is reported by H. R. Whitman, of Solomonville, who is now in Chandler, near here. The discovery was made by Joe Walsey, a cowboy, who, while hunting stray cattle, came upon an iron box secreted in a tree trunk. Its contents consisted of old Spanish gold coins and gold vessels.

The gold has been taken to Safford, seat of Graham county, and placed in security, according to Whitman. It is believed that Walsey discovered a hidig place of priests who left the section about seventy-five years ago.

STUDENTS MUST NOT WORRY AS TO EATING

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 14.—Worry as to the means of paying for meals is detrimental to good work in college, in the opinion of Harvard university officials. The Harvard Register for the new college year says:

"It is very desirable that a student should either have money set apart for his board before he comes or should know before hand exactly how he can pay his board bills. If he is to do good and effective work he must not be harrassed by anxiety as to the means of meeting this expense and he must not be tempted into unwise economy in food."

HUNDREDS OF MOOSE ARE COMING SATURDAY

Three Hundred Candidates to Be Initiated by Mooseheart Legion.

Members of the Moose lodge, and more particularly the Mooseheart legion, from several different states, will invade Fort Wayne Saturday to take part in the Mooseheart legion convention to witness the initiation of a class of 300 candidates. Rodney H. Brandon, grand regent, and secretary of the Mooseheart governors, will be present from Mooseheart, Ill., and others who have wired that they will be here are Ben Oswald, physical director of Mooseheart; Messrs. Nigro, Kirsch and Russell, of Mooseheart college and the degree team of the Mooseheart-Aurora lodge.

All candidates for initiation will report to R. J. Stetter, herder of the local legion, in the Moose home, corner Wayne and Webster streets, at 4 p. m. The ceremonies will start at 5 o'clock and will be concluded about midnight. It is expected that twelve states will be represented at the convention.

A banquet at 10:30 o'clock will feature the meeting. Hon. Harry H. Hilgemann will preside as toastmaster and addresses will be made by Frank A. Emrick, Rodney H. Brandon, David C. Stout, Maurice C. Niezer, W. S. Cutshall, Judge George W. Stults, of Huntington; H. Raub, dictator of Kendallville lodge, and W. C. Miller, of Bluffton.

A parade preceding the convention ceremonies will form on the Moose lodge lawn and proceed east on Wayne to Harrison, south to Baker, east to Calhoun, north to Columbia, west to Harrison, south to Berry, west to Webster and south to the home, where it will disband.

The Mooseheart legion is to the Moose lodge what the Shrine is to the Masonic lodge. It already has several hundred members in Fort Wayne and surrounding territory. Practically all of the lodges in surrounding towns will send big delegations here for the meeting.

LIVESTOCK TOUR.

Prof. J. W. Schwaboi, Purdue university, spoke at several meetings Thursday in the course of a tour of the county in the interest of livestock. He was accompanied by a number of farmers in automobiles who inspected stock at various places. One of the most important inspections of stock took place at the county farm, ten miles from the city, where one of the best grade herds of cattle in the county was inspected.

A subject of particular interest which came up during the day was that at the Elmer Goheen home, where the value of soy beans as fertilizer was discussed.

ST. JOE DIKE IS TORN DOWN

COURT'S ORDERS ARE NOT HEEDED

Both Parties to Suit Said to Be Liable for Contempt.

The dike along the St. Joe river finished early Thursday morning in alleged violation of a restraining order of the superior court was early Friday morning torn down, also in alleged violation of the court's orders.

The question now arises as to the validity of an order of court and whether the men responsible for both jobs are liable for contempt. Whether both acts are within the law is a matter that will have to be determined later.

Facts leading up the finishing of the wall on Thursday morning and the destruction of it on Friday morning follow:

Last spring Mrs. Phoebe A. Hamilton secured an injunction against Levi McAfee and James Peddicord, local contractors, restraining them from further work on the dike along the St. Joe river. She claimed that the dike would shut off her land, as it was in front of her farm and formed a pocket there. Sometime later the contractors secured an injunction to prevent Mrs. Hamilton from tearing down the dike already finished.

Early Thursday morning, before Mrs. Hamilton could notify her attorneys, the dike was completed and in the afternoon the contractors were brought into superior court to answer as to why they should not be held in contempt. The contractors' attorneys declared their clients did not know that the dike had been completed, the same having been done without their knowledge or consent. Mrs. Hamilton's attorneys claimed that if this was true there is nothing to prevent her from destroying the portion of the dike finished on Thursday morning.

The testimony and arguments were heard before William C. Geake, judge pro tem., who at the conclusion of the same announced that he would take the matter under advisement, but that in the meantime the work that was done Thursday morning was not to be interferred with. An order to that effect was served on Mrs. Hamilton, it is said.

Judge Geake has gone to New York and it is not likely that any action will be taken until his return.

A reception was given by friends of John E. Benz at his home, 1216 Barthold street, Thursday evening, upon his return from a service of four years in the navy. Benz, who is an electrician, was honorably discharged and paid off from the U. S. S. Columbia and left New York City Tuesday night.

Benz enlisted here in 1913 and was sent to the Norfolk navy yard and later to the New York naval electrical school. He became a member of the crew of the U. S. battleship Louisiana and participated in the landing of sailors and marines at Vera Cruz in 1914.

A miniature ship of his own construction was a feature of Mr. Benz's home-coming party.

TWO SONS IN ARMY.

Frank P. Wilt's Contribution to Cause of Democracy.

Frank P. Wilt, of South Calhoun street, who has two sons in the army, had a letter from Robert who at the time of writing was stationed at Fort Crook, Neb., in the quartermaster's reserve corps, had been detailed to work in the kitchen. Mr Wilt wrote entertainingly of his work, rising at 4:30 and being employed in the preparation of food until 9:30 o'clock. A detail of the work mentioned was the paring of a bushel and a half of potatoes. "The latest dope about what we are going to do is that of going to Russia," wrote this Fort Wayne young man who is doing his part for his country. Another son, Edward Wilt, is connected with troop D, First Michigan, mobilized at Camp Grayling, Mich., where he is rated as a sharpshooter. His last letter said: "We are to start on Thursday (Sept. 13) for either Battle Creek, Mich., or Waco, Tex."

SKILLED MEN.

They Are Badly Needed, the War Department Announces.

Every day the local recruiting station is in receipt of urgent appeals from the war department for skilled craftsmen and railroad men in the engineer corps, also wireless and telegraph operators for immediate service with the United States expeditionary forces in France. Eighteen men enlisted Thursday at the local station and were sent to Fort Thomas, Ky., Thursday evening.

Writes of Experiences.

Mrs. Emma Dyer, 1304 Maud street, is in receipt of several interesting letters from her son, Paul Bauer, a Fort Wayne boy, who is with the flyers in the American escadrille of the French army. He writes of many thrilling experiences he has had in the air.

Offers Automobile.

I. M. Hallenstein, 701 West Berry street, is the first man to offer the use of his car to the advertising campaign which is being planned by the local naval recruiting officer, A. G. Kaftan. Hallenstein's son enlisted in the navy a short time ago and immediately upon reading in The Sentinel that the use of an automobile was needed he volunteered his for service.

FOOD PROBLEM IS A PARAMOUNT ISSUE

National Academy of Political and Social Science Discusses It.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—Many phases of the food supply of the world are under discussion at the two days' meeting of the American Association of Political and Social Science, which opened here today. Men and women actively interested in the present food problems and government officials charged with the duties of increasing and controlling the food supply are to read papers during the meetings.

Friedtjof Nansen, member of the Norwegian mission, now in this country, is expected to address the meeting tonight on the food situation in Norway and members of the Japanese misisons will also speak at one of the sessions before the meeting adjourns finally.

Among the papers read today was one prepared by Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the National Emergency Food Garden commission of Washington, in which he declared that $350,000,000 worth of produce has been raised this year in war gardens and that housewives have canned at least 460,000,000 jars of vegetables and fruits.

"Next year, profiting by the experiences of this year," Mr. Pack said, "housewives will can, I believe, millions more, and more will be needed for I wish to emphasize now the fact that there will be greater demand for food exportation next year than there has ever been before and we must fill the demand.

Relative Scarcity Exists.

Declaring that bread is second only to bullets, as a war essential, Charles J. Brand, chief of the bureau of markets of the department of agriculture, speaking before the academy today, said that a relative scarcity of food supplies already exists. The shortage is created partly, he said, by unfavorable crop conditions and partly by the changing of forces of production into forces of destruction. The outlook for the current year, however, is good and there need be no fear of famine so far as America's population is concerned, he added.

"Animal production has been increasing," continued the speaker, "but not enough to keep pace with the increased population. In cereals the supply must come largely from North America. The hazards of shipping and the long haul from Australia require too much tonnage to make shipments from Australia dependable.

None From India.

"For the same reasons considerable quantities of foods from India cannot be depended upon. Transportation conditions in Russia are likely to keep crops out of market even though they are available. The Argentine grain crop is small and the outlook for the next harvest is not encouraging. All these add to the responsibility of the United States and Canada.

"The agricultural interests of the United States are working out plans by which every community is to produce its own food and feed as far as practical and the production of non-perishable staples, such as cereals, is to be increased beyond the local needs in every locality where this could profitably be done. The staples recommended by the department of agriculture for increased plantings are wheat, rye, beans and rice. The country is looking for 15 per cent more wheat and a 22 per cent increase in rye."

DISTRICT NUMBER ONE NEXT BEFORE BOARD

Fort Wayne Excuses Will Again Be Heard by Conscript Commission.

Draft excuses from the Fort Wayne District No. 1 are being heard by the state board Friday afternoon. The work of passing on local exemption claims will engage the conscript commissioners until noon, on Saturday, it is expected. The Fort Wayne list is a rather lengthy one and varied appeals are asked.

Labor of disposing of appeal claims from Fayette county, of which Connersville is the county seat, held the state board until late Friday morning. More than forty claims were brought from the small district. Less than half of the appeals were allowed. Disposing of claims from the first city district of Elkhart engaged the board until later in the day.

LAST CLASS TO TAKE FINAL EXAMINATION

Work of Home Care of Sick Classes to Stop Until October.

Final examination of the last class in the home care of the sick will be given Friday evening at the Red Cross headquarters on East Berry street, by Miss Frances Ott, expert Red Cross nurse, who has been in charge of the work here since early last Summer. Miss Ott leaves Saturday to attend a number of state nurses' conventions in the west and will not return until October, when this feature of the Red Cross work in Fort Wayne will be resumed. Miss Ott expects to attend the state meetings in Wisconsin, Nebraska and Kansas.

The chairman of the extension department of the Red Cross addressed forty-five women of the South Baptist church, Thursday evening, on the making of garments and surgical dressings. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. William Nessle, on Organ avenue. The women decided to assist in both the making of garments and the surgical supplies.

A donation of $1 has been received from Mrs. J. Ferd Pietz, who resides on rural route 8 out of Fort Wayne. A total of $16.42 has been taken from the mite box in front of the headquarters since August 23.

ALTSCHUL COMPANY CLOSES 10-YEAR LEASE

Concern Will Occupy the Morris Building on East Columbia Street.

A deal was consummated Friday through Kilbourne & Perry whereby the Altschul company, dealers in fruit and produce, has taken a ten year lease on the Morris building at 215-217 East Columbia street. Announcement was made by the Altschul company. The amount of the lease is said to be about $23,000.

The building is 45x100, three stories and a basement and has a total of 22,000 square feet of floor space. Trackage on the Nickel Plate railroad also is provided.

The Altschul company is one of the largest wholesale fruit and produce concerns in Indiana, and its rapidly growing business has necessitated larger quarters. The entire building will be remodeled, cooling rooms for the storage of bananas will occupy the first floor, while the basement will be equipped with refrigerators for the handling of other fruits. President O. S. Altschul says that with the completion of the new quarters his company will more than double their present output, extending their territory and adding new salesmen both in and outside of the city.

WILL HONOR CONSTITUTION

Local High School Pupils to Be Reminded of Forefathers.

SUPERINTENDENT ASKS FOR HOLIDAY

"Monday, the Birthday of Our Organic Law, Significant," Writes Ellis

Fort Wayne high school will keep Constitution day, next Monday, by recalling the significance of the occasion to the pupils in the history classes and American literature classes. By this method the attention of all the boys anw girls in the high school will be drawn to the hour when that immortal document was born. Teachers in the higher classes of the grade schools will also speak of the occasion, which marks the 128th birthday of our national organic law.

Appeal from State Superintendent Horace Ellis, which was sent to heads of all Indiana schools, did not reach Fort Wayne in time to allow for a holiday keeping of Constitution day. It was deemed impractical to attempt a reorganization of all departments of the high school in order to allow for a general convocation, on Monday, after attention of local school officials had been called, on Friday, to the opportunity offered of imbueing the public school pupils with the spirit of the founders of American democracy.

The letter sent out by Horace Ellis, asking that some mention of the day be made, follows:

"Scholars of distinction and statesmen of renown, from all the nations, have long regarded the American constitution as a political document of first importance. Born, as it was, in times that 'tried men's souls,' it naturally proposed remedies for political ills from which earth's peoples had suffered through previous tendious centuries. It likewise recommended national policies in conformity with a new democracy which its framers clearly anticipated. Disregarding traditional conceptions of the state, the framers of the constitution—men of reflection and vision—sought a new understanding of political relationship, and solemnly aimed to establish those relationships in basic form—for themselves and their posterity.

Will Perpetuate Memory.

"Monday, Sept. 17, throughout the nation, has been set aside as Constitution day. Patriotic men and women, on that day, in every state of the union, will attempt, in various ways, to perpetuate the memories of those who gave us our constitution; to inspire among us emulation of their heroic virtues, and to re-awaken in the people of this day that pristine interest in the immortal document which they bequeathed to us, which was felt by men, the world around, when first its pages were read.

"To this end, I earnestly recommend that Indiana schools celebrate Constitution day. Let the great document be read and portions of it memorized. Let every Indiana school boy and girl, of proper understanding, recite the preamble. 'To provide for the common defense and promote the general welfare' ought to satisfy any halting mind that our entrance into the present war is its own justification. The American who would not fight today, casts aside the constiution, and repudiates its framers."

FIFTY CITY BOYS WORK ON FARMER'S ONIONS

Director McDonald Sends Lads to Relieve Labor Stringency.

As a preliminary to what will probably come later when work is given out under the direction of the United States Boys' Working Reserve, City Director A. L. McDonald has sent fifty boys from Fort Wayne to a farm near Columbia City to help take care of an onion crop which has been in danger of spoiling because of the recent frost.

The boys who are working on the farm now are receiving big money for that kind of labor. Mr. McDonald said Friday. They receive from $2.50 to $3.00 per day and transportation, which is considered very good wages. While the work will only last a short time, it is regarded as a good indication of what may be expected later when the Working Reserve is thoroughly organized.

Director McDonald is enthusiastic over the way boys of the city have responded to the first call for their labor. He says that it is a good proposition as a business matter for the boys in addition to the performance of a service to the country.

SOLDIERS' MONUMENT UNVEILED AT ANGOLA

Senator Watson, Principal Speaker, is Overcome by the Heat.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Angola, Ind., Sept. 14—The magnificent soldiers' monument erected by the people of Steuben county was unveiled here yesterday with fitting and appropriate ceremonies, attended by a crowd estimated at 10,000.

Senator James E. Watson, the principal speaker, was overcome by the heat after he had spoken about forty-five minutes, and was compelled to quit. He was taken to a hotel, where medical attention was immediately given to him. He was very much improved by evening and no serious consequences are anticipated.

Mayor Thomas J. Creel presided at the speakers' stand. Several musical numbers were rendered. The first speaker was Orlando O. Somers, of Kokomo, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. Other speakers were Newton W. Gilbert, former vice-governor of the Philippines, and representative from this district, and ex-Congressman Gardner.

"I want to congratulate the people of this county on erecting this beautiful monument, standing there as it does in memory of the men who went out in the dark days of the civil war and fought that the nation might live in peace, in security and happiness," he said in conclusion.

In connection with the unveiling of the monument took place the annual reunion of the Forty-fourth, Seventy-fourth and 100th regiments, which closed with a campfire last evening at the First Christian church.

RECIPES PAY COST.

Van Wert, O., Sept. 14.—Hazel McAlister, a 20-year-old girl from Ardmore, Okla., who was in Van Wert yesterday, has found a novel way of taking a trip across the country and paying her way as she goes. Miss McAlister wanted to make her home with her sister in Detroit, but not having the funds for the journey was temporarily at a loss to know how to get there. However, in her Oklahoma town she had established a reputation for making good candy and the idea struck her to make this pay her way to Detroit. She set to work and wrote down all of the recipes she could think of for all kinds of candy. A printer used this copy for 3,000 booklets. Armed with these booklets, which she sells in every town in which she stops for 10 cents each, Miss McAlister left Ardmore on Aug. 1 and expects to arrive in Detroit about next Thursday.

Men Held at Delphos Wanted in Virginia.

Delphos, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Three men arrested at Delphos a few days ago, after attacking Policeman Wagoner, and later held by Putnam county authorities when search of a house they had rented near Columbus Grove disclosed an extensive arsenal, have been identified. Identification was made by Frank Grant, Lima police chief, and as a result the men will be taken back to Virginia, where they are wanted for shooting up the town of New Market, Shenandoah county, and for other offenses. Following the attack on the Virginia town, six weeks ago, the men were surrounded in the hills by a sheriff's posse and besieged for two days. Finally a militia company was called out, but before the arrival the outlaws escaped to the hills and returned to New Market, where Paul Neff, one of the desperadoes, stole his wife and child out of the town under the eyes of the officers.

Accompanied by Dave and Mike Neff, brothers, and Luther Frey, all of whom had been in the shooting episode, he came to Ohio, purchased a high-powered automobile at Cleveland, and established headquarters near Columbus Grove. Police believe the quartet is responsible for several holdups and safe blowings in northwestern Ohio recently. Mike Neff escaped at Delphos and has not yet been caught. Among the things found in the house were six high-powered foreign revolvers. Tests at the Ottawa jail showed the guns would shoot through an eight-inch brick wall. Nearly a peck of cartridges in men's socks, were found under pillows in the bedrooms. The men had about $2,000 in cash on their persons and a receipt showing they had paid $1,650 cash for the automobile, which was purchased in Cleveland.

GONE UP IN SMOKE

One-half of your coal—and it did you no good. Hard luck that. But there is a way to fix it. Here's how:

That stove of yours has seen its best days. You need a new one. You know it—but you have let things drift along.

Meanwhile, you have been losing HALF of every hod of coal you have put in it.

Of course, you knew it, but you did not think of it that way. You know that half of every lump is gas. Fail to burn that gas and it is like throwing into the ditch half of every dollar you spend in coal.

Rather extravagant? Yes?

The ordinary stove made of a lot of separate castings leaks air. They leak air at the wrong place. Places you can not control.

RESULT—the best part of your coal—the 14,000 cubic feet of common illuminating gas that is in the average ton of $3.00 soft coal—goes up the flue unburned.

You have lost it. It has gone up in smoke.

Save that gas—mix it properly with air and you have the hottest kind of a blue flame. But there is only one way to do this—

Buy the only heater that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

It leaks no air.

This is the heater that mixes the gas and air and gives you all the heat in the coal.

This is the heater that burns any kind of coal and makes a ton of $3.00 soft coal do the work of $8.00 hard coal in a high priced base burner.

This is the heater that is a joy and comfort to the housewife. It makes no dirt or smoke in the house.

This is the heater that saves labor—fix it in the morning and at night and FORGET IT THE REST OF THE TIME.

This is the heater that gives a steady, constant heat from soft coal or lignite.

This is the heater that will hold its fire untouched for a day and a half.

This is the heater we sell you under a guarantee that is as "good as old wheat at the mill." Burns soft coal, lignite, slack, hard coal or wood.

It is just the kind of a heater you want. Come in and see it.

THE EAGLE IS ABOUT READY

Uncle Sam's Proud Bird of the Air is Stretching His Wings.

Assures That U. S. Will Do Share in Blinding the German Armies.

By BASIL M. MANLY.
Staff Special.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—How is Uncle Sam's aviation program progressing?

Are the signal corps and the aircraft production board co-operating to push the $640,000,000 airplane program at top speed so America will do her full share next summer in blinding the kaiser's troops.

The signal corps and the aircraft board are too busy to tell what they are doing. They are saying little, but sawing wood. The old Southern Railway building, in which all the aviation work is centered, gives a stronger impression of real efficiency than almost any other in Washington.

Progress is along four main lines: Construction of flying fields; training of aviators; manufacture of training planes; and development of fighting planes.

Completion of flying fields has been delayed by the diversion of men and materials to rush the cantonments; but with the release of cantonment labor the fields will bee ompleted almost as soon as originally designed. Twenty-one are now finished or under construction.

Aviators' training is proceeding with speed. The "ground schools," for recruits' preliminary and technical work, are located at eight of the great universities and technical schools. Nearly 1,000 graduates leaves for the flying field every month.

In addition hundreds are constantly being trained in private aviation schools by the airplane companies.

These numbers will be greatly increased before the end of the year. It is safe to say at least 10,000 American pilots will be ready to receive their final instruction in France by next summer.

All the manufacturing facilities readily available for airplane building are now concentrated on training planes, essential in producing fighting plane pilots, but the deliveries are still considerably behind the demand. Within thirty days, however, the output of training planes will be more than doubled, and from that time there should be no delay in obtaining them.

The most spectacular part of the aviation program is the production of the fighting machines. Here wonderful prograss has been made. An engine equal to the best Europe has evolved during three years of war experimentation has been produced, and tested in actual flight.

Actual manufacture of these United States standard motors has not yet begun, but the best engine plants in the country, incldng the makers of the country's most famous automobile engines, are now equipping their shops with the tools and fixtures necessary for producing thousands of these engines during the first half of 1918.

The production of these engines is an enormous job, as the work on each is equivalent to the work of a first-class mechanic for a year.

Airplane designers, assisted by the best British, French and Italian experts, are now producing designs for a standard American battleplane, embodying all the best foreign features. As the basis for experiments, the United States has imported foreign fighting machines, including German planes brought down and reconstructed.

Several of the most famous French and British battle pilots, including Navarre, Boyriven and Tabetau, of the French arm, are giving the United States the benefit of their wide experience.

Extraordinary steps are being taken to keep the designs from falling into the hands of German agents, and little information regarding even the progress of the work is available; but it has been so highly satisfactory as to insure a standard American battleplane equal to any.

Work is also being pushed on highly important auxiliary devices. There is, for example, a new aerial torpedo which greatly surpasses in accuracy and destructive power the German bombs which have wrought such havoc in England.

The first man to make an accurate map of the Japanese empire was a native named Ino Chuke, born in 1747. His early trade was that of a brewer, which he followed until 1800, amassing a fortune. He then asked permission to make a map of the island empire, at his own expense, and the task occupied his best efforts for eighteen years. He had thirteen assistants, and the results were incorporated in fourteen volumes.

DOCTORS WILL HELP BATTLE SORE THROAT

Enthusiastic About Plan to Make Test of All City Milk.

Physicians of the city are taking up the plan of battling the sore throat menace by attacking its germ resources with enthusiasm. Every doctor in Fort Wayne has expressed a hearty willingness to report the name of the dairy which is furnishing milk for the homes where sore throat develops.

"We are heart and soul in the campaign," commented one doctor when asked by Health Officer Josse to assist in the effort. Doctors realize that the place to combat ailment is before they start."

City health officers are arranging the laboratory, in connection with the city hall office, so as to be prepared to make careful bacteriological records of all milk samples taken, when the active campaign is waged.

All dairies, the names of which are reported by doctors who are caring for sore throat cases, will be visited by health officers in two weeks. Samples of the milk will be taken. If the milk is found to contain irritating germs the dairy will be forced to remodel its plant or quit business.

Preparations are under way to receive the large delegation from Fort Wayne on September 21. On this day the 17th battalion, which is largely composed of Fort Wayne men, will receive 237 men. The remainder of the men who are not from Fort Wayne come from Adams and Jay counties.

WILL DELIVER THE VESSELS

for private ownership, some for the government. Especially fast work is being done on the merchant ships as the government and the builders are anxious to increase British tonnage by building standard vessels, on which many are even now under construction, many having been launched.

These standard ships, builders agree, will greatly enlarge the output of tonnage. In the first place, it was pointed out, construction has been simplified; all parts of hulls and engines are standardized and may be used where first needed. Heretofore, for instance, 35 sizes of steel sections were used in the construction of ordinary ships. The standardization process had reduced this number to eight. So far all the standards, as they are called, have been named after flowers, the word war preceding the name of the flower, such as "War Rose," "War Thistle" and "War Poppy."

Distinguished by Names.

But for the name it would be impossible to tell that they are standards. They look just like the ordinary cargo-carrying vessels, not so much superstructure and wide decks upon which a heavy load may be carried. Their engines are powerful enough to drive them through the seas at a rate slightly over that of the ordinary cargo-carrier. And they all will be well armed when they set out to bring materials and supplies to the British Isles. It is quite possible that within the next few months every port in the United States will have seen one or more of these standards, for some of them are already in the water making ready to perform the duties that have been cut out for them.

The Germans during the early days of the war tried their best to destroy the yards of the Tees and the Tyne and the Wear. In one shop behind a mass of roaring machinery there is a big brass plate, which was placed there by the company in honor of more than a score of employes who have given up their lives on theh spot when a Zeppelin bomb crashed through the roof and exploded. On any river they will point out to the visitor where bombs from the Zeppelins have dropped before the British did away with the menace, at least in that section of the country. The Zeppelins do not even try to reach the yards any more. It would be suicide for them to make the attempt.

Stockholm foreign office knew of the affair.

Von Eckhardt's letter to the German chancellor recounting the extent to which Cronholm used Sweden's diplomatic privileges for Germany and his recommendation of an imperial decoration for him is regarded by allied diplomats here as further evidence of their charge that Germany has distributed decorations among the diplomats of friendly neutrals for such services probably in other instances.

Copies of the von Eckhardt letter have been forwarded by the state department to Ambassador Fletcher in Mexico and to Minister Morris at Stockholm, but neither has instructions to present them to the government to which he is accredited.

Dispatches to the department from The Hague dated yesterday, were that up to that time the disclosures made by Secretary Lansing of the manner in which Count Luxburg had used the Swedish minister in Argentine as a bearer of dispatches had not been published in Germany.

It is not expected that this government will take any further action except possibly to add to the story of intrigue by revealing more documents in its possession.

Details of the Incident.

A letter written March 8, 1916, by von Eckhardt, former German minister to Mexico, who was concerned in the notorious Zimmerman plot, was intercepted by American officials while en route to the imperial chancellor.

It discloses that Folke Cronholm, former Swedish charge at Mexico City, virtually was employed by the German legation to furnish information from the "hostile camp." The letter asks that the imperial government recognize the services of Cronholm by awarding him the "order of the crown of the second class."

Known for a Long Time.

This letter was written on March 8, 1916, and apparently has been in the possession of the American government for a long time. It was made public without comment, shedding light on the methods of another Swedish diplomatic representative in this hemisphere, at a time when the United States and her allies are awaiting with interest Sweden's objection to Argentina of the conduct of her minister at Buenos Aires, who transmitted the German "sink without leaving a trace" dispatches.

Baron Akerhielm, Swedish charge here, said last night in response to a quary that Cronholm was dismissed from the diplomatic service last January. He would not discuss the cause, but there was no intimation that it was in any way connected with Cronholm's relations with the Germans.

Von Eckhardt's Letter.

The department's translation of the von Eckhardt letter follows: "Imperial legation, Mexico, to His Excellency, the imperial chancellor:

Herr Folke Cronholm, the Swedish charge d'affaires here, since his arrival here, has not disguised his sympathy for Germany and has entered into close relations with this legation. He is the only diplomat through whom information from a hostile camp can be obtained. Moreover, he acts as intermediary for official diplomatic intercourse between this legation and your excellency. In the course of this he is obliged to go personally each time to the telegraph office, not seldom quite late at night in order to hand in the telegrams.

Herr Cronholm was formerly at Peking and at Tokio and was responsible for the preliminary arrangements which had to be made for the representation of his country in each case. Before he came out here he had been in charge of the consulate general at Hamburg. Herr Cronholm has not got a Swedish, but only a Chinese order at present. I venture to your excellency the advisability of laying before his majesty, the emperor, the name of Herr Cronholm with a view to the crown order of the second class being bestowed upon him.

It would perhaps be desirable in order not to excite the enemy's suspicion to treat with secrecy the matter of the issue of the patents until the end of the war, should the decision be favorable to my suggestion. This would mean that the matter would be communicated to no one but the recipient and his government and even to them only under the seal of secrecy; while the publication of the bestowal of the decoration would be postponed until the end of the war.

"I should be grateful to your excellency if I could be furnished with telegraphic news of the bestowal of the decoration, which I strongly recommend in view of the circumstances detailed above.

VON ECKHARDT.

Causes No Surprise.

Von Eckhardt's part in the latest chapter has been no surprise. This government has known of his activities long before the discovery of the evidence given by the Zimmerman note and since then his activities in propaganda have been watched carefully. That he was heading a big organization that had for its object not only propaganda but espionage has been suspected and those suspicions have been conveyed to the Mexican foreign office in the hope that it might take steps that would check any violation of neutrality.

MEXICO HEARS A RUMOR.

Mexico City, Sept. 14.—A report reached this city tonight that the state department at Washington had made public correspondence that the former Swedish charge here had acted as an intermediary for the German minister Eckhardt in a transfer of messages for the German diplomat. Mexican officials said they had heard nothing of the report.

Folke Cronholm was replaced as Swedish charge here on February 24 last and since that time has held no official position with the Swedish government so far as known.

that date and arrange all matters concerning transportation, which will relieve members of the local boards, who have been under some apprehension regarding conflicting arrangements. The appearance of Mr. Hall should facilitate matters for the boards, which have been confused over orders from the state conscript agent, Jesse Eschbach. The county district men and those from district No. 1 will have a special train over the Lake Erie on the same date. It was at first thought the men might all leave on the same train, but this does not coincide with the plans of the government.

Regarding Appeals.

Papers, evidence and affidavits not considered by the district boards will not be considered by the president in appeals taken to him, according to word received by the local board Friday from the state conscription agent. It is also pointed out that only claims for exemption on the ground of engagement in agricultural and industrial pursuits will be considered by the president.

Because of the amount of work before the state board appeal has been made by the various district boards, who are being held up, that additional help be furnished the state board.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

tor, is displaying a fighting spirit and according to the official statements is regaining some of the ground recently abandoned to the Germans in the Riga district. Several villages have been occupied, probably in a movement to consolidate the Russian positions and organize a defensive line which would be cohesive in case of attack.

Activity on the other battle fronts except the Austro-Italian, where Gen. Cadorna is still fighting determinedly for Monte San Gabriele, is not notable. The Germans are apparently more demonstrative in the Aisne district on the French front than elsewhere and Paris today reports an attack last night on French positions on the casemates plateau. This was repulsed in hand to hand fighting.

Berlin reports an action on the Aisne front which may be the one alluded to in the Paris communique. The German statement characterizes the operation as a raid by "shock" troops, which carried the raiders to the second French line, where heavy losses were inflicted on the French forces.

Again the Berlin statement mentions the artillery fire in Flanders increasing to the drumfire intensity which usually heralds an infantry attack. Evidently the Germans are expecting such an attack but they announce none has as yet been delivered. The German forces have been on the offensive in one section of the Flanders front however, and it is claimed by Berlin that on Wednesday night the British were expelled from the wooded district of Langemarck.

PUNISHMENT OF REBEL CHIEF IS GRAVE PROBLEM

awaited him, General Kruimoff, commander of the Korniloff troops which were sent against Petrograd, returned to his lodgings tonight and shot himself. The general's wounds were not fatal.

The graduates, one hundred and seventy-four in number, are members of the corps of reserve naval officers who have just completed a three months' intensive course of instruction to fit them for duty aboard ship or on shore.

"The impulse that has made possible our dapidly expanding navy," declared Mr. Daniels, "came from a speech made by President Wilson in St. Louis on the third day of February, 1916, when he declared 'there is no other navy in the world that has to cover so great an area of defense as the American navy, and it ought, in my judgment, be incomparably the most adequate navy in the world.'

"Following close upon the declaration of the president," continued Mr. Daniels, "congress took a radical and forward step on its naval program. It abandoned the plan of a yearly authorization of new ships and adopted a three year building program. Shortly thereafter it increased the naval appropriation from an average of former years of $145,000,000 to $312,888,000, and since the first of August, 1916, has appropriated for the support and increase of the navy $1,344,184,896, while estimates pending before congress carry an addition of nearly six hundred million dollers.

The aggregate appropriation in little more than a year to make effective and impregnable the nation's first arm of defense is, including pending estimates, nearly two billion dollars.

"I am publishing a military secret when I say that while the increase in personnel in the past few months has far surpassed the increase in material, there are three times as many ships in commission today as there were six months ago; and that ships and more ships, from enlarged and ever enlarging ship yards are coming to afford a place on naval craft to the thousands of patriotic young men who have crowded into the army since the call."

SITUATION IMPROVES.

Petrograd, Sept. 14.—M. Soskice, private secretary to Premier Kerensky, told the Associated Press today that "the situation shows steady improvement." Continuing he said: "Gen. Korniloff has not surrendered, but he is quite prepared to do so and is in a position of complete powerlessness. We have just received an offer of surrender from twelve companies of Korniloff troops, who say they have been deceived and Gen. Kalendines, who, with his Don Cossacks, began a menacing movement against the government, has been checked. We expect that he soon will be taken.

A Ptrograd dispatch to Reuter's, Ltd., under date of Sept. 14, announced the arrest at Rostov of Gen. Kaledines.

DESERT THE REBELLION.

Petrograd, Sept. 14.—Further evidence of defection in the ranks of the Cossacks from Gen. Korniloff is given by the arrest near Luga of Gen. Krymoff. The council of soldiers' and workmen's delegates sent a deputation to the troops to explain the situation, whereupon the Cossacks declared they were ready to arrest their commander, provided an order was received from Premier Kerensky. The council telegraphed to the premier, who ordered Gen. Krymoff's arrest. Gen Krymoff submitted without resistance and was brought to Petrograd. The Cossacks of this command have joined the government forces in the Luga garrison.

Railway service between Luga and Petrograd has been resumed.

WITH KORNILOFF'S "SAVAGES."

Village of Popovo, near Tsarskoe Selo, Russia, Thursday, Sept. 13.—Having obtained the only permit issued by the chief of the Petrograd district staff to a newspaper man since the beginning of Gen. Korniloff's revolt, the Associated Press correspondent early this morning arrived at this village, which is the headquarters of the staff of a rifle regiment of the guard which, with two other rifle regiments, is engaged in holding the front opposite the famous "savage" division. The situation here is as follows:

Although danger of an armed struggle is now excluded, the "savage" division still is not agreed to surrender on the terms granted by the provisional government last night, but it has formally pledged itself not to attack the Kerensky forces. With its artillery and machine gun detachments the division, which is composed of tribesmen from the Caucasus, it is quartered peacefully in villages south of this place without entrenchments, outposts, sentries or reconnoitering detachments. Passing within forty yards of the Popovo church are the government lines, but the Kerensky forces also have no intention of attacking, as negotiations are proceeding and there is a prospect of a settlement being reached before nightfall. Russian emissaries and officers constantly are passing into the camp of the Caucasians carrying proclamations signed by Gen. Filopenko, the supreme commander, advising the troops of the "savage" division to abandon their officers and to march to Tsarskoe-Selo. Likewise, tribesmen from the division all the time are coming into Popovo with plans for a settlement.

Acknowledged Their Plight.

When the correspondent arrived he found one such emissary, a Russian serving in the artillery of the division, who announced that Caucasians knew their position was hoepless as the artillery and machine gun units which are largely Russian, are pro-government, and without them the cavalrymen would be helpless.

During the conversation a tribesman of the Christianized Albasets race named Karadise was brought in. He will be held as a hostage by the government authorities until their negotiators with the Caucasians have safely returned.

Karaides presented a striking picture. He was dressed in a long frieze captan, a shaggy sheepskin biernmeus and lambskin busy, was armed with a broad, bone-handled silver inlaid dagger, and wore a necklace of black and white horsehair rings. He assured the correspondent that the hundreds of his tribesmen in the division were entirely peaceful and as proof of this he pointed to four small scars on his face saying he got them in childhood as his parents, who were great local dignitaries, gave all their male children daggers as playthings when they reached the age of two.

Pledged Selves Not to Fire.

The "savage" division yesterday sent a message to the government saying that though they might obey the order to march against the Kerensky troops, they would not fire a shot. With permission of the chief of staff at Tsarskoe-Selo, the correspondent crossed to the village of Tsarskd-Slavinsky, at which place and at a neighboring cotton factory a part of the tribesmen were encamped. Near the village was found a party of Ingushes, notorious as robbers in the days of the Roman empire, peacefully helping a Finnish washerwoman to carry clothes to her house. There were a few officers about who were busy finding better quarters for their men. Some Ingushes were galloping about, others were asleep. Here, mounted on tiny horses, were met a detachment of Kaberdinians with whom, as they know Russian, the correspondent could speak. They boasted they were the most reasonable and best educated tribesmen in the division.

Loyal to Korniloff.

At the cotton factory the correspondent met a party of Abreks whom even the gerce Ingushes denounce as bloodthirsty. The Abreks said the commander of the division, Gen. Bagration, was at a village far to the rear and that their commander was still loyal to Gen. Korniloff and preferred death to shame. The tribesmen added that the real obstacle to their surrender was that their officers were reluctant, and they being devoted to Korniloff and feared punishment while the rank and file was devoted to them and would defend them until death. As an instance of this a Kaberdian escort accompanied their officer negotiator to Popovo, refused to leave him alone in the council chamber, insisting upon entering the room, and all the time they kept their hands on the hilts of their yataguns, which they carry instead of swords.

RUSSIAN CABINET CHANGES.

London, Sept. 14.—The Petrograd correspondent of Reuters states that Vice Premier Nekrasoff has informed the press that he and M. Trestchenko, minister of foreign affairs, have decided to leave their posts in the cabinet, considering that their participation in the government narrowed their political horizon and being only business ministers without party support they did not possess sufficient strength in the cabinet. The vice premier also announced the withdrawal from the cabinet of M. Hieschenoff, minister of supplies.

Other changes in the cabinet include the retirement of M. Tchernoff, minister of agriculture, who will be replaced by M. Avskentieff, present minister of the interior, who in turn will be succeeded by M. Kischkin, a constitutional democrat. M. Kischkin enters the cabinet unconditionally.

CORN PRICES SHOW RENEWED STRENGTH

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Corn prices rallied today after an early decline. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅛ to ⅜c lower with Dec. at 119¾ to 119¾ and May at 116½ to 116¾, were followed by upturns to well above yesterday's finish.

Oats duplicated the action of corn.

Farmers appeared to be sending wheat to Minneapolis more liberally.

The movement in winter wheat sections remained disappointing.

On the other hand latest estimates of the spring crop in the Dakotas and Minnesota put the total at 6,000,000 bushels less than was suggested by the government September report. Heavy buying lard put firmness into the provision list.

Peace talk accompanied by profit taking, brought about a sharp setback in corn. The close was weak, ⅝c to 1¼c net lower at $1.18¾ to $1.18⅞ December and $16.16¼ to $1.16⅜ May.

LOCAL MARKETS

PRICES REMAIN ABOUT THE SAME AT THURSDAY

Flour Shortage is Feared if Farmers Refuse to Sell Their Wheat.

While corn is still high the expected increase over Thursday did not materialize, two loads being sold for $2.00 to $2.05, the top price being 3c less than yesterday's quotations. Hay, however, advanced another dollar, being quoted at $18 as the top price. Other prices remain practically the same.

Although the cool weather of the last few days is of doubtful benefit to many growing things and of positive injury to others, dealers say that it is excellent for oysters, both for growth and packing, and the supply is fully normal for this time in the year. Much trouble is encountered, however, in the shipments owing to the heavy use of the railroads at present for the movement of troops, orders coming in a half day to a day later than the usual time required for shipping. Fort Wayne dealers expect the Saginaw bay shipments to begin any day now.

Fear Flour Shortage.

A shortage of flour is feared as a result of farmers refusing to sell their wheat crop at present prices. They are waiting for the government limit of $2.20, which local dealers have not as yet offered. The situation has not as yet reached the serious state, but if present conditions continue it will. One miller stated Friday that at the rate the wheat is coming into the mills now his mill could not continue longer than a month.

BILLS AGAINST ONION COMBINE SUSTAINED

Boston, Sept. 14.—An indictment charging monopoly, returned several months ago by the federal grand jury againstthe National Onion association, was sustained by Judge Morton in district court today, while another of the charges against the onion men, alleging unlawful combination and conspiracy in restraint of trade was thrown out on a technicality. The National Onion association deals in what are known as "northern onions," the principal supply, after the early southern supply has been consumed.

COLONEL ROOSEVELT FLIES IN ARMY PLANE

Begs Permission to Soar With Instructor at the Mineola Grounds.

Mineola, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt gained yesterday the distinction of being the first civilian to make a flight in an airplane propelled by the new military motor invented for use of the government in the war. The flight was made from the Hempstead aviation field and for a half hour the machine, piloted by H. J. Blakely, an army instructor, attained a speed varying from 90 to 110 miles an hour, reaching an altitude of 5,000 feet. The colonel arrived at the aviation field just as Blakely was "tuning up" the liberty motor for a test gight and he immediately asked to be permitted to accompany the instructor. Blakely informed Col. Roosevelt that he had not yet had an opportunity to test the motor and advised him to wait until he had made a trial flight and that then he would be glad to take him along as a passenger. The colonel assured Blakely he was not a novice at flying, having flown with Archbald Hoxsey at St. Louis seven years ago.

"You needn't make a trial flight without me," the colonel told Blakely, "I am willing to go along unless you object."

The former president climbed into the airplane and they were off. They flew over Camp Mills, where the rainbow division is assembled and to Garden City, where Blakely executed a "spiral" for the benefit of army and navy officers and their families, who were watching the flight.

When the airplane landed the colonel patted Blakely on the back and told him how immensely he had enjoyed the experience.

ROBISON PARK EMPLOYES HONOR MGR. WILLIAMS

Because Manager Williams' birthday occurs in the rush and work of the park's special days, he requested two years ago that all observance of the event thereafter by the park employes be abandoned. They would not consent to that, and since that time, the celebration of his birthday has been set ahead until the close of the park season. Yesterday the regular park employes set their tables in picnic fashion under the big trees as do the thousands of picnickers who annually visit the popular resort. It was the annual complimentary chicken dinner to the park manager.

The employes presented a magnificent ivory set to Mr. Williams as an expression of their love and esteem for him. The set contained shaving mirrors, military brushes, comb and tray with brushes of different sizes for hats and clothing, all in sheer ivory. A big bouquet of roses containing one rose for each year of his life, with the birthday cake, was also presented to the park manager. He was so overcome with the gifts that he responded with great difficulty. At the roll call, each employe gave a short talk in which each one gave his or her impression of Robison park and of the events of the 1917 season. Manager Williams presented a gift to each one in turn, in celebration of his birthday. In responding to his name at the roll call, he said:

"Another year of work and association has come and gone. Another page has been written in the history of Robison park. You, who have been here—heart and hand with me—know with what labor that page has been written. With your hearty co-operation, your willingness to serve and your long hours of service, you have made the year a success. Not only has Robison park held its own as Fort Wayne's unique playground, but it has added new laurels to its past successes. As we meet here today, perhaps for the last time together, I want you to know how deeply I appreciate your loyalty during the past summer. When the work was hard, you, my friends, always stood near with outstretched hands ready and willing to help carry the burden. When the hours were long and the duty manifold, you were always willing and eager to meet and fulfill the day's tasks. For your faithfulness and loyalty, I thank you. For your many hours of patient service, I am indeed grateful. For your friendship—deep and true—my mind knows no words able to express my appreciation. Even though the coming days bring a breaking of our band, with each one going a different way, still our friendship will live on, a potent memory of happiness and cheer. One of the greatest pleasures accruing from any successful season is that I may present a gift worth while to each one of you, my faithful workers. The season just closing makes these gifts possible. They come from my heart, not as a measure of my appreciation of you, but as a parting remembrance—a farewell expression of my friendship for you—my loyal co-workers and friends."

While the annual affair is one of pleasure and of gladness, it is also one of regrets and tears. The little band of regular employes passes the season in close relationship. Deep and lasting friendships are always formed. On this last day together, good-bys are said, as each one goes a different way and the partings are often hard.

PLAN TO CONSERVE FUEL IN THE STATE

Council of Defense Has Its Eyes on Discarded Railroad Ties.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—Plans for conserving the fuel value of used railroad ties, through county councils of defense, the United States Boys' Working Reserve and the state board of forestry, were indorsed at the meeting of the Indiana State Council of Defense Wednesday.

The report of the special committee, consisting of Frank Wampler, J. L. Keach and A. B. Storms, on the report of the Merchants' Economy committee "indorsed the spirit of the report and all the economies recommended" and expressed the belief that closer co-operation between consumers and retailers will effect important economies, was approved and placed in the record.

In the absence of Dr. Charles P. Emerson, Dr. John Oliver reporting for the medical section of the council, indorsed the resolution presented by Charles Fox, recommending to the war department the exemption of dental students and placing them on the same footing as medical students in reference to conscription for the federal army. Mr. Straus offered a resolution that dentists may be exempted from the draft so that they may be eligible for commissions the same as members of the medical reserve. This resolution was unanimously adopted.

A communication from John Northways, representing the secretaries of Indana chambers of commerce, suggesting that these bodies be utilized in the collection of a fund totalling $2 for each man in the army, for a comfort, mess and company fund, to be collected by October 1, and distributed to the army units through the state council of defense, was referred to the finance committee of the council.

Louis J. Bailey, director of the Indiana Library War council presented his plan for raising the states' share of a million dollar fund wanted and received the indorsement of the council.

Will J. Freeman stated that he desired to "again sound an alarm over the present coal shortage." He suggested that the attention of the transportation committee be directed to the shortage of cars and said open top cars are being used for the transportation of building material and merchandise, to the further jeopardy of public interest, in the prompt movement of coal. He said there has not been more than a 71 per cent. supply of coal cars in Indiana for the past four or five months and the seriousness of the situation is increasing rapidly with the approach of the "pinch of cold weather."

Prof. G. I. Christie, of the food committee, reported that the council's tent at the state fair had resulted in a splendid manifestation of interest among the women, and the enrollment of many who might not otherwise have been reached. He added that exhibits had proved of interest and are to be used in Louisville and Chicago.

Prof. Christie also reported the organization of better live stock clubs over the state, and a plan whereby, through the co-operation of the Indianapolis stock yards, manw of the 600 cows marketed there every month, may be sent back to Indiana farms rather than butchered for beef. Prof. Christie will conduct an experiment and demonstration for the education of stock men at the Indianapolis stock yards, the operation of which will co-operate in the development of three car loads of cattle which will be tested with silage, patent and other feeds.

From less than half an acre of strawberries Lewis Gordon, of Lyndonville, Vt., picked 1,800 baskets of the berries.

LETTER WRITING.

What a nice looking cob web! Yes, it is. The spider wasn't interrupted in his web making. Why? Can't you make out, under the coat of dust, the letter writing material?

Oh, yeh! Well, that explains it. A safe place for a spider to spin a web is over letter writing material.

Well, how is it the mailmen are kept busy? How? Why they're carrying those letters that say, "Why don't you write me more often?" That's what 50 per cent. of the people write in 50 per cent. of the letters to their friends that write back the same thing to them.

The other 50 per cent. of the letters read, "Why don't you pay your bills?"

Here is the big reason why there isn't much letter writing: Because people don't know just what to write about except the weather and nearly all the papers print the country's weather reports anyhow.

Pesky Bed Bugs

A MILLION BED BUGS. Just think, a 25c package of the new golden chemical P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils' Quietus), is enough to make a quart and enough to kill a million bed bugs, no matter how large they may be, where they come from, their age, color or sex, and the same tme leaves a coating on their eggs and prevents hatching. CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 25c package makes a quart of P. D. Q., and will go farther than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence by offering you something else. Insist on what you ask for, then you'll have what doctors prescribe.

Girls! Try This on Your Hands! Make a Lemon Beauty Cream

Juice of lemons clears, softens and whitens the skin. Prepare a wonderful complexion lotion for a few cents!

"It seems that every girl and woman here is making lemon lotion," says a well-known druggist, and the reason is because at the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream they can prepare a full quarter pint of a creamy lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman has known for years that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness, and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothener and beautifier.

Try it, girls! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy or toilet counter and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and beauty of any skin. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 16

THE FIERY FURNACE.

LESSON TEXT—Daniel 3.

GOLDEN TEXT—When hou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shalt the flame kindle upon thee.—Isaiah 43:2.

I. The Occasion (vv. 1-7). The fact that God said to Nebuchadnezzar, "Thou art this head of gold" (2:38) was too much for him. Though he appeared to have been deeply impressed with Daniel's God, his pride got the better of him. As he grew great and became conscious of it, he grew proud. This moved him to set up a colossal idol of gold in the Plain of Dura to be worshiped by all the people of his realm. It was an attempt at self-deification. It combined with it a political move, the object of which was to weld together the various kingdoms and peoples into one homogeneous body. He inaugurated a religious festival, and called upon all the people to worship the image which he set up. He backed this demand by civil authority. The penalty for refusal to bow down and worship the image was to be cast into the burning fiery furnace. Imposing images are set up in many places, and men and women are being called upon to bow down and worship them. Some of these images are money, fashion, scholarship, worldly ambition, pleasures, etc., and woe be to those who will not worship before them.

II. The Behavior of the Hebrews (vv. 8-18). (1) the accusation by the envious spies (vv. 8-12).

Daniel's three friends had been promoted to positions of honor and responsibility. Certain Chaldeans whose envy had been excited by the promotion of these Hebrews, sought occasion against them. This they found when the Hebrews would not bow down to and worship the image. Envious eyes are always watching God's faithful ones. Had these Chaldeans been faithfully worshiping, they would not have seen the Hebrews.

(2) The king's rage (vv. 13-15).

He calls the Hebrews before him, questions them and gives them another chance. The offense was not serious—they were defying the authority of the one who had honored them in their promotion; it savored of ingratitude. After closely questioning them he gave them another opportunity to consider their position before consigning them to the fire. His supreme mistake was in the challenge he made to the God of the Hebrews. He seems to have forgotten entirely the confession he had made with reference to God (2:47).

(3) The courageous reply of the faithful Hebrews (vv. 16-18).

They replied without passion or fear. The peace of God filled their hearts. Their behavior is an expression of triumphant faith. "We are not careful to answer thee in this matter. If it be so, our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace, and he will deliver us out of thine hand, O king. But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up." They courageously showed their contempt for death. They were not afraid to die, but were afraid to sin against God. They knew that to bow down before this image was to disobey and dishonor God. While they did not know what God would do, in the premises they knew that he would do the right thing. These Hebrews were far away from home, exposed to the most severe temptation, but they saw their duty clearly set before them. God's law plainly settled it for them. They did not try to find an excuse to evade their duty, and seeing the way clearly they acted accordingly.

III. The Glorious Issue (vv. 19-30).

(1) The harmless furnace (vv. 19-25).

The infuriated king ordered the heat of the furnace to be intensified, his most mighty men to bind the Hebrews and fling them into the fire. Though the heat was so intense that the soldiers who cast them into the furnace were slain, the Hebrews were seen walking loose in the fire without any hurt. Equally astounding was the fact that a fourth one was seen with them.

(2) The convinced king (vv. 26-28).

The spectacle was so wonderful that the king called the Hebrews together out of the fire. They came forth unharmed, for the fire had no power over their bodies; not even a hair of their heads was singed, their coats changed, nor the smell of fire upon them (v. 27).

(3) The king's decree (v. 29).

This was most foolish and wicked. Even a king has no right to kill people for not worshiping God.

(4) Promotion of the Hebrews (v. 30).

Their fidelity in this trying ordeal resulted in their promotion instead of downfall. May we learn from this that:

(a) God alone is Lord of the conscience. One's faith and worship should be determined by the individual before his God. No church, king or ruler has a right to interfere.

(b) We should meet religious intolerance by being obedient to God rather than man.

(c) God will support those who are faithful.

(d) We should prepare for fiery trials, and through them all be true to our conscience.

Tablets.

"I have a high opinion of Chamberlain's Tablets for biliousness and as a laxative," writes Mrs. C. A. Barnes, Charleston, Ill. "I have never found anything so mild and pleasant to use. My brother has also used these tablets with satisfactory results."—Advertisements.

A Plant that Grows with the Times
About five years ago we conceived a tremendous idea—the idea of giving to America a soft drink such as it had never before tasted. A new kind of soft drink in flavor and in its cereal ingredients—a soft drink that should be nutritious as well as delicious—pure and wholesome.
The idea took root—it was cultivated, experimented with, tended with all the care and skill that science could apply. For four years this work went on and then finally about a year ago there sprang into being, Bevo—the drink triumphant.
Less than two months after its introduction Bevo had leaped into such popularity that even our already large facilities could not supply the demand.
The result is that soon will be completed (built by public demand) the largest plant of its kind in the world—daily bottling capacity, 2,000,000 bottles.
You will find Bevo at all places where refreshing beverages are sold. Bevo is sold in bottles only—and is bottled exclusively by

He Hitches Up Food Dynamo Hoover to Cogwheels of Food Regulation.

BY HARRY B. HUNT.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Millions of words have been written describing Herbert C. Hoover's work as food administrator—how yesterday he took over the grain business, how today he is telling the meat packers and sugar refiners what to do, and how tomorrow he will solve the canned goods or dairy products problems.

Reading all this the average man gets the impression either Hoover is a superman, who stops neither to eat nor sleep, but crowds forty-eight hours of work into each twenty-four, or that he handles his problems only superficially.

How else can he do it all

The answer is—Mark L. Requa.

Requa is the connecting link between Hoover, the food administration dynamo, and the food organization gear wheels.

One revolution of Hoover's mind, transmitted through Requa, may set spinning a dozen different cogs of the food control machine, each performing a wholly different function.

Requa, like Hoover, is an engineer—a mining engineer. Also he's a farmer, bank director and tax expert. His varied interests stood him in good stead in organizing the "division of commercial relations" of the food administration, of which Hoover made him chief, because his is the branch that gets right down to the actual regulation and distribution of food commodities. So a thorough knowledge of business organization, finance and production was essential.

While Hoover decides policy, Requa directs the specific acts which put policies into effect. He must locate foodstuff shortages and surpluses and arrange better distribution. He must locate and break up hoarding. He must keep his finger at all times on the supply and demand of all foods from beans to porterhouse. Wheat alone, handled in a special way, is not under his authority.

To handle this immense jjob Requa has enlisted a corps of twenty-one experts.

Theodore F. Whitmarsh, president of the National Wholesale Grocers' association, and Dana T. Ackerly, interstate commerce authority, are in charge of distribution. Edward Chambers, traffic manager of the Santa Fe, and Fred S. Brooks, manager of the Chicago stock yards transport, handle transportation.

George M. Rolph, formerly manager of the California & Hawaiian Sugar Refining company, will control sugar; Lou D. Sweet, Colorado farmer, and president of the Potato Association of America, potatoes; George E. Haskell, former president of the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers, all dairy products; Edward C. Lasater, Texas cattleman, live stock shipments.

Control of canned goods will be undertaken by a committee of six, headed by Charles H. Bentley, former sales manager of the California Packing corporation. Assisting him are Thomas Roberts, of Philadelphia; Dr. J. T. Dorrance, Camden, N. J.; Henry Burden, president National Canners' association; S. J. Scudder, New York, and F. E. Gorrell, Washington, all active in the canning industry.

Fruits and vegetables will be supervised by G. H. Powell, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange; Edgar Hearty, vice president of the National League of Commission Merchants, and H. J. Eustace, professor of horticulture in Michigan Agricultural college.

Kenneath Fowler, New York, is in charge of fish regulation; Duncan McDuffie, Berkeley, Cal., of wholesale bread and baking problems, and John Bowman and A. S. Crockett, New York, of hotel and restaurant regulations.

These twenty-one men are the cogs through which Requa, connecting link with Hoover, will regulate and distribute food. All are volunteer workers, and have detached themselves from business connections that might influence. Their pay will be $1 per year.

If Requa can transmit to these men the full power of the Hoover dynamo, things should soon begin to hum. Appearances are in his favor. He is alert, keen faced, bald-headed, in his forties, of medium heighth and stock. He decides quickly and moves instantly to put his decision into effect. If he is driving his auto thirty miles an hour, for instance, and decides to turn the corner just ahead, he doesn't slow down for the curve. He just lifts the car around the corner by a sudden firm twist of the wheel and keeps on his way.

Insurance Men Want to Make it 50-50 on Championship Series

The second game for the city championship between the challengers and the present title holders, Bade Myers' Cubs and the Lincoln Life outfit piloted by Mart Cleary, will be played off Sunday at League park. As the matter now stands the challengers have one "horse" on the insurance men and have a big advantage in winning the final windup and to overcome this the Lincoln Lifes will do everything in their power to win and retain their right to the championship of Fort Wayne.

Batteries for the next game were announced today. They are: Lincoln Life, Wagner and Hines; for the Cubs, Seitz and Liable. A victory for the Lifers will put the things on an even basis and take another game to decide the series while the honors will undoubtedly be clinched if the Cubs win the second game.

No "ringers" are being brought in by either club, both standing pat on their present lineups.

BRAVES AND GIANTS DIVIDE TWIN BILL

Kauff's Great Stop Saves Game for National Champs.

Boston, Sept. 14.—The best the champion Giants could do with the Braves was to get an even break in a double-header. The local outfit pounded Rube Benton in the first game and won 7 to 0. Rudolph was hit safely only five times. In the second game Demaree and Nehf had a great pitching duel. The Boston southpaw held the Giants to three hits, but two of them were triples and both meant runs. A great stop by Kauff in the ninth held a whack by Konetchy to a single and saved the game. Score:

Second game:

Phillies Split Even.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—The Phillies and Dodgers split even in yesterday's double-header. The Phillies won the first game in the eleventh inning when Pfeffer weakened and two hits and a sacrifice put over the only run of the game. In the second game the Dodgers knocked Fittery out of the box in the fifth and won 7 to 3. The scores:

Second game:

Brooklyn	0 0 0 0 5 0 0 0 2—7
Philadelphia	0 2 1 0 0 0 0 0 0—3

THE PENNANT RACES.

The Giants still lead by 19½ games in the National league, New York splitting even with Boston, while the Phillies were doing likewise with the Dodgers. To clinch the pennant the Giants need but half of their remaining 18 games even if the Phillies should win all of their 19 contests. The standing then would be:

Team.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Giants	96	58	.623
Phillies	95	59	.617

In the American league the Red Sox lost some more ground when the Yankees defeated them, and the White Sox now lead by eight games. To win, Chicago needs but ten more victories of its remaining 16 games, even though Boston wins all its 19 contests. Boston has one game with the Athletics which cannot be played. The standing then would be:

Team.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Chicago	101	52	.660
Boston	100	53	.654

SPORT CHATTER

Jack Curley has at last invented a perpetual motion machine. He uses it alternately on his typewriter and his mouth.

Cleveland is cussing Brick Owens, which makes it unanimous.

A Pittsburg amateur team has a first baseman 69 years old. Joe Cantillon had better look to his laurels.

Joe Stecher has canned his manager. Any alibi is better than none.

Carl Morris compained that the Canton promoters tried to short change him out of his money. Which is open to argument. Those at ringside say if Morris had been paid what was due him he would have owed the promoters money.

WOLVERINES WIN.

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 14.—Grand Rapids, champions of the Central league, yesterday won the deciding game of the post-season series with Peoria, the winner of the Three-I pennant, by a score of 8 to 2. Peoria won the first three games and Grand Rapids the last four. Carpenter, who won yesterday's game, pitched in three of the games won by Grand Rapids. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Peoria	0 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 1—2	7	5

Batteries — Carpenter and Devormer; Willis and O'Farrell.

Capt. Jack Wulf, of Milwaukee, Wis., (with sombrero), winner of the 1916 Grand American trapshooting handicap, congratulating Charles H. Larson, of Waupaca, Wis., immediately after Larson defeated Mark Arie, of Thomsboro, Ill., in the shoot-off for the 1917 Grand American handicap.

ALL BUT EARS OFF HIS ARMOR PLATE

Ray Schalk Caught In Action by Artist Grove at Chicago.

(By Paul Purman).

Who is the most valuable man to his club in the American league?

I asked this question of an American league umpire, who for obvious reasons shall remain unnamed.

"Ray Schalk beyond any question," he told me.

"Without Schalk the White Sox are a different club, they raggedly, the pitchers work erratically. Outside of his mechanical playing Schalk is a wonderful influence on a ball club."

But on top of this Schalk is a wonderful ball player, the brainiest, fastest catcher in baseball today.

There was a little incident at the Chicago park a few days ago which illustrates how he fields his position.

Schalk has just missed a high foul ball which twisted and spiraled in the air.

"I have watched almost every game he played in this park for years," commented a fan in one of the boxes. This is the first time I ever saw Schalk drop a foul ball."

It wasn't the first time Schalk had dropped a foul, of course, but the occasions have been so rare that it attracted more attention than if many other catchers had dropped half a dozen during the game.

Schalk, by the way, started out to be a linotype operator and was an assistant around a printing shop until he found a minor league baseball was more lucrative.

He started playing down at Taylorville, Ill., but lasted only about half a season in that league, being sold to Milwaukee. It took Ray less than a year to show his calibre in class AA baseball and he was purchased by Comiskey at a price said to have been $17,000, more than has ever been paid for another catcher.

SENATORS TAKE CLOSE ONE FROM MACKS

Red Sox Are Beaten by Yankees as Chances Slip.

Washington Wins, 2—1.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Galia, for the Nationals, won a pitchers' battle from Myers, of the Athletics, here yesterday 2 to 1 in ten innings. Score:

Boston Gets Jolt.

New York, Sept. 14.—The New York Yankees gave Boston's lingering pennant hopes another jolt here yesterday, winning 13 to 7. It was an old-fashioned slugging bee in which New York punished three Boston pitchers for seventeen hits, including two home runs, a triple and three doubles. Miller and Gedeon collided going after Cady's fly in the second inning, both players being temporarily knocked out. The score:

Boston	2 2 0 0 0 0 0 3 0—7

IOWA HAS BRIGHT FOOTBALL PROSPECTS

Return of Captain Davis is Expected at Hawkeye School.

Iowa City, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Despite the inroads on athletes made by the war, prospects for a successful football season at the University of Iowa are declared to be promising. Coach Howard Jones is hard at work getting a line on gridiron timber available.

One thing that has sent Hawkeye hopes sky rocketing is the promised return of Captain-elect Davis after reports that he would not be back to pilot the team. Davis tied the drop kicking record of the country last year, and Iowans are expecting his trusty right toe to aid materially in landing victories this season.

Then there are Jenkins, who made the longest run last season for the Iowans, and Guido Wyland, another veteran, reported ready to don the moleskins, while Reid, 1916 end, may be back. Elder is again eligible; Kelly and Hanselman, guards of last season, are good prospects, and it is likely Van Pelt will turn out for full back again.

Greenwood, Hamilton, Brown and McNichols, freshmen last year, are within the range of first string material, which includes several other 1916 freshmen and former varsity performers of no mean ability.

Wholesale shifting of old men to new positions is looked for, and Coach Jones is busy planning an attack which for surprises is expected to shade the tactics of the shell rutted battlefields of Europe.

Many old men have answered the call to the colors. Becker, choice of some experts for all-American tackle last year, is said to be in training in France, preparatory to tearing holes in the German line; Reims and Smith are plugging for commissions at Fort Snelling; "Chick" Laun will be at the performing end of a bugle in the marine corps, and several other promising athletes have joined the fighting forces in other spheres of endeavor.

The Iowa schedule contains practically the same games as last year, except that Minnesota has been substituted for South Dakota. Four games will be played at Iowa City and three on enemy territory.

MRS. LETTS IS GOLF CHAMPION

Although a little known, Mrs. Franklin C. Letts, of Cincinnati, who won the women's western championship over the links of the Flossmoor Country club, has long been an ardent devotee of sport. She defeated Miss Elaine Rosenthal, the 1915 title holder, in the final round, just as she did in last year's tournament.

SAINTS FINALLY GO INTO FIRST PLACE

Indians Idle While Runners-Up Hand Colonels a Beating.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 14.—Dan Griner pitched St. Paul into first place in the race for the American association penant race here yesterday when he defeated Louisville 5 to 1, Indianapolis being idle. It is the first time since last spring that the Indians have been out of first place. The Colonels still have a big chance to get up "over the top" in the final standing. The score:

Hens Win.

Toledo, O., Sept. 14.—Piercy pitched good ball and Toledo beat Kansas City here yesterday 5 to 1. Score:

Milwaukee	2 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 2—5
Columbus	2 0 1 2 1 0 0 0 *—6

Harper Gets Homer.

Columbus, O., Sept. 14.—Columbus won from Milwaukee here yesterday 6 to 5. The Brewers started a big rally in the ninth but were stopped by George. Harper's long hit for a home run was a feature. Score:

Toledo	0 3 0 0 2 0 0 0 *—5

Third Bout for Local Boxing Show Completes Wed. Card

Another Fort Wayne Boy Will Get Chance from Promoters.

Earl Ellenwood will be the principal in the third bout in the boxing show to be staged at the Majestic theater next Wednesday night. He will be opposed in a ten round preliminary at [illegible] by Young Stanley of Chicago, who is expected to be a [illegible] test.

Announcement that Ellenwood will figure in the matches completes the show. Three local boys will be in the ring. Charlie Mason will meet Jimmy Clarke of St. Louis, a boxer of some repute and Battling Ross takes on Paddy Kelly of St. Louis. Ellenwood's opponent has a reputation in Chicago and the Windy City lad will be here to defend it and add some more laurels to his list if possible.

Although arrangements have not been definitely settled with Matt Hinkle, who is nationally known as referee and who officiated in the Fulton-Morris go Labor Day, he will probably be the third man in the ring and his appearance here will lend interest to the matches. The management of the show announces that requests for tickets will be accepted and filed in the order they are received and that last year's reservations will be no longer good.

USUAL STRONG TEAM IS DOPED FOR GOPHERS

Many Players Left Despite Inroads Made by War.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—Despite the fact that many of its former stars and prospective stars have entered military service, the University of Minnesota probably will have a strong football team this fall. Coach Harry L. Williams will have a goodly supply of material, including five members of last year's regular and freshmen squads.

The presence of Geo. Hauser, captain of 1917 team, will strengthen one side of the line materially. Other veterans will include Norman Kingeley, who substituted at fullback for Wyman last year; Conrad Eckland and Paul Flynn.

Neal Arneston, of the 1916 freshmen team, and Villie VanNest, 1916 substitute, give promise of good quarterback material. Others expected to report include Henry Williams, son of the Gopher coach; Gerald Case, Herman Sinaiko, Arthur France, Merville Guitermn and James Greven.

Intramural football will be developed and teams representing various colleges of the university carefully coached as a branch of the varsity system, thus providing more material from which Dr. Williams may draw his squad.

ANOTHER WRESTLING CHAMP.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Earl Caddock, of Anita, Iowa, claimant to the world's heavy weight wrestling championship, will report to the local draft exemption board at Atlantic, Iowa, on October 4 for a second physical examination for the new national army. He was rejected conditionally several weeks ago, because of blood poisoning, due to diseased tonsils. In the meantime no further matches are being booked for him, as it is expected he will be accepted for the army. He made no claim for exemption at his first examination. He was married this summer.

WABASH'S NEW GYM.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Sept. 14.—Wabash college expects to have its new $75,000 gymnasium ready for occupancy when school opens on Sept. 26. It is probably one of the most complete in detail of any gymnasium erected by the smaller colleges of the country. The building is T-shaped and has an indoor field, with dirt floor, 180 by 100 feet, which will be used for basketball games and also as a drill room for the military company to be organized during the winter.

GRINNELL PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Grinnell, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Football prospects at Grinnell college have taken on a brighter hue since the signing as coach of Russell Tollefson, former University of Minnesota backfield star. He succeeds Oscar (Ossie) Solem, another ex-Gopher, who has entered the army with a captain's commission won at the officers' training camp at Fort Snelling. Six veterans will be back in the squad this season, and there is an abundance of material among 1916 freshmen. Tollefson played halfback and quarter at Minnesota in 1912 and 1913.

IOWA U LOSES TWO.

Iowa City, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Coach Howard Jones, of the Iowa university eleven, and J. Elwood Davis, its 1917 captain, have returned to Iowa City and will institute plans for the gridiron season immediately. Two particularly high class men have been lost because of the war. Former Captain Laun, a brilliant backfield punter, has joined the navy, and Becker, a star tackle and center, is on the Atlantic coast, if he has not already sailed for France. Other football men are in the new army, but these are the chief stars to leave Iowa.

HAS ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 14.—Regents of the University of Nebraska have taken over the control of athletics from the management of the athletic board. The department of athletics has been made a regular part of the university. At present Dr. E. J. Stewart, athletic director, and head coach, is alone in charge of fall sports, but it is expected that he will have an assistant.

TINKER GOING STRONG.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Joe Tinker, manager of the Columbus club of the American association, plans running a special train to carry Columbus fans to the world's series games, if played in Chicago.

Scott Loses Big Money to Serve

Among those mentioned in the athletic hall of fame after this war is over will be Death Valley Jim Scott, who declared himself out of a chance to be in on the world series money when he quit the White Sox to join Uncle Sam's troops in training.

Although Jim hasn't been going well this year and probably would have not pitched in the big series, he would have been in on a cut of the big money when the division was made. Instead he chose to join Uncle Sam.

WOULD PUT STOP TO WRESTLERS STALLING

Iowa Man Has Plan to Keep Men from Laying Down.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 14.—Gene Melady, well known as an Omaha business man, but much more widely known for his favorite diversion—promoting wrestling matches—has submitted to Mayor Dahlman a plan which he thinks will prevent future fiascos such as have almost killed the game here in the last year or so.

Melady proposes to have the articles of agreement between the wrestlers published prior to the match. The contestants must post forfeits sufficient to pay the expenses of promoting the affair and in the event of a draw, foul, no-decision contest or refusal of one of the contestants to finish, the wrestlers are to receipe no compensation, the admission fees are to be returned to ticket purchasers and the expenses are to be paid out of the forfeits.

Jack Lewis, another promoter, has submitted a similar suggestion and as wrestling fans generally approve the idea it is thought the city council will enact an ordinance to that effect.

DRESSEN EXPECTED TO TAKE BURNS' PLACE

Columbus Star Will Be Closely Watched by Tiger Fans.

Detroit, Sept. 14.—Detroit fans are wondering whether Leo. Dressen, the first baseman purchased from the St. Paul club, will be able to fill the shoes of George Burns, who has been drafted for the national army. Dressen will be watched closely, for his association record is a mighty interesting one.

The youngster has been used as a lead-off man—an unusual position for a first baseman. Recent averages showed he was hitting around .300, had stolen 50 cases and scored more than 90 runs. In 1916, when he hit only .242, he stole 32 sacks and this leads Manager Jennings to hope he may have picked up another speed merchant to use with Bush and Cobb.

It is possible that a few pointers from Cobb may make Dressen a major league star on the bases and add a powerful punch to the Tigers' heavy attack.

BOXER DOES "BIT."

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Phil Harrison, one of Chicago's flock of middleweights, is ready to do his "bit." Harrison was accepted in the aviation corps and is straightening up his scrap iron business preparatory to being called.

HANCOCK TO RETURN.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—Capt. Howard Hancock, of the football team, will be back at Wisconsin T. E. Jones, athletic chairman, is assured of his coming in a letter. Hancock and Coach John Richards will reach Madison on Friday. Practice starts Saturday.

PLAY AT PORTLAND.

Portland, Ind., Sept 14.—Manager E. E. Circles has announced the opening football game Sunday when Fort Wayne will be the attraction. Portland always has a good football team as well as baseball nine, and is now booking some of the fastest teams around Portland. Last year it won twelve out of thirteen games.

COE HIT HARD BY WAR.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Sept. 14.—Capt. Heinie Smith, speedy end, is the only man out of the seven undergraduates of last year's football candidates to report to Coach Eby at Coe college. The other six men who have gained letters have enlisted.

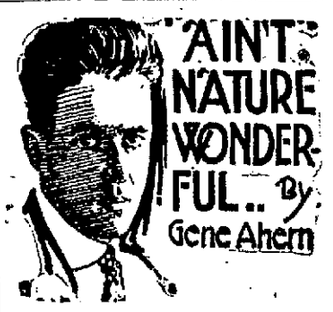
TEETH . . DR. H. O. HAWLEY

Over Beck's Jewelry Store. 918 Calhoun Street.
Office Hours, 8 to 5:30. Saturday Evening 7 to 8. No Sunday Hours



On the field of battle,
He's a wildcat.
A couple of his men are
Out beyond the wire
Entanglements both
Rendered helpless
By shrapnell shell.
He boldly leaps
Out of the trench,
Fearless of his Own danger ,throws
His wounded men
Over his shoulder
And staggers back
To safety amid Screeching shell
And zursting bombs.
Not satisfied with that
The hero crawls out over
The shell cratered
Field alone and Single-handed
Captures a trench
Section, and
Is struck by A shell—all
This, in the movies.
Our same hero
Gets a chance by Draft to do the Same stuff for Uncle Sam, only
Not in front of
A camera. But
He balks with
An exemption that
He's more valuable
To his art and Followers. Which Goes to show, folks,
A lot of rabbits go
Hopping around in
Eagle feathers.

The majority of the elk left in the United States are concentrated in and about Yellowstone national park. The biological survey states that this reservoir for restocking other areas is so important that no pains should be spared to insure its protection, and a careful investigation of the animals with a view to their future welfare has recently been carried out. A count of the elk made early in the spring of 1916 showed that the southern herd contained about 18,000 animals, which agrees with figures previously published. The northern herd, however, was found to contain only about one-third of the number it had previously been supposed to contain.

GARFIELD FAMILY IS TO THE FRONT AGAIN

Sons and Grandsons of the Martyred President in Nation's Service.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 14.—The name of Garfield may become as famous in this war as it did in the Civil war, for the whole Garfield family, sons and grandsons, descendants of the twentieth president of the United States, the martyred James A. Garfield, are upholding the traditions of the family by serving the flag.

At the outbreak of the Civil war James A. Garfield had just been admitted to the bar. He as once offered his services to the governor of Ohio and became lieutenant-colonel, and then colonel of the Forty-second Ohio Volunteers. After serving in Kentucky he was promoted to be a brigadier general of volunteers in 1862. He took part in the battle of Shiloh, was chief of staff in the Army of the Cumberland in 1863, fought at Chicamauga, and for gallantry in that battle was made a major general of volunteers, resigning his commission to take a seat in congress.

Two sons of the martyred president are holding important executive positions in the present war.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield, eldest son and president of Williams college, has been appointed coal administrator by President Wilson.

James R. Garfield, another son, secretary of the interior under President Roosevelt, is in charge of Red Cross work in the "like district" Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. His wife has inaugurated some of the most important work undertaken by the Cleveland Red Cross and works daily at headquarters making bandages or directing the departments.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Garfield have four sons. Two of them, James A. and Newell, were commissioned captains at the Fort Benjamin Harrison Officers' Training camp and have gone to the cantonment at Chillicothe, Ohio. John Newell Garfield, the third son is a second lieutenant in the Second regiment, Ohio Field Artillery. He served with Troop A, of Cleveland on the Mexican border. The fourth son, Rudolph, is too young for military service.

Dr. Harry A. Garfield has one son, Stanton, serving in France with the American ambulance corps. Another son, James, is at the Plattsburg, N. Y., training camp.

The only girl in the late president's family, Mrs. J. Stanley-Brown, has only one son, Rudolph. He was formerly with Troop A, of Cleveland, but won a commission as first lieutenant at Fort Benjamin Harrison training camp.

In the manner of protecting poultry from human marauders, a poultryman says, the dog is a big help. A bull terrier owned by the poultryman used to go out on the main road and wait for suspicious-looking persons to pass. When one came in sight he never made a sound, but just dropped behind and followed with his nose about two inches from the man's legs. The dog never did anything, but the moral effect was tremendous. "I don't pretend," says the dog's owner, "to know how to train a dog to do that. The terrier picked it up himself. No bark, no rush, just went sniffing quietly along behind him."—Outlook.

CANTEEN SERVICE OF THE RED CROSS

It Takes Care of the Boys En Route to the Big Cantonments.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Canteen service of the Red Cross for members of the national army and national guard as they travel to the cantonments is being enthusiastically welcomed by the troops assembling at mobilization points and at junctions and wait-overs. Reports received by Foster Rockwell, director of canteen service, from many chapters which have been serving light refreshments to the detachments passing through their towns, show the appreciation and enthusiasm of the troops.

At Washington, D. C., where the local chapter has been serving as high as 20,000 cups of coffee in a day to the troops passing through, the soldiers leaned out of the car windows when they saw the Red Cross uniforms and gave an extemporized but spirited Red Cross cheer. From all parts of the country comes the same story—the soldiers fully understand the meaning of this patriotic service of the women of the Red Cross.

Only as mall proportion of the national army has as yet gone into the cantonments, and the heavier work of the Red Cross canteen service is still ahead. But most of the chapters have the work fully organized, and feel themselves equipped to meet whatever emergency may develop.

The Red Cross canteen service hopes to keep the Red Cross uniform conspicuous in railroad buffets and restaurants all over the country while the troops are moving. The canteen service uniform for women consists of a white apron and bib, with a Red Cross on the front of the bib, and a Red Cross cap. The male workers wear a lapel badge of white ribbon with a Red Cross and the legend, "Cateen Service." Railroad officials are authorized through the war department to daily inform Red Cross chapter heads of the local movement of troops.

Besides supplying refreshments to the soldiers going through, cateen service workers perform many other little services for their convenience, such as mailing letters or postcards. The interest which the women of the country have thus been able to show directly, through the canteen service, has made a profound impression, and has given the soldiers new heart and fresh spirit, because they realize that the women of the whole nation are personally sponsors for their comfort and welfare.

Relatively simple as this activity of the Red Cross canteen service may seem to be, it typifies at this moment, as no other thing does, the national spirit that is back of the Red Cross.

Experience the Best Teacher.

It is generally admitted that experience is the best teacher, but should we not make use of the experience of others as well as our own? The experience of a thousand persons is more to be depended upon that that of one individual. Many thousands of persons have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs and colds with the best results, which shows it to be a thoroughly reliable preparation for those diseases. Try it. It is prompt and effectual and pleasant to take.—Advertisement.

URGES A NATIONAL FOOD LABORATORY

Charlotte Perkins Gilman Tells American Academy the Need of It.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 14.—Establishment of a national food laboratory to teach the housekeepers of the United States how best to buy and to prepare food was advocated by Charlotte Perkins Gilman, of New York, in an address she delivered here today before the National Conference on the World Food, called by the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

"As we have experiment stations to establish standards and gather information for our farmers," said Mrs. Gilman," so we should now establish at least one national food laboratory an experiment station for the benefit of the housekeeper. Such a laboratory should be in charge of men and women of the highest ability. From an authoritative center like this should be distributed accurate information as to food values and prices, with bulletns for speeal localites and seasons.

"With an experienced buyer, with the most expert handling of all the valuable by-product of this great industry, now so wastefully mishandled as "garbage," with storage and refrigeration facilities, with such arrangements with dairymen and local market gardeners as would be easy with large and steady orders, wit ha preserving department to take advantage of surplus materials, and with all accounts carefully kept and freely published, we should at last be in a position to know what really is the 'cost of living.'

"Withwhat conscience can we persist in a method of industry which, in kitchen service alone, wastes the labor of nine women out of ten? If all house service was professionalized, done by trained specialists with porper organization and mechanical conveniences, we could release the labor power of 80 per cent. of our women.

"Counting that labor at charwoman's wages, say $500 a year, allowing fifteen out of our twenty million women as working housewives, the released labor of four-fifths of the fifteen, namely twelve million, would be worth $6,000,000,000 a year.

"This product value would at least equal their wages, another $6,000,000,000 a year. If the average American family now spends $500 a year on food, and if the saving was but two-fifths,, or $200; there would be another $4;000,000,000. This gives a pleasing total of $16,000,000,000, which in an extreme hypothetical case we might save each year.

"No such sudden and universal change of system is to be expected. It would not be desirable instantly to eliminate a whole complex business, as the retail food trade. These large estimates are given to show the importance of the food problem, and the enormity of the waste involved in our primitive method of treatment.

"The most important thing is the establishment of authoritative food laboratories to save the mistakes and discouragement of the scattered efforts, and the next is for our housekeepers to recognize the imperative duty of the change of method in this community."

Great Faith in Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy was used by my father about a year ago when he had diarrhoea. It relieved him immediately and by taking three doses he was absolutely cured. He has great faith in this remedy," writes Mrs. W. H. Williams, Stanley, N. Y.—Advertisement.
